Protecting Your Privacy

By engaging with Transmacro Amenities' ("Transmacro," "we," "our," or "us") website and Shopify E-commerce shopping cart, you may enable us to collect digital data through your browser. When you navigate our website and place purchase orders in our shopping cart, these activities can reveal personal information and other data to us. By visiting our website and doing business with Transmacro, you authorize us to use the data we collect. This document describes how we may deploy such data in a responsible and ethical manner. We hereby outline the steps we take to protect your privacy.

Amendments

We may amend this document periodically to adapt to internal and external changes, such as new laws. Updates do not require prior notice from us. Please review this document from time to time for any amendments. All revisions will indicate their creation date.

Data We Gather Online and Offline

By accessing our site and cart cookies and other analytics may generate data:
• Your contact information, such as complete name, mailing address, telephone numbers, and email address.
• Purchase and payment histories and data related to invoicing and shipping your orders.
• Account profile with usernames, passwords, security details, and authentication data.
• During online communications with Transmacro, you voluntarily divulge the IP address, properties of your browser and device used, site pages accessed, and networks used.
We also employ external information services, such as Dun & Bradstreet, for credit checks and to provide general corporate data available in the public domain.

We use the data obtained in operations (e.g. logistics, customer service, and accounting) to deliver value to our customers through product promotions and marketing.

Cookies

We employ cookies and other analytics tools to better understand your requirements, monitor site and cart traffic, optimize the functionality of our digital infrastructure, and improve user interaction. Of course, you can always disable cookies in your browser settings, but this might affect the functionality of other features on our site and in the cart.

We May Share Personal Information with Third Parties

• Service providers who assist us in areas of IT, marketing, order execution, logistics, accounting, CRM, and analytics.
• Government agencies, especially law enforcement.

The information we might provide may include customer identities, financial and commercial details, transaction records, and online activities.

Rights and Options

You may request to know about the data we have gathered. You may request the deletion of data and the correction of erroneous information.
