Abstract

English title (maximum 12 words, Cambria font (headings) font 12 italic uppercase format).Abstract is written concisely and factually, includes the purpose of research, what has been an issue / scope of research, objectives of the research, clear research methods, presentation of key findings, and significance of the research. Abstract should contain 100 – 150 words.

Keywords:Word 1; word 2; word 3; word 4; word 5 (Iclude at least 3 to 5 keywords)

A. Introduction

The introduction consists of a background that includes clear supporting theories, a problem statement, and the purpose of the paper, written in one chapter without subheadings. The introduction should consist of 3-5 paragraphs, each of which should contain at least 300 words, and should refer to several references that serve as the theoretical basis or rationale for the research. Present the theoretical review in Cambria font (Headings) size 12pt, 1.5 spacing.

B. Method

Consisting of research type/approach, population and sample, instruments, validity and reliability of instruments, and data analysis methods,

C. Discussion

Contains (1) theories relevant to the research. Present the theoretical review using Cambria font (Headings) size 12pt. (2) The research results describe the main findings of the research. The author compiles, analyzes, evaluates and interprets and compares the latest findings with findings from existing research. Avoid repeating sentences from the introduction, methods and results. The number of discussion paragraphs should be longer than the introduction. The consistency of the article from the title to the discussion must be considered. Research weaknesses and suggestions for further research development are outlined in this section.

The discussion is written with 1.5 spacing and bold. The presentation in the discussion is written systematically using a sub-topic format of numbers and letters. If there are images/tables, ensure they contain data/information related to the research objectives. Tables and images are included in the body of the manuscript. Table and image titles are numbered and written in Cambria (Headings) font 12, single-spaced. For images, it is recommended to use a pixel size of 300 for optimal image sharpness and quality (preferably in JPG format).

1. Theoritical review

Reference Citation

References should consist of 80% primary sources, such as journals and proceedings, and 20% secondary sources (books) published within the last 10 years. References should be written in the American Psychological Association (APA) format. Here's an example:(Bastomi, 2019)It is recommended to use a reference management application such as Mendeley or Zotero. An example of writing a citation from a book is as follows:(Enjang, 2001: 27).

To explain tables/figures, it's best to use Table 1, Table 2, or Figure 1, Figure 2, respectively. Avoid using the phrase "as in the table below." An example of a figure presentation is as follows:

An example of a table presentation is as follows:

Further use of sub-chapters in the discussion can be done according to the needs of the discussion.

2. Research Result

3. Sub Chapter Discussion 2 (Write Sub Discussion)

a. Sub Chapter 2(Cambria (Headings)12, Regular)
1) Sub Chapter 3(Cambria (Headings)12, Regular)
    a) Sub Chapter 4(Cambria (Headings)12, Regular)

For direct quotes use 1 space:

> "The research results describe the main findings of the study. If the research results are presented in the form of tables or figures, then only a short sentence is needed to support the table or figure presented. Tables and figures are included in the body of the manuscript. Table and figure titles are numbered and written in Minion Pro font 9, single-spaced. For images, it is recommended to use a pixel size of 300 for optimal image sharpness and quality.(Gibson, 2011: 127).

D. Conclusion

The conclusion contains the answers to the research problem formulation. The conclusion summarizes the discussion and should answer the research questions in descriptive form. The conclusion is written separately under a subheading. It contains the answers to the research questions. It is written in narrative form, not numerically. Recommendations are provided based on the research findings.
