Students must be enrolled in Work Seminar to participate in Work-Based Learning.

The first level of the Work Experience Seminar and Work Experience Transitional Seminar courses offer special support to students who may be experiencing significant personal, academic, financial or other difficulty. Students selected for the program participate in a Work Experience Seminar or Transitional Seminar (for one quarter credit) and 1-3 hours of Work-Based Learning (for a maximum of two quarter credits). These are year-long courses, and students may enroll for a total of eight (8) quarters. Students must be enrolled in a Work Experience Seminar class in order to participate in Work-Based Learning.

The seminar classes are designed to help students acquire knowledge and skills needed to promote personal growth and develop competencies in self-awareness and self-advocacy, student leadership, career awareness, employment readiness, interpersonal relationships, independent living, and citizenship. The goals of the program are to increase student employability skills, develop vocational training and awareness, and promote student success at Eastview High School. Students apply informed decision-making processes to develop a career investigation portfolio and participate in real-world work experience through research, shadowing, and/or on-the-job training.
