

This is a practice rework of an AI business course ad on facebook

Who am I talking to?

- Both men and women
- from the ages of 25-40
- Are either already business owners or have a job and starting a business on the side
- Average income level
- Target audience seems to be people across the globe however it seems to be tailored for people from the US, UK and other western European countries.

Painful current state

- They fear not being able to meet expenses/never becoming successful/stuck in a 9-5
- They are angry at their current situation because they are not satisfied with their current income level.
- They are frustrated with their 9-5/Frustrated with the slow and mundane tasks of their business
- Not making enough money even with a business
- Dealing with their problems will make them happy making them believe they are making progress
- This problem causes people to believe that the prospects are not good at business/business isn't their thing
- "I wish that I could do more and get more results"

Desirable dream state

- They wish their business was easier to run and they had to put in fewer hours a day
- They want to impress their friends and family
- In their dream state they would believe that they were finally successful
- Making their loved ones proud is their greatest wish

How aware is my target market?

Their awareness is High level. They are aware about their problems but do not have a clear way to tackle it.

How sophisticated is my market?

The market is not very sophisticated. They know there are tools on the internet that can help them cut costs and reduce the time they put in their work but they cannot pin-point it or know how to use it.
