Roles and Opportunities at Autism On the Go

Last updated: September 26, 2026

Autism On the Go (AOG) is a community for autistic adults. Our groups, online spaces, events, and outreach depend on people who bring different strengths and perspectives. Below are roles where we could use help and the people currently doing this work. Role descriptions are a starting point; the details can grow with the people involved.

Roles where we could use help

Interested in one of these roles? Reach out to AOG and tell us what interests you, what you enjoy doing, and what kind of involvement would work for you. Roles and responsibilities can be discussed together.

Donor Relations Coordinator

Thanks donors, keeps track of supporter communications, and helps people see how their contributions support AOG's work.

Social Media Manager

Oversees AOG's social media plans, coordinates what and when to post with the communications team, oversees the Social Media Coordinator, and reviews what is working.

Group Leader Coordinator

Helps recruit, orient, and support group leaders; coordinates schedules and backup coverage; and checks in about what facilitators need.

Event Planner

Organizes virtual or in-person events, including logistics, accessibility needs, volunteer roles, and follow-up.

PR and Spokesperson

Helps share AOG's work with media and community audiences and coordinates public statements with organizational leadership.

MyAOG Community Safety Lead

Helps keep MyAOG welcoming and safe by supporting moderators, responding to conduct concerns, and bringing serious issues to leadership.

Virtual Group Moderators and Co-Moderators

Welcome participants, support group discussion, help with Zoom or group logistics, and step in when a group leader needs backup. Opportunities vary by group.

Peer Connector

Meet with people like you and provide a supportive space for your fellow community members.

Grants Manager

Finds suitable grant opportunities, organizes applications and deadlines, and helps track grant commitments and reports.

Board Member

Helps guide AOG's mission, strategy, financial oversight, and long-term health while bringing community perspective and relevant skills.

Board Recruitment and Governance Lead

Helps identify and welcome board candidates and supports board orientation, meeting practices, and ongoing board development.

Member Ambassador

Welcomes new members, answers basic questions, and helps people find groups or resources that match their interests.

Accessibility Coordinator

Helps review AOG's online spaces, communications, and events for access barriers and coordinates practical improvements and accommodation requests.

Program Feedback Coordinator

Collects and summarizes participant feedback and simple program information so AOG can improve its groups and describe their impact.

Financial Manager

Helps maintain budgets, track income and expenses, coordinate financial records, and provide clear information for leadership and board review.
