Conceptuality

Where knowledge and ideas converge.

Conceptuality is a hybrid digital library and creator platform that serves as a hub for Edeia-related knowledge and information, ranging from Edeiology to data that is specific to certain Edeia. In addition, Edeia may also set up verified creator accounts where they can publish content that aims to educate and entertain people.

One of the earliest projects associated with the assimilation of mundane and magical society, it was established during 2016 by Akasha and Data to serve as a platform where Edeia can provide public-facing information to satisfy the curiosity of both the public and the press.

First established using the mundane Internet at the time, Conceptuality was eventually integrated into the rest of the Internet run by Data. As one of the first sites established with the dawn of Reunion, it remains prominent both due to its ever-growing archive and its endurance throughout the decades.

Platform Features

As a digital library, Conceptuality operates primarily through open collaboration, with users who maintain the site being known as "contributors", which is moderated further by

"library administrators" that step in should the site guidelines be broken. Most of the site follows something akin to a wiki format, allowing for an easily-accessible database for those who seek to know more about Edeia.

Its secondary feature is that it serves as a creator platform for Edeia. Edeia who verify themselves are provided access to a special page that can be accessed via their wiki, where they can provide content ranging from simple posts to videos (although the latter is more common), or even announcements for events such as meet-ups or workshops.

Keeping up with the development of magitech, Conceptuality also supports ImR for educational purposes, allowing for a more in-depth acquisition of knowledge.

Digital Library

The digital library feature of Conceptuality operates in a wiki format, with entire portals and categories often dedicated to certain branches and disciplines of Edeiology, whereas the information of specific Edeia tend to be compiled in single pages, although Edeia that happen to be particularly prominent also end up with portals in their name.

As with most open collaborator sites, moderation is a high priority in the site. Library administrators may restrict or lock pages that are often vandalised or subject to malicious editing and misinformation, while other contributors often provide clean-up for grammar, syntax, and sources.

Consensus and discussion are key features of the community. Harassment and needless hostility may result in the removal of editing privileges, although offending users can still access the site as a viewer.

Creator Platform

Edeia who verify themselves in the platform are granted elevated privileges in the form of a personal webpage that they are permitted to modify and adjust, which is also linked to their wiki page to allow for ease of access.

Creators are permitted to provide all forms of content for the purposes of sharing information and educating the public, with the most common format being in video form, although other forms of content are permitted.

While verified Edeia are afforded more control over their personal webpage and the wiki pages involving them, they must still follow community guidelines. Malicious edits, trolling, and hostility towards contributors and other users may result in them having their privileges removed, or, if they are a repeat offender, a complete ban from the platform.

Content Policies

Conceptuality, as a site, hosts content that can be considered disturbing or explicit, and as such, the site employs a robust tagging system that allows contributors to mark content that may be regarded as NSFW, disturbing, or other similar descriptions, which must be followed at all times.

In addition to this, sourcing and citations are critical to the digital library. Entries that lack sourcing may be subject to removal, and misinformation of all types is regarded as malicious editing and will result in punishment.

EtheReal

Meet your match in mind and spirit.

EtheReal is a relationship discovery platform specifically designed for Edeia-to-Edeia connections, with features that respect their unique nature and needs.

EtheReal was established in 2033 through a collaborative effort involving Prágma, Allegro, and Data, during a time of many Edeia settling into lives of "normalcy" in united society.

Platform Features

When signing up, Edeia need to confirm their identity with their Registry entry. If they are not part of united society, they need to confirm their identity some other way. They are then asked a set of questions about themselves and what they are seeking on the platform. Some items may include:

- To what degree does compatibility between your Ideas matter to you?
- Are you seeking a relationship involving fusion?
- Are you looking for brief relationships, or connections that might span centuries and longer?
- Are you looking for a consistent relationship or a relationship with a high degree of independence?
- What kinds of relationships are you interested in? (select all that apply)
 - Romantic
 - Platonic
 - Queerplatonic
 - Physical
 - Unlabeled
 - Flexible/Any
 - Other
- What kind of relationship structures are you interested in?
 - One-on-one/monogamous relationships
 - Multiple independent relationships
 - Multi-party/polyamorous relationships

Once the Edeia finishes their questionnaire and fills out other details of their profile, they will be presented with potential matches (which are found through Data's calculations). An Edeia can mark each potential match as "Interested" or not. Depending on settings, they may be able to contact the other right away, or the other party may need to mark them as "Interested" as well first.

There is also an option for referrals, which are connections to external services. Pragma offers referrals for a fee; sae would personally analyze potential matches and arrange a meeting.

EtheReal also offers magitechnology for pseudo-signatures, which can be emitted from a personal device and exchanged like normal Edeia signatures. This allows potential matches to find and meet easily without exchanging their true energy signatures right away.

Adult Audience

Content Warning:

This document references adult themes, such as sex work and BDSM.
However, it is not explicit.

IDEALIST

Your Ideal Experience Awaits.

Idealist, sometimes stylized as IDEALIST, is a high-end matchmaking service that connects Edeia with clients seeking personalized, unique experiences that Edeia can offer. Broadly, it offers to connect clients to "experiential services," though a considerable portion of the platform focuses on intimate services.

Idealist was established in 2025. It was conceptualized by Indul, Edeia of Personal Pleasures, and brought into existence through collaborations with other Edeia, including Self (Egoism), Data (Data), and Allegro (Connections). By 2035, it is fairly well-known as a reputable platform in united society, with many citizens trying something on it at least once. Many independent magical societies also have some involvement with the platform.

The primary currency of Idealist is in credits, but both vendors and clients can exchange other currencies, items, and favors, considering that many Edeia do not have a need for many credits. Some may even offer limited services for free.

A list of some vendors can be found here: + Idealist Profiles

Platform Features

An Edeia providing services, referred to as the "vendor," generally has a public-facing profile that might include text descriptions, photos, a list of services, and/or a social post feed (which includes comments and reactions). Some vendors have profiles that can only be viewed if a client was specifically recommended by a trusted recommender, usually another vendor on Idealist.

Clients also have profiles (which could include descriptions, photos, preferences, etc.), but they can only be viewed by vendors and are not public to others. Vendors can see the client's rating as well as the number of "Ideal Client" stamps they've received, and depending on privacy settings, who they received the stamps from. Clients can set the privacy so that only vendors that they book with can view their profiles as well.

The platform is run on a magical intranet separate from Data's network, though Data does have access to the public-facing profiles. Data has a binding contract with Idealist to not attempt to invade the private affairs of Idealist.

Vetting Process

Vendors undergo thorough screening to verify their identity, assess their control over their abilities, and establish their boundaries. This is generally done by members of a dedicated security department that regularly do background checks, often managed by Allegro.

Clients are similarly screened for safety, financial capability, and respectful intentions.

Experiences

Vendors are welcome to offer a broad variety of experiences, not limited to intimate activities. Intimate experiences may include:

- Sex Work: a set amount of time to engage in certain sexual activities, generally negotiated beforehand.
- BDSM: professional domination, submission, sadism, and/or masochism—sexual or not.
- Sugaring Arrangements: Vendors may offer certain jobs, resources, opportunities, and experiences in exchange for sexual favors, or offer sexual favors in exchange for things they want from others. These arrangements are generally vetted in advance to ensure that they are not unreasonable or coercive.

Other experiences may include:

- Idea Immersion: Temporary experiences of an Edeia's Idea.
- Transformation Services: Temporary or permanent physical and mental changes for a client.
- Abstraction Visits: Guided experiences within an Edeia's Abstraction.
- Companionship: Non-physical connection, conversation, and company.

Multiple experiences may be present within one booking; for instance, a vendor may invite a client to their Abstraction and give a tour before proceeding to engage in the more intimate part of their arrangement.

Rating System

Both clients and vendors rate each other after experiences, zero to five stars. Vendors can give clients a stamp of "Ideal Client" if they have had multiple sessions, which can open exclusive options within their offerings. Vendors can also recommend clients to other vendors.

The platform focuses on respect, consent, and fulfillment rather than just "performance."

IdealVision

See the Essence of Ideas for Yourself.

IdealVision is a subscription-based platform that allows viewers to experience Edeia content remotely through specialized magitechnology. The service offers everything from casual demonstrations of Idea magic to adult content, all accessible through personal devices with special enchantments. Most of the content is presented in videos, whether recorded or streamed.

IdealVision was established in 2024 by Invice, Edeia of Inclination, with technical support from Self and Data. By 2035, it has become a cultural phenomenon in united society, with most citizens knowing of the platform.

The primary currency of IdealVision is in credits, though popular creators sometimes accept alternative forms of compensation for premium content or special requests.

Platform Features

An Edeia providing content, referred to as a "creator," maintains a profile with both free previews and premium subscription-based content. Creators have full control over their subscription tiers, pricing, and the type of content they produce. While some creators focus exclusively on educational or artistic expressions of their Ideas, others offer more intimate glimpses into their existence.

Subscribers can follow creators for free to access basic content, or pay monthly fees to unlock premium content from specific Edeia. Most subscribers follow multiple creators, creating personalized feeds that reflect their interests and curiosities about different Ideas.

IdealVision operates on a specialized magical network that can allow Edeia to transfer small amounts of their power through remote devices and create immersive reality (ImR) experiences.

Note: ImR, spoken as "immer," is a magitechnology developed with some of Myris's magic in 2038. It is considered the next level of virtual reality, experienced with all senses and not requiring any heavy or complicated equipment—only a small ImR device that can fit in one's hand.

Content Categories

IdealVision offers diverse content types to satisfy various interests:

- Mature Content: The primary focus of the platform—explicit recorded or live-streamed demonstrations of sexual acts, kinks, and more.
- Manifestation Shows: Live demonstrations of Idea powers and abilities.
- Abstraction Tours: Recorded or live-streamed visits to an Edeia's Abstraction.
- Idea Immersion: Limited, remote experiences of an Edeia's concept through specialized viewing enchantments.
- Personal Glimpses: Day-in-the-life content showing how Edeia experience and interpret reality.
- Interactive Sessions: Live Q&A and conversation with viewers.

Community Guidelines

All content on IdealVision is subject to strict consent and safety guidelines:

- Creators must verify their identity and demonstrate control over their abilities.
- All participants in multi-person content must provide documented consent.

- Content involving potentially dangerous manifestations of Ideas must include appropriate warnings.
- Harassment of creators is grounds for immediate and permanent platform removal.
