

Who is your avatar?

Jason 26 years old lives in America. He works at Starbucks but is dreaming to become a screenwriter. He likes to write essays and is passionate about stories in films, books.

What is their current situation and why is it so bad?

He had always dreamed of becoming a screenwriter, but his lack of knowledge and experience left him feeling overwhelmed and unsure of where to begin. Sitting in front of his laptop, he stared at the blank document, his mind equally blank. Jason's heart raced as doubts crept in. "How am I supposed to write a compelling story that captivates an audience? I don't even know the first thing about formatting a screenplay," He understood that becoming a screenwriter would take a lot of determination, persistence, and skill. But at the moment, he only felt a heavy burden of uncertainty. He opened a new tab on his browser, his eyes scanning through countless search results for "screenwriting tips for beginners." Overwhelmed by the sheer amount of information, his stress levels rose further. He contemplated giving up on his dream, believing he was not cut out for this industry. Doubts consumed him, telling him that he would never make it, that his ideas were worthless, and that he was wasting his time.

What is their dream situation and why is so desirable?

Jason's dream is like a shining light in his mind, filling him with excitement. He wants a world where his stories came alive, where he could make people laugh, cry, and think. His dream, he is to be in a theatre, surrounded by an eager audience, who eagerly embraced his words. To create characters and worlds that touched people's hearts. Also want to know every detailed process on how to write a first draft.

What problems are stopping them from getting to their dream situation?

Firstly, his lack of knowledge and experience in screenwriting made him feel overwhelmed and uncertain about where to begin. He struggled with understanding the intricacies of screenplay formatting and storytelling techniques. Jason's self-doubt and fear of failure added to his struggles. He constantly questioned whether his ideas were good enough or if he had what it took to succeed in the competitive world of screenwriting. This self-imposed pressure weighed heavily on him and made it difficult to find the confidence to put his ideas into action. Furthermore, Jason faced the challenge of finding the right resources and guidance to develop his skills. The abundance of information available online often left him feeling confused and unsure of which advice to follow. Without a clear roadmap, he found it challenging to navigate the complex landscape of screenwriting.
