

A Little Happily Ever After

There's a way in which, in the face of difficult and disappointing times, people may find hope again by focusing on their loved ones.

These are lyrics about that focus in which people choose to make something strong and small, such that even though the big promises of the past may not be coming true, the essential parts of them, like true love, can.

(Verse)

So now everything's really starting to suck
The world's becoming one big cluster fuck
And in the ashes of hope, there's nothing left to trust
Nothing, nothing, except us

So stand by my side and take my hand
And we'll make a realistic plan
To find some joy at the end of all time
Cuz I will be just fine if you are still all mine

(Chorus)

So let's build a little happily ever after
In a world that's a total disaster
Focus on the parts that really matter

Our love, our hearts, our laughter
Take back the story, write our own chapters
Be our own guild, be our own masters
And get to working on it faster and faster
Let's build a little happily ever after

(Verse)

We were kids, raised on that millennial promise
That it would all turn out good, if we were just good and honest
Now today, there's no way we can keep pretending
This world's gonna get that big Hollywood ending

But as the world falls, we can still kind of have it all
If behind these walls, we build something strong and small
Even if it's not the life, they told us to expect
We can still have a great life, if we know what to protect

(Chorus)

So let's build a little happily ever after
In a world that's a total disaster
Focus on the parts that really matter
Our love, our hearts, our laughter
Take back the story, write our own chapters
Be our own guild, be our own masters
And get to working on it faster and faster

Let's build a little happily ever after

(Bridge)

And the world probably won't get itself back together

And the forecast till the end is apocalyptic weather

And it will likely be as good as it was again, never

Still I am hopeful about our forever

Still I am hopeful about our forever

Still I am hopeful about our forever

(Chorus)

So let's build a little happily ever after

In a world that's a total disaster

Focus on the parts that really matter

Our love, our hearts, our laughter

Take back the story, write our own chapters

Be our own guild, be our own masters

And get to working on it faster and faster

Let's build a little happily ever after

(Outro)

The promises they gave us, are just not coming true

But they can't take the promise, that I made to you

So as everything crumbles, let's keep moving through

Singing about that one thing we can still do
