BUZZERS! · LEGAL

Privacy Policy

Effective August 4, 2026

Buzzers! is a training companion for ninja warrior athletes. This page explains, plainly, what the app collects, why, and how to control or delete it.

What we collect

DATA	WHY
Email & password	Creating your account and signing you in, via our backend provider Supabase
Name, nickname, home gym, training days, Instagram handle	Builds your profile, shown to other athletes in the app
Profile photo	Shown as your avatar — optional, you choose whether to upload one
Calendar events, goals & journal entries	The core of the app — tracking your training and competitions
Team chat messages	Delivered to the other members of teams or rooms you join
Device location	Shows nearby ninja gyms on the map, only while you use that feature. Never stored on our servers.
Push notification token	Delivers training reminders and chat alerts to your device

We don't use advertising SDKs or analytics trackers of any kind, and we never sell your data.

Who we share it with

- Supabase — hosts our database, authentication, and file storage on our behalf.
- Expo / EAS — delivers push notifications to your device using your push token.
- Other athletes on Buzzers! — your profile is visible to other signed-in users; chat messages are visible to members of that team or room.

We don't share data with advertisers or any other outside party.

Location

Location access is optional and used only to find nearby gyms while you're actively using that feature. We don't log or retain your location history.

Your controls

- Edit or remove most profile details any time from Settings.
- Delete your account permanently from Settings → Delete Account — this immediately erases your profile, events, goals, journal entries, chat messages, and team memberships.
- Revoke location or notification permissions any time in your device's system settings.

Children's privacy

Buzzers! isn't directed at children under 13, and we don't knowingly collect information from anyone under 13.

Data security

Your data is stored with Supabase behind row-level security policies, so you can only access your own private data and whatever's been explicitly shared with you — like messages in a team you've joined.

Changes to this policy

If this policy changes, we'll update the effective date above. Continuing to use Buzzers! after a change means you accept the update.

Contact

Questions about this policy or your data? Email txmmymclaughlin@gmail.com.
