Abstract: Abstract is written in one paragraph that includes five things: (1) statement of the problem, (2) research questions, (3) method; (4) findings/results; and (5) academic contibution. The author can also write down things that are considered very important in this abstract, while paying attention to the maximum word limit [200-300 words].

Keywords: contains special concepts (words or phrases); 3-5 words/ phrases

Introduction (First subtitle; bold in first capital letters)

The introduction is written in Times New Roman font font size 11 with 1 space. The introductory section describes the background of the research problem, literature facts, research gaps, novelty, reserch question, and the purpose of writing. The problem must be clear and requires research to solve the problem. For Arabic writing or fragments of verses from the Qur'an, the Traditional Arabic font size is 16. Foreign language words or phrases are written in italics, while Arabic-Latin transliteration refers to Arabic-Indonesian transliteration according to the SKB 3 Menteri. The body of paper must be elaborated between 4.500 - 7.000 words (maximum) including abstract and references.

Method

This method is written in descriptive and should provide a statement regarding the methodology of the research, include the type of research, research approach, a source of data and analysis method. The author should explain the mechanism to analyze the sharia issues. This method as much as possible to give an idea to the reader through the method used, this method is optional, only for an original research article. (For Conceptual Ideas without Research Method)

Results and Discussion

The result is a description of the data obtained which is required from the research question. The results must answer the problems that have been raised in the research question. Research results must be clear and concise. Results should summarize scientific findings rather than simply convey detailed data. The discussion is the main part of the article that discusses and analyzes the results of the research using the main theory and other supporting theories, to find novelty from other studies.

Then, if the data translation requires a table or figure, it can be included in this sub-discussion with an example as follows:

Conclusion

Conclusions should be written briefly. Conclusions must include three elements, namely important research findings, contributions to science, and explanations of research limitations. Do not repeat abstracts or simply list research results. Give scientific consideration to your work and state possible applications and developments. You should suggest further research based on the results of your research.

Acknowledgement

This is used to appreciate the efforts of associate, who are not registered as co-authors, for their assistance and fund for your research/publication. Provide acknowledgements accordingly. List here those individuals or institutions who gaves help, assistance during the research (e.g., providing grants, laboratory facility, writing assistance or proof reading the article, etc.). In case of the grants, please provide the number and year of the grant received.

Author Contributions Statement

The Author Contributions Statement can be up to several sentences long and should briefly describe the tasks of individual authors. Please list only 2 initials for each author, without full stops, but separated by commas (e.g. JC, JS). In the case of two authors with the same initials, please use their middle initial to differentiate between them (e.g. REW, RSW). The Author Contributions Statement should be included at the end of the manuscript before the References.

AI Usage Statement

This section is a statement from the author that the use of Artificial Intelligence (AI) tools in this work is strictly limited to supportive functions, and authors are only permitted to use AI for language editing, grammar checking, and improving clarity and readability. AI was not used to generate core ideas, conduct substantive analysis, interpret data, or draw scholarly conclusions. The author retains full
