Brothers and Sisters,

We have two special elections just weeks away and your issues, your vote, and your voice matter. Following the election of Suhas Subramanyam to Congress, a special election for his state senate seat has been set for January 7th, 2025. A simultaneous special election has also been triggered in your House District 26. This is because the democratic candidate for SD 32- Kannan Srinivasan- is a sitting Delegate who resigned from his seat.

Your Union has endorsed Kannan Srinivasan for State Senate and J.J. Singh for House Delegate.

I don't have to talk about what is happening in our nation's capital for you to know how critical it is for Virginia to lead the way in electing leaders who will stand with working people. This January 7th Special Election is a huge opportunity and will determine control of our General Assembly. Elections have consequences and your vote is so important—especially this year when working people have so much at stake.

Special Election Voting Information
You can vote early starting December 11th - Monday through Friday from 8:30am to 5pm at the Office of Elections in Leesburg. It's time to elect leaders who will protect our rights as workers and fight for our freedoms to join together, to have a voice in the workplace, and to negotiate for safe working conditions, good benefits, and fair wages that allow us to provide for our families.

How you vote is your decision, but we urge you to get out and vote nonetheless. Your Union has done the research and knows Kannan Srinivasan and J.J. Singh are the best choices for working families.

In Solidarity,

[Principal Officer]
