

Thousands of years ago there were two brothers named Maxamillion and John. They both lived in a town together, in the grassy plains, with bits of forest around the area. Max was strong demi god, but he was also very cocky and ignorant. He was also very rich, and he was the king of the town. He lived in luxury. He treated everyone very poorly including John. Everyone had rags for clothes, crumbs for food and raggedy old huts for homes. On the other hand, John was nice and he would help the elders and give them his crumbs sometimes. Yet he was not a demigod, he was no match for Max.

So John thought of an idea to make Max nice. He went to Kromin, the god of the sky. Kromin was extremely self centered and self absorbed, he also bragged a lot. "Can you put a curse on Max to make him nice?" John asked. But Kromin and Max were already good friends. So Kromin replied with, "nah he is already nice". John tried everything he could but he was too stubborn. So John went to Erika the goddess of death, also the daughter of Kromin. She was shady, dark and evil. When she was little, her mom Vanessa, the goddess of the wind really hated her she thought she as ugly and weak. Her mom casted a curse on her to never have arms. Afterwards her mom disappeared and never returned. She has been armless ever since, so she would do anything for arms. Once she even tried to bite off Kromin's arms, her own father! John again asked "can you put a curse on Max and make him nice?". Erika agreed but in exchange want

John arm! He unenthusiastically agreed. "But only after you put the curse on Max"

John said. Erick nodded her head slowly.

But one of Kromin's guards happened to hear this. They told Kromin and he was furious! He rushed over to Erika and shouted " DID YOU CAST A CURSE ON MAX?". Erika sighed" no not yet...". " your being imprisoned 2 years!, and that's that!" shouted Kromin. Erika apologised profusely. But nothing worked. The guards were already dragging her away. Erika shouted in tears "you can't do this". Erika was thrown into a grimy and moldy old prison cell. It had a small ragged and squeaky bed and a small bucket for a toilet. Once John found out the news he went to see Erika she sad and depressed. John was determined to make Max nice so before he even said hi he said "i'll break you out of here if cast the curse on Max" she agreed but with a smirk on her face.

When John returned home that day, he saw Max standing at his beat up little hut. " I heard what you did, trying to put a curse on me to make me nice ha. Your banished brother John" Max said angrily. Luckily, Max hadn't heard that Erika was in it too. John had no choice but to walk elsewhere. That night he spent a cold night in the woods, nothing on but his ripped ,old clothes. That night he heard animals rustling in the bushes. It was rough for John but the next day when he saw a bird hatching and he thought of away to bust Erika out.

The plan was to just pick the lock and run. After a long, cold walk, he arrived at the jail and spotted Erika in her cell. He found a small piece of wire on the ground and used it to pick the lock. They were sneaky and quiet, right before they were about to get out a guard started racing toward them. They started to run “ hide in those bushes” Erika whispered to John. They both dove into a small prickly rosemary bush. It smelled nice but scratched them very badly. John had a gouge in left calf it was so deep that you could see his bones! Blood was practically pouring out. John ripped his shirt in half and tied it around leg. 20 minutes later they got out of the bush. Erika went to Max’s town to ask him for dinner so she could put a curse on him. That night John slept at Erika’s lair.

The next night Erika went over to have dinner with Max. Max was incredibly rude to Erika and she got mad. Max said stuff like “ you old hag”, “ you worthless goddess”. Then Erika casted the curse “ you will be a worthless monster, a whirlwind of air, a soulless creation like my stupid mum” Erika belted. Then all the sudden Max was gone in a gust of wind poof.

When Erika was walking out of the town. John said “so is he nice?” “ no, I turned him into a soulless monster” Erika said softly. “Um ok” said John scarcely. Then they went back to Erika’s lair. “Now I get your arm” Erika said. “Uh ya” John said timidly, “I’ll tie you up ripe it off” Erika said. Erika then proceeded to tie up John with her mouth!. Then she just bite it off like a sunflower seed. John screamed in agony. “Why not I just 2 the other arm because I did so much for you” Erika giggled, “what no” John shouted. But Erika did it anyway. Then Kromin walked in... he shouted “ERIKA WHAT ARE YOU DOING!,HOW DID YOU GET OUT OF JAIL!”. She sadly explained how John broke her out and she cursed Max. Erika was then imprisoned for eternity. Kromin from that day on also had a small grudge on John. John's arms were still searing in pain! The pain was unbearable.

With no one in line for king john got stepped up to king! He built all of them new houses and fancy clothes and gave him lots of food. John's arms never grew back but he was still a better king then max. Now every once in a while a tornado hits the town, that is max trying to strike back at john. That is why there are tornadoes!
