It's Time for a Pirate Party!

New card game from Seaport Games launching September 14 on Kickstarter

Pirate Party: Women of the High Seas is a competitive card game featuring powerful women pirates inspired from real women pirates from throughout history. Pirate Party has been robustly play tested and it will launch on Kickstarter with the full art and design complete (except potential stretch goal art). The Kickstarter campaign will feature the game at $20.

Game lovers familiar with the classic card game Rummy will feel welcome at this Pirate Party.

About the game:

Did you know there were really powerful women pirates throughout history? This game uplifts these vibrant, diverse women pirates in fun ways! Race to collect sets of cards including a captain and crew. Raid, plunder and pillage to take the most pirate booty. Game play includes period ships, plenty of treasure, mermaid wild cards, and the dreaded Kraken Attack!

Use each pirate captain's special powers and play adventure cards to expand the strategic depth of the game.

- Set Collection
- Strategy
- Hand Management
- Take That!

A bonus, custom, Seaport Solitaire game is included for solo players.

2-4 players ages 10 and up, 20 minutes to play.

Created by Marge Rosen with art and design by Laura Erwin (Potions Please)

###

Contact Marge: ahoy@piratepartygame.com

Kickstarter Page: https://www.kickstarter.com/projects/pirateparty/pirate-party-women-of-the-high-seas

Pirate Party Website: https://www.piratepartygame.com/

Pirate Party EPK and art gallery: https://www.piratepartygame.com/press/

Sea Stories on the real women pirates that inspired the game: https://www.piratepartygame.com/news/

Seaport Games website: https://www.seaportgames.com/

Facebook: https://www.facebook.com/PirateParty

Twitter: https://twitter.com/SeaportGames or https://twitter.com/margerosen

YouTube: https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=8TV0h1X1-ho