

The Ocean

By Arianna Shenoa

A girl young in age
Finds herself in the sand
Instantly in love
Instantly within glam
The sparkles that glare
The feeling of the waves
She dives in
Yet not afraid
Without a thought of being mislead or betrayed
She went openly
She fell in love with the ocean
It kept her company
But by little and little
It wasn't what she thought
The powerful waves
And the rocks banged
Until she dropped
She washed up shore
Yet broken and beaten
She was resistant and kept on feenin
Each day the same thing
Broken and beaten

Until she was left with a final breath

Deceased for the love made her weaken