FACTORS TO CONSIDER:

- President Daniels' Power (more relevant = better to discuss)
    - What role does President Daniels play in the topic?
    - How critical is President Daniels to advancing this cause? Are there other administrators who are closer to the topic matter?
    - Will President Daniels be able to talk directly about this issue at the dinner, or will he refer us to another administrator in his cabinet (who may not be present at the dinner at all)?
- Due Diligence (more diligence = better to discuss)
    - Have we done our due diligence?
    - Have we held meetings with mid-level and lower-level administrators to maximize:
        - (a) our knowledge of the topic and what policies/practices/ procedures are already in place, and
        - (b) what we can ask Daniels to do?
- Collaborative Opportunities (more collaboration possible = better to discuss)
    - What topics will allow us to "work with" President Daniels and his administration?
        - Versus: What topics will require us to wait on President Daniels to assign another administrator to work on it? (deferring to another admin rather than Daniels himself = less good to discuss)
- Impact on Students
    - Given President Daniels' power and the other factors, are we likely to make an impact on student life by investing in a discussion of the topic area?
    - Will progress in the topic fundamentally alter the policies/practices/ procedures that affect students?
    - Will progress in the subject area ENGAGE, ENFRANCHISE, and EMPOWER students?
- Admin Dinner Progress (more progress at admin dinner = less pertinent to discuss at dinner with Daniels)
    - Has progress been made in the topic at the admin dinner? Were connections made with key admins at the dinner, who can better approach the topic?
