I am delighted to recommend the ABC for the vendor in your computer store. In school, at work, and in his private life, I have seen ABC overcoming challenge after test, inviting each understanding as an opportunity to develop and learn. As indicated by your qualifications, I think he is the ideal one.

Given these qualities and characteristics, it is exceptionally obvious that ABC would do comparatively more than the needed qualifications for the position; he is a bit more overqualified for his age, with generally excellent information on PCs and software.

I guess you will use most of his skills all things taken along. His PC and software information is remarkable. He additionally took an entry-level position under my watch.

I Expect that he will be a good resource for you and your store. I suggest ABC, who can make your store the best among the others.
