Resources from Internet Safety Presentation by ACPD
January 13, 2026

During the Internet Safety presentation in January, the detectives presented material from the National Center for Missing and Exploited Children to help parents understand and talk to their kids about the risks of internet use. NetSmartz is the NCMEC's home for their prevention and parenting resources.

From NetSmartz, the resources geared towards elementary families are here: https://www.netsmartzkids.org/

NCMEC recommends that parents watch the "Into the Cloud" episodes with their kids, rather than kids watching it alone, as they discuss challenging but important topics in an age appropriate way.

- There are discussion guides and additional activities for these videos.
- There are also games to go along with the videos.

The main NetSmartz page has a lot of resources parents can use to educate themselves or things they could do with their kids.
Recommended for parents of elementary-aged kids:

- Gaming Safety
- Internet Safety at Home
- AI & Child Safety Online
- Who is a Trusted Adult (activity with kids)
- Parent's Guide to Smartphone Safety
- Protecting Your Kids Online
- Your NetSmartz - Tips for Tweens (use with kids)
- Safety Pledges (use with kids)
- Safety Stories (use with kids)

En espanol:
NetSmartz
Into the Cloud info
Into the Cloud resources
Resources for parents of elementary-aged kids en espanol HERE.

Site focused on learning how to implement parental controls on devices: Family Guide to Parental Controls - ConnectSafely