Summative

Delivered: 23rd of April / Due date: 25th of May

Now that you have finished reading the book you chose at the beginning of the semester, it is time to do your summative based on that. This assignment constitutes 15% of your final mark, so it's crucial to dedicate time and effort to ensure the best results. You have one month to submit the assignment. Follow the steps below before starting the assignment. You may skip some steps since you will not be doing a written version of the summary. You may write comments in the form of sentences or speech bubbles.

Read carefully: Start by thoroughly reading the book. Take notes as you read to jot down important points, key events, character descriptions, and any other relevant information.

Understand the Main Idea: Identify the main theme or message of the book. What is the author trying to convey? Understanding this will help you focus your summary.

Outline: Create an outline for your summary. Divide it into sections such as introduction, main plot points, key characters, and conclusion. This will help you organize your thoughts and ensure you cover all the important aspects of the book.

Introduction: Begin your summary with a brief introduction to the book. Include the title, author, genre, and any other relevant information such as the setting or time period.

Summarize the Plot: Write a concise summary of the main plot of the book. Focus on the most important events and developments in the story. Avoid including too much detail or getting bogged down in minor subplots.

Describe the Characters: Introduce the main characters of the book and briefly describe their roles and personalities. You can also mention any character development or relationships that are significant to the story.

Discuss Themes and Motifs: Identify and discuss any major themes or motifs present in the book. Themes are recurring ideas or messages, while motifs are recurring symbols or elements that contribute to the overall meaning of the story.

Offer Critical Analysis: If required, provide your own analysis and interpretation of the book. Discuss what you liked or disliked about it, and why. You can also explore the author's writing style, use of literary devices, or any deeper meanings you discovered.

Conclusion: Conclude your summary by summarizing the main points you discussed and reiterating the significance of the book's message or themes. You can also offer your overall impression of the book and whether you would recommend it to others.

Proofread and Edit: Once you have written your summary, take some time to proofread and edit it for clarity, coherence, and grammatical errors. Make sure your summary flows smoothly and effectively communicate your understanding of the book.

After completing all the steps, select one of the methods provided to present your book summary. Write the method of your presentation on your work.

Infographic: Create an infographic that visually summarizes key points, characters, themes, and important quotes from the book. Use icons, charts, and graphics to make it visually appealing and easy to digest.

Storyboard / Poster: Turn the book summary into a storyboard, using illustrations or images to depict key scenes from the book. You can arrange them in chronological order or organize them by themes.

Character Profiles: Create visual profiles for each of the main characters in the book, including images, descriptions, and key traits. You can also include quotes or scenes that highlight each character's role in the story.

Timeline: Create a timeline of events from the book in a creative visual representation. Include dates, key events, and illustrations to help readers understand the sequence of events.

Artistic Interpretation: Create an artistic interpretation of the book summary using a medium of your choice, such as painting. Use symbolism and metaphor to convey the themes and messages of the book in a creative way.
