Subject: Concerns on inductee: Illya Leblanc

Greetings, Site 06-03's Logistics Management Detail. This email is from Liam B. Kelner, of RAISA's Protected Site-07. I do hope this message finds you well.

I am sending this email with concerns about your newest addition to your Cargo staff, Illya Leblanc. Background checks of her past and familial histories come up barren, sans basic info. Her Mother's and Father's names have been wiped from her birth documents.

Illya herself recounts being born to wealthy parents, but claims to have been abandoned at the age of eight. Illya's accounts lead us to believe she was brought up in an orphanage in her hometown; however, there are no official records of an orphanage or foster system within the villa of Simiane-La-Rotonde.

Due to the lack of official documents and information on her past, we recommend you keep her under surveillance.

Hello, and thank you for reaching out. We have personally noted some oddities in her… behavior as well. She tends to be quite fearful of others; however, she behaves rather comfortably with the humanoid anomalies we keep on-site.

We have received word from her bunkmates that she experiences night terrors, quite often, at that. There has been no clear cause or statement from Illya on them to our site's medical department. We will be keeping a close eye on her from here on out. Thank you for the information, once again.

This page is dedicated to giving a condensed rundown of where Illya Leblanc came from. This will NOT have any of her interesting lore mentioned.

Illya Leblanc was born to two wealthy entrepreneurs in Simian-La-Rotonde, France, a small villa, with a large exporting of Lavender.

Illya grew up with these parents until age 8, until she was transferred into an orphanage. Her parents names are not recorded anywhere.

Illya, after turning 18, came into contact with the foundation through a job posting for Site-06-3's Cargo Manifest team. She worked here for several years.
