COVID-19 Information and Updates

Coaches, staff and spectators are no longer required to wear masks when out on the fields and players are no longer required to wear masks while coming and going from training and while on the sidelines. However, if anyone prefers to continue to wear masks, we fully support this.

If any player or coach experiences COVID-19 symptoms or tests positive for COVD-19, please refrain from attending any RAGE training, game or other activity immediately. Please also contact club DOC, Erin Sharpe at erinsharpe@pleasantonrage.org and/or your coach immediately with the details of your respective exposure and/or symptoms. Your personal details will be kept confidential, but we will need to confirm the appropriate quarantine, isolation, testing, communication and/or other necessary steps in alignment with current and respective CDPH/CDC Guidelines. Please note that the scenarios outlined in these Guidelines are regularly updated and we defer to this webpage regarding quarantine and isolation timeframes given their fluidity. While some schools and other extracurricular organizations may have their own modified guidelines, RAGE aligns with the CDPH/CDC guidelines outlined above.

Our traditional environment should not be one in which exposure should occur (within 6 feet of a person with COVID-19 for 15 minutes or more over a 24 hour period), however we will consult with our Medical Advisors should quarantining of an entire group be necessary based on the circumstances of a group's environment.

As a reminder, all RAGE participants were required to sign the waiver below at registration.
