What does owner mean to you (in the repo context)?

Does ownership have meanings beyond a combination of the following:

- Original depositor of content
- Faculty or supervisor (person on whose behalf the work was deposited))
- Creator of original content (like an author or artist)
- Manager - it is my job to update, version, maintain the object in question if needed (highest level of permissions over digital objects/digital object steward)
- Editor (can edit digital objects)
- Primary contact (Department or user where you go to for questions, information, clarification about the content but who is not the manager/steward of the digital objects)

Please add additional use cases below:

- Do we need/want to think about this (also) in the context of reporting and analytics? Which “owner” is used to report downloads for my works?
