

Hi,

You know, we often don't think about the "what ifs" in life until they're staring us in the face—things like an unexpected illness, disability, or even the unthinkable.

I know, It's not exactly the most cheerful topic, but it's so important. I've been helping people put plans in place to make sure their families are protected no matter what life throws at them.

I'd love to set up a time to chat about how we can structure a financial plan tailored to your needs. This way, we can ensure that your loved ones are covered if anything unexpected happens. It's a conversation worth having, and I'm here to make it as straightforward and beneficial for you as possible.

Would you be open to meeting up sometime soon? Let me know what time works for you.

Looking forward, meeting you.

Best regards,
Franco Putter
