Mad Max: Fury Road

Special screening on the second day of PUFF on Thursday witnessed the creative vision of George Miller as Mad Max: Fury Road on screen. The film being a cult favourite served as one of the main reasons for being selected for the special screenings. The next instalment of the series 'Furiosa: A Mad Max Saga' will be released later this year. The film was received and enjoyed well by the audience. Professor Muthamil accompanied the screening which took place in 'Amaippu'

The film revolves around a high-octane chase across the desert that ensues in a post-apocalyptic wasteland as Max and Imperator Furiosa partner up to safeguard a group of women kept hostage as breeders and escape the despotic tyrant Immortan Joe.

"Mad Max: Fury Road" received acclaim for its direction, writing, action, score, and performances. It won Best Film from the National Board of Review and was listed among the top ten films of 2015 by the American Film Institute. At the 88th Academy Awards, it garnered ten nominations, winning six. The visually stunning film explores survival, freedom, gender, and redemption in a post-apocalyptic world, celebrating resilience and humanity. With groundbreaking filmmaking, complex characters, and environmental commentary, it leaves a lasting cultural impact, standing out as a modern classic in contemporary cinema

'Mad Max: Fury Road' Revvs Up PUFF

On the second day of PUFF, cinephiles were treated to a mesmerizing showcase of George Miller's visionary masterpiece, "Mad Max: Fury Road" as part of special screening. The cult favourite film was a natural choice for the special screening, captivating audiences with its thrilling narrative and breathtaking visuals. As it also keeps the anticipation building for the upcoming instalment, "Furiosa: A Mad Max Saga," slated for release later this year. Muthamil sir joined the screening with the students with exhilaration. The audience was enthralled by the high-octane chase across the desert, where Max and Imperator Furiosa unite to defy the despotic rule of Immortan Joe and liberate a group of captive women. With accolades ranging from Best Film to critical acclaim at the 88th Academy Awards, "Mad Max: Fury Road" stands as a testament to the power of cinematic storytelling, seamlessly blending action, emotion, and social commentary in a post-apocalyptic world. The film's impact was palpable, leaving an indelible mark on all who experienced its awe-inspiring spectacle. The movie was screened at 11 AM in "Amaippu.".