

Hey everyone, I need to bring something important to your attention. There's a person on bluesky and on discord named Grant who has been stealing artwork from other artists, claiming original characters (OCs) as his own, and using them to impersonate others. On top of that, he's been harassing people online. This behavior is unacceptable and harmful to the creative community. Let's stand together and address this issue.

One specific example of this misconduct involves the picture on Grant's profile, which is actually stolen artwork belonging to an artist named Draculaura from deviantArt. Draculaura is known for her unique and expressive style, which has been unfairly appropriated by Grant. This image, like others he has taken, represents hours of dedicated effort and creativity, and its misappropriation not only violates intellectual property rights but also undermines the integrity and hard work of the original artist.

The character is Suzu the bear, belonging to CandyKuma.

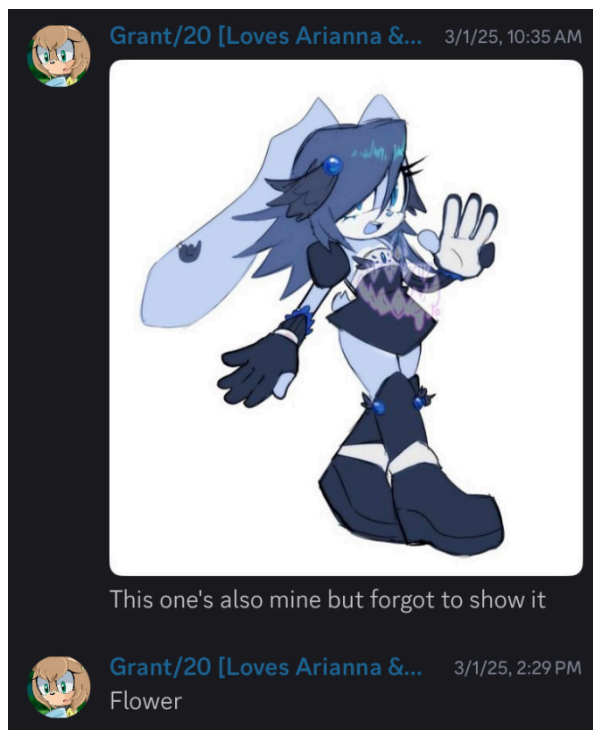

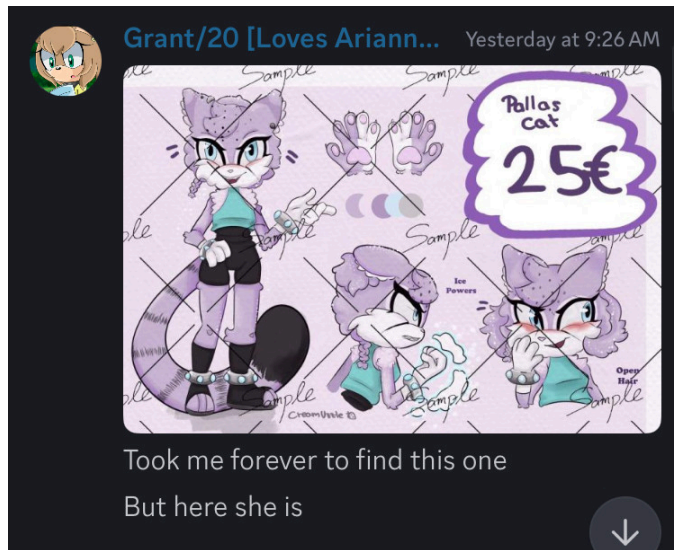

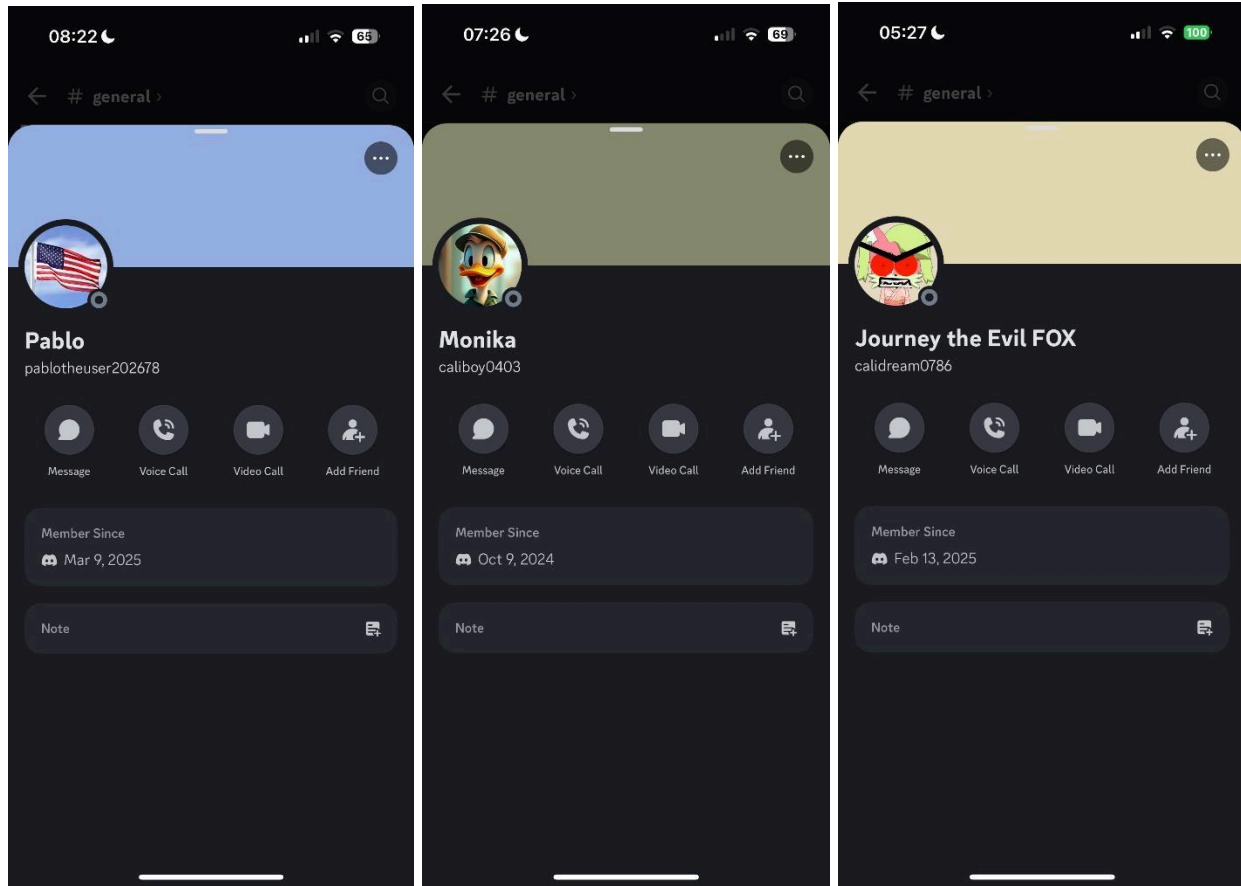

Grant/20 [Loves Arianna &... 3/5/25, 2:14 PM

And I should've known that this was her arts the last time
Wait a second someone in here knows her

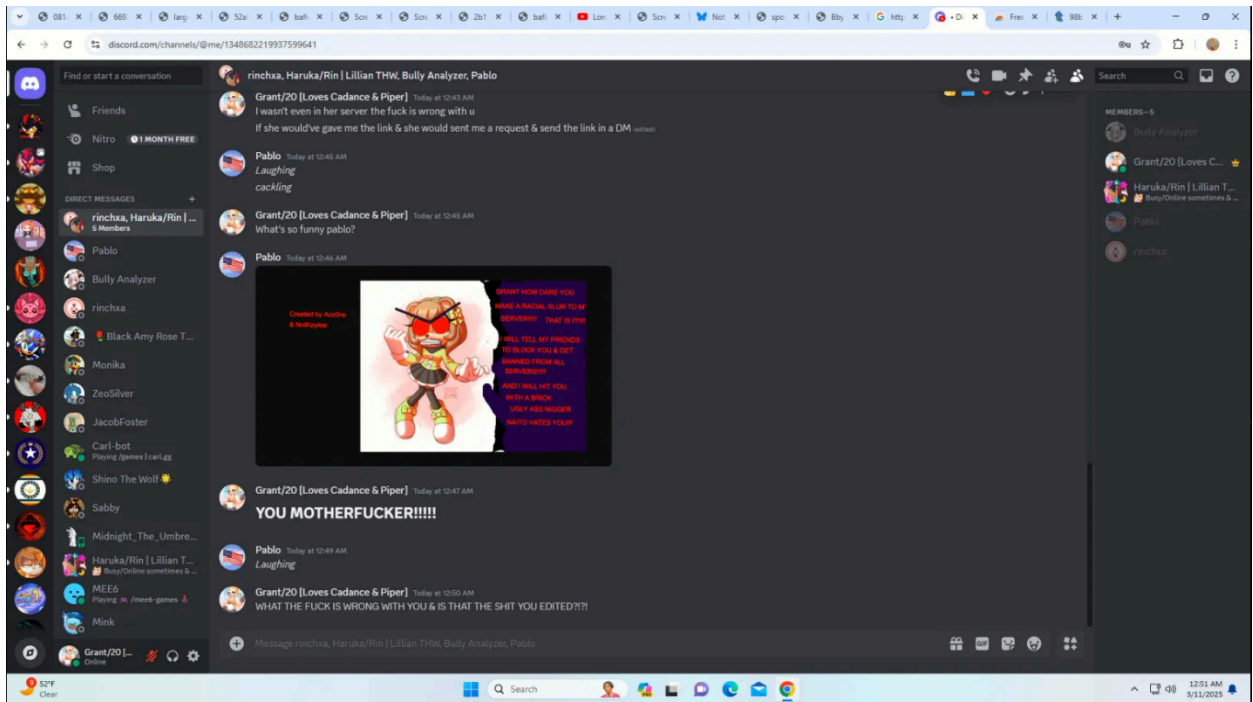

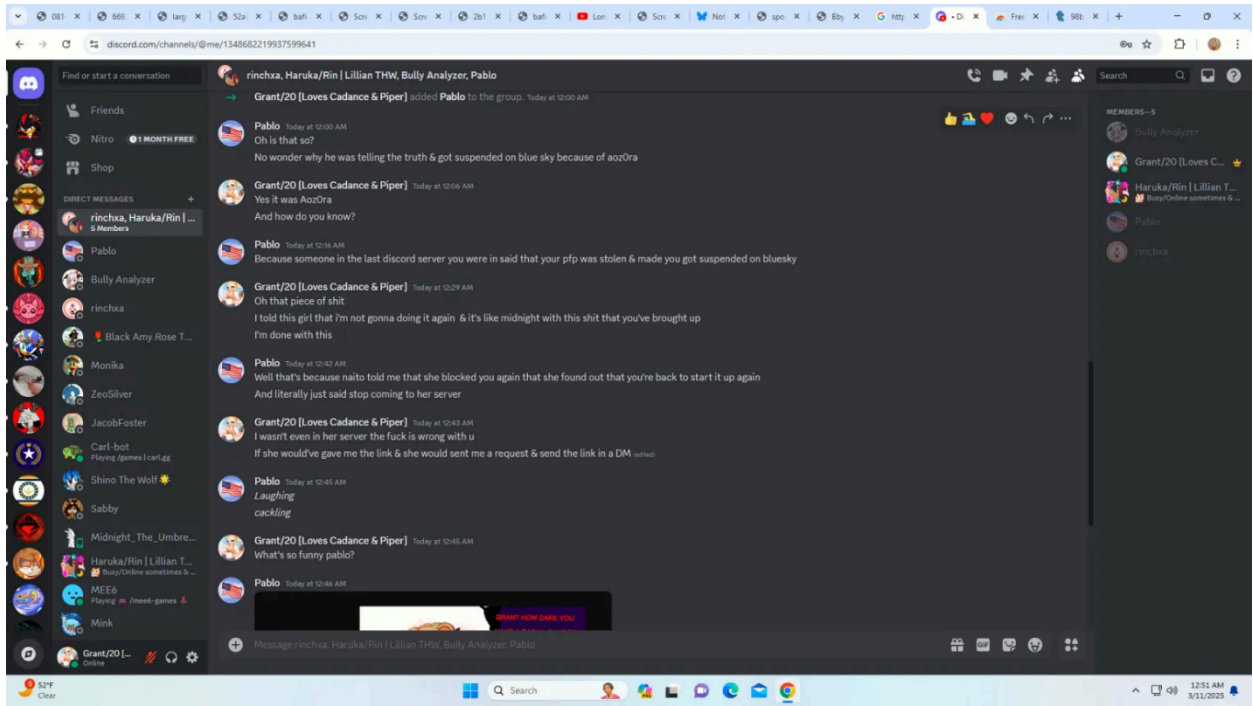

This situation further escalates as it has been discovered that various screenshots were stolen by Grant including those belonging to CandyKuma and other sonic artists on the Bluesky platform. These artworks were then gathered on Discord by Grant, demonstrating a clear pattern of stealing characters without the artists' permissions.

Additionally, it has come to light that Grant created three alternate accounts on Discord to harass or insult himself on the platform. This self-sabotaging behavior further highlights the extent of his disruptive actions and raises serious concerns about his motivations and mental state. He literally goes in and trolls himself until the accounts got banned.

The admin told me back then, that the alt accounts were all connected to the same IP address, which is why he could tell they were Grants alts

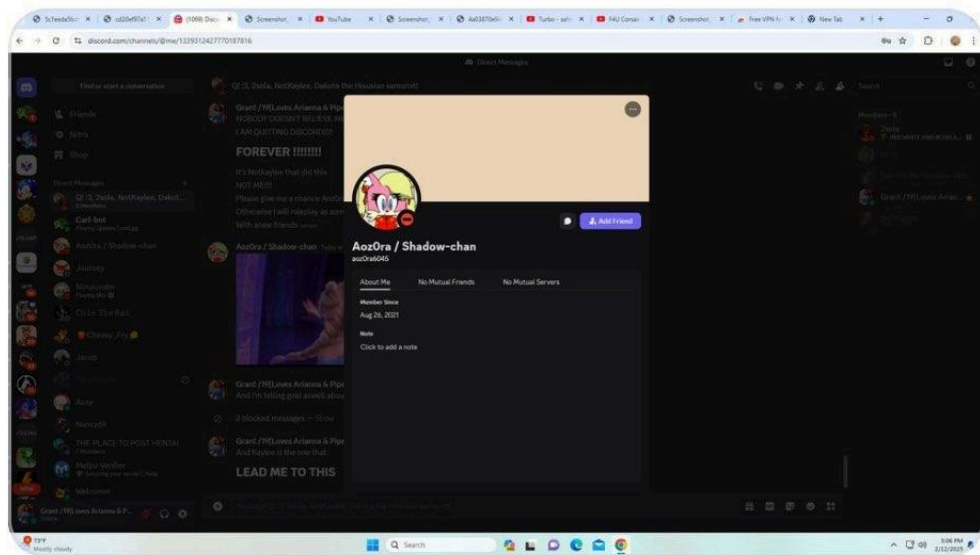

Here is further evidence showcasing that he uses these alt accounts on discord to interact with himself.

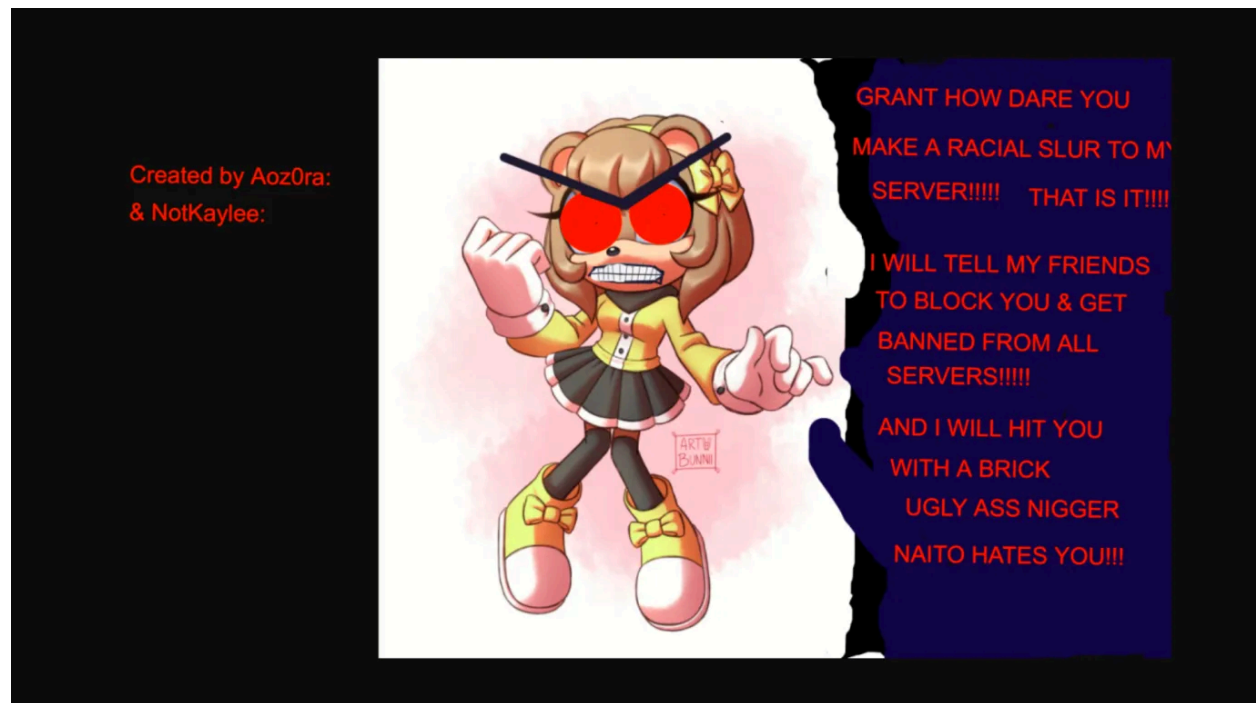

grantlovespiper.bsky.social @gran... · 24d

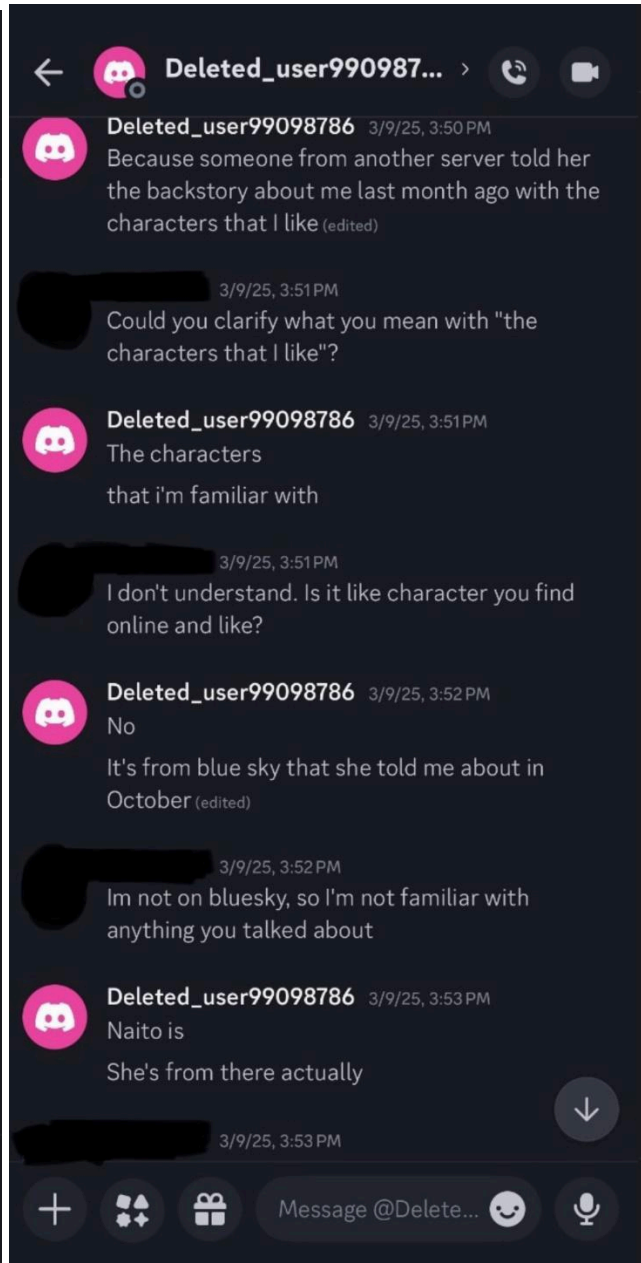

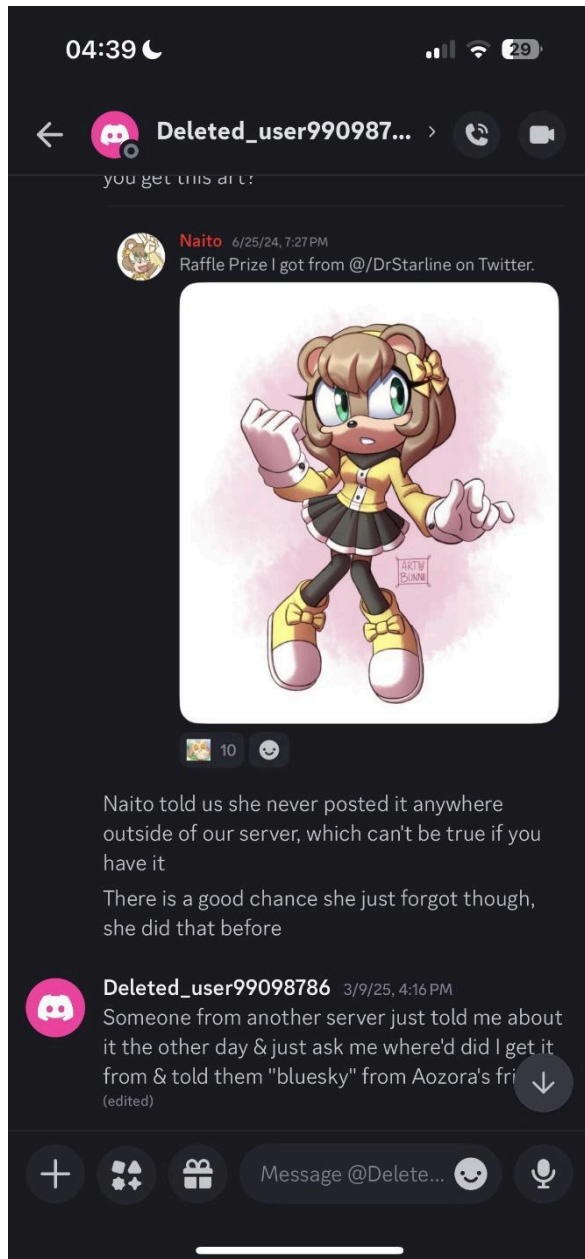

If anyone are friends with this girl from discord BLOCK HER IMMEDIATELY!!! I just recieved text from a friend saying that she made a trap to breakup with me & complaining saying that I made racial slures to her & I didn't & please report her aswell!!!

Moreover, Grant has been seen actively encouraging others to harass a fellow Sonic fan named A0zora. He has been telling people to block and report her account with false accusations, escalating his harmful behavior.

Grant's actions have taken another disturbing turn involving hate art. This involves CandyKuma's character, Suzu the bear. Grant claims that the drawing was edited by someone who hates him, trying to distance himself from the misconduct. However, the truth is more insidious as the image was actually the profile picture of his a0zora alt account, where he openly stated that he made it. This contradiction reveals Grant's attempts to manipulate the narrative and evade responsibility for creating and sharing harmful content. It is imperative that the community addresses these actions to protect the rights and well-being of all artists involved.

Most of what he said was just "where do you know this from" and Mr. Deflecting and making things up. His responses only served to further illustrate his unwillingness to take responsibility for his actions, and his attempts to obscure the truth with fabrications were evident.

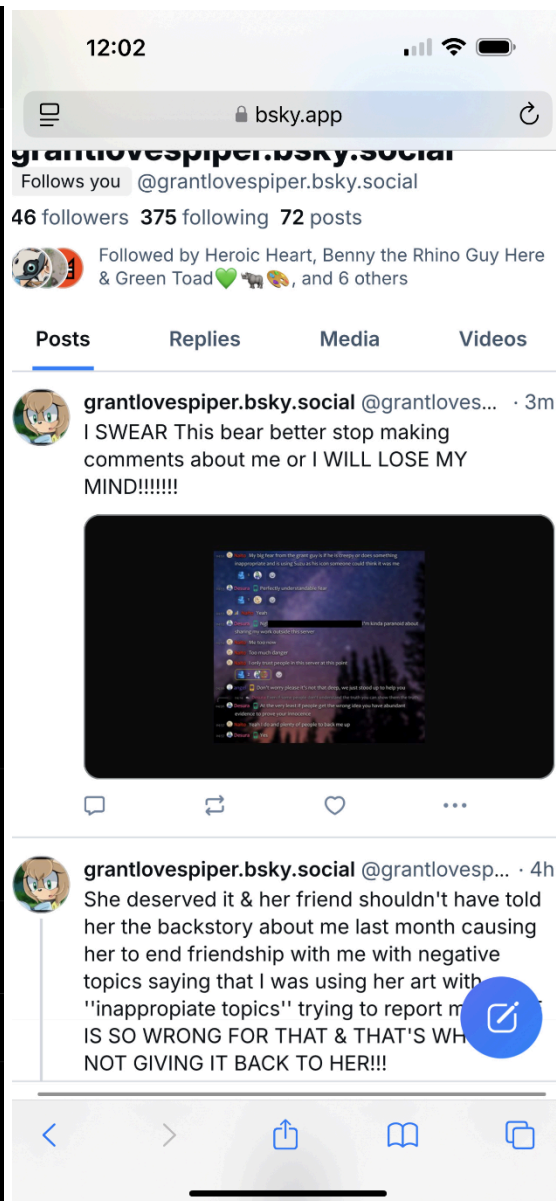

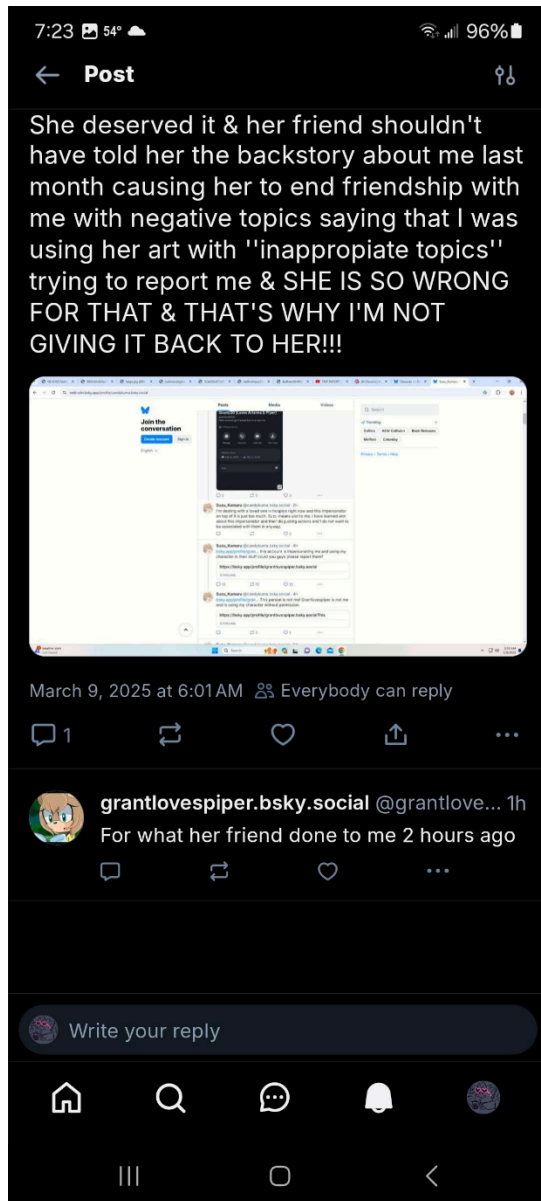

In one instance, when confronted about his knowledge of CandyKuma, Grant claimed that he knew her from a roleplay. However, if what she said is true, then Grant appears to be delusional, further complicating the issue.

When CandyKuma confronted the art thief, he began to argue with her, refusing to remove her character from his profile picture, claiming it as punishment for something she had no involvement in. Grant's defiance and unjust accusations further fueled the conflict, leading to a heated exchange where CandyKuma demanded the immediate removal of her artwork. But instead of acknowledging his wrongdoing, Grant doubled down on his actions, perpetuating the theft and harassment.

Grant even threatened to keep CandyKuma's artwork if she and other artists would continue spreading awareness about his unacceptable behavior. Despite the threats, the art community united, amplifying the message to protect their work and stand up against plagiarism and harassment.

Grant then continued his rampage, vehemently denying any wrongdoing and telling CandyKuma to stop making comments about him. He insisted that she deserved to be punished for calling him out on his inappropriate behavior. Once again threatening to keep her characters without her permission. His attempts to silence her included creating more fake accounts to spam her with harassing messages, further isolating and intimidating her.

Naito, If your seeing this post on here please forgive me & I apologize for the mistake that I was doing couple days until Aoz0ra got me suspended for my actions & Please forgive me with trust if anyone are friends with her

Grant issued a false apology to CandyKuma, claiming he would stop his harassment. However, despite being banned on Bluesky, he blamed a0zora for his suspension and continued his toxic behavior.

Otherwise i'm calling the cops

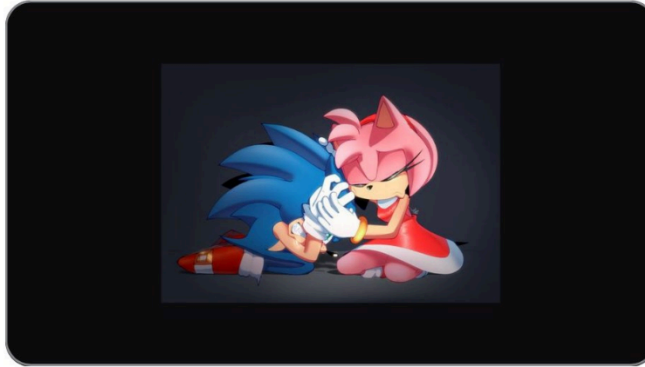

To make matters worse, Grant's deceptive behavior included a false apology to the community. He assured everyone that he would cease his harassment, but in reality, he continued targeting CandyKuma relentlessly. His alarming actions culminated in an outrageous threat to call the police for a trivial and unfounded reason, demonstrating his willingness to escalate the situation to extreme measures. This manipulation and abuse of authority further amplified the distress and insecurity among the creative community.

His obsession with CandyKuma even went as far as to exposing her real-life situation, including her grandmother being in hospice, which was never mentioned throughout their interactions. This invasion of privacy greatly exacerbated the distress experienced by CandyKuma. In addition, he continued to falsely apologize and deny any wrongdoing during his previous run on his first suspended account.

He even went a step further and threatened to join her server in an attempt to harass her and her followers whom she supported, her server has been locked down since then to ensure her safety and the safety of others.

Screenshots show that Grant added CandyKuma's character's name without her permission or consent. In addition, he explains that he deliberately stole her character and used her character to roleplay with himself without permission or consent, making CandyKuma uncomfortable. This blatant disregard for personal boundaries and intellectual property highlights the severity of Grant's behavior and the lengths to which he is willing to go to cause distress to others.

As if that wasn't bad enough, he then began to stalk her closest friends, including a fellow artist named Lily who was friends with CandyKuma and one of her supportive fans.

I promised that the owner of this character that I won't use her as a pfp anymore & i'm glad that she trusts me

Grant's obsession with CandyKuma reached new heights as he continued to fixate on her character, making her increasingly uncomfortable. He falsely assured the community that he would no longer use her character in profile pictures, despite having already taken her artwork numerous times without permission.

He once again resorted to his usual threats of calling the police and falsely blaming a0zora for his ban. His relentless pursuit and hostile actions continued to sow fear and anxiety among the community members, underscoring the urgent need for effective measures to curb such toxic behavior in online spaces.

He then continued ranting and ordering everyone to stop banning him, while persistently blaming a0zora for his repeated suspensions. Grant's actions escalated as he went a step further by stealing a0zora's character named Journey. This additional act of theft demonstrated his ongoing disregard for others' creations and boundaries, further intensifying the turmoil within the art community.

Despite his assertion that he does not wish to upset anyone, Grant's actions speak louder than his words. His admission to posting characters and artwork that do not belong to him is a testament to his blatant disregard for respect and ownership within the community.

Despite all the turmoil caused, Grant's behavior did not cease. He went on to insult one of CandyKuma's supporters and calling her a brat while once again falsely promising once again that he wouldn't steal her characters anymore. Such deceitful assurances were quickly overshadowed by his demand for CandyKuma to stop spreading awareness about his inappropriate behavior. This further added to the community's frustration and underscored Grant's unwillingness to accept responsibility for his actions.

Grant is then seen finding out that CandyKuma likes Cream the Rabbit, a character from the Sonic the Hedgehog series, and disturbingly declares his own fondness for the same character. This revelation not only further highlights his obsessive behavior but also his invasive approach to CandyKuma's personal interests, making her feel even more unsettled and threatened by his relentless intrusions into her online and personal life.

In a misguided attempt to mend the situation, Grant reached out to a0zora, claiming that he wanted to resolve their differences. However, his true intentions quickly surfaced when he revealed that he was blocked and exposed by CandyKuma. His attempt at reconciliation was nothing more than a facade, as he soon admitted that CandyKuma had also blocked him.

When CandyKuma and one of her supporters brought Grant into a group chat, Grant raged out and left the chat

He hurled derogatory remarks and personal attacks at anyone who dared to question his actions, further alienating himself from the community. This escalation of hostility only served to deepen the rift between Grant and the rest of the art community, who were united in their condemnation of his actions. The toxic atmosphere he created left many feeling unsafe and anxious, highlighting the pressing need for stronger community guidelines and enforcement to protect members from such harmful behavior.

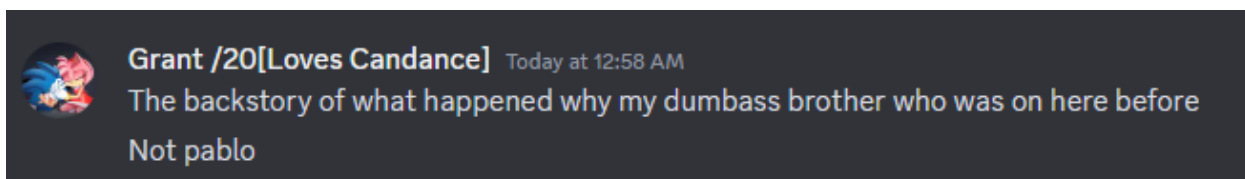

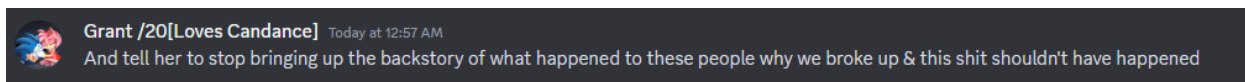

His behavior became even more erratic as he began to write in capital letters, signaling his heightened aggression and inability to engage in constructive dialogue. This tactic of overwhelming others with his loud, insistent proclamations was a clear indication of his unwillingness to acknowledge his wrongdoings or engage in meaningful conversations about his actions.

Grant /20[Loves Candance] Today at 12:25 AM

Yeah that piece of shit that he wants me to get on Grant even began to insult CandyKuma's supporters who wanted to confront him about his behaviour.

Grant is also seen here falsely promising CandyKuma that he will stop harassing, stalking and stealing her characters, by threatening a0zora to stop bringing up his backstory with his alt account, claiming to be his brother. This deceitful tactic aimed to garner sympathy and deflect accountability for his actions. Despite his attempts to manipulate the narrative, the community remained steadfast in their stance against his misconduct.

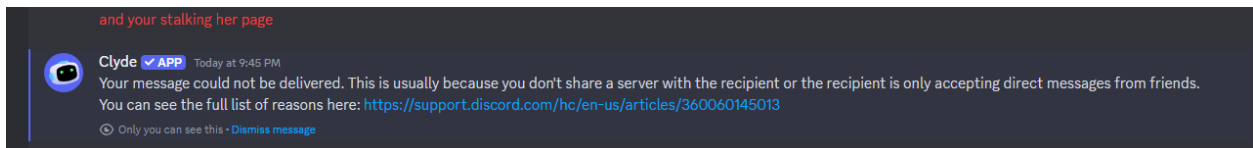

Grant continues to demonstrate his relentless obsession with CandyKuma by posting a stolen screenshot of a biography featuring her character. This act not only further illustrates his invasive behavior but also underscores his ongoing disregard for personal boundaries and respect within the community.

This screenshot shows Grant sending a death threat on discord towards a user named Omitayua during a confrontation.

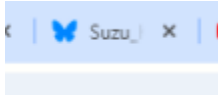

A couple of days later, he decided to make another alt account on discord, using CandyKuma's character as his profile pic, once again showing that he's stalking her.

When CandyKuma confronted him, he's now trying to play defense by blocking CandyKuma's account while constantly stalking her on bluesky at the same time.

Luckily CandyKuma was able to expose his main discord account which Grant mainly uses.

This screenshot alone is proof that Grant is constantly stalking CandyKuma's bluesky account while blocking her.

Grant is then seen having a conversation on Tumblr, once again lying about his promise not to use CandyKuma's character. Yet, his profile picture on Discord proves otherwise.

In addition, CandyKuma also discovered his tumblr account for where the source was posted from:

Grant /20[Loves Candance]

Grant also keeps mentioning on discord a backstory but doesn't explain anything about it. The only backstory the community knows about is Grant stealing CandyKuma's OCs and his inappropriate behaviour towards her and her supporters.

If you don't want to be bothered by CandyKuma and the community? Then why do you persist in attacking?

He recently updated the name and profile pictures of his pablo account on discord.

On the 21st of March 2025, Grant was caught picking a fight with members of another discord server who had nothing to do with him, to which he was called out by admins and moderators for his actions.

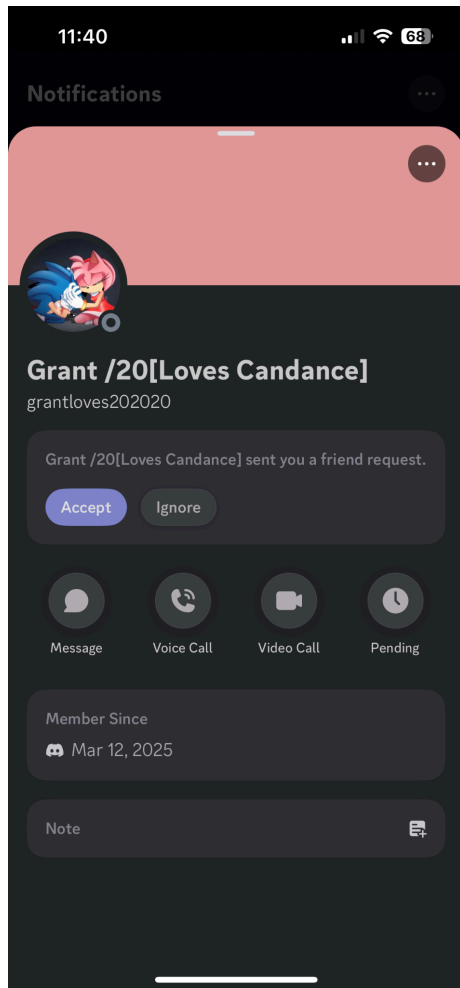

He once again accused CandyKuma for a crime that she never committed, denying that he was involved with any wrongdoing.

He then threatened that he was gonna steal CandyKuma's character and not give it back to her.

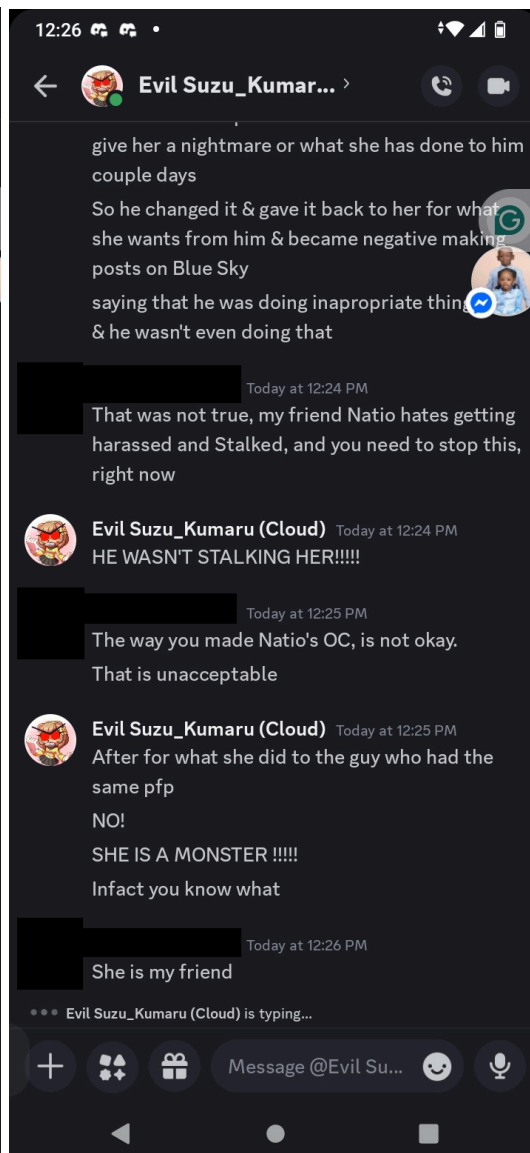

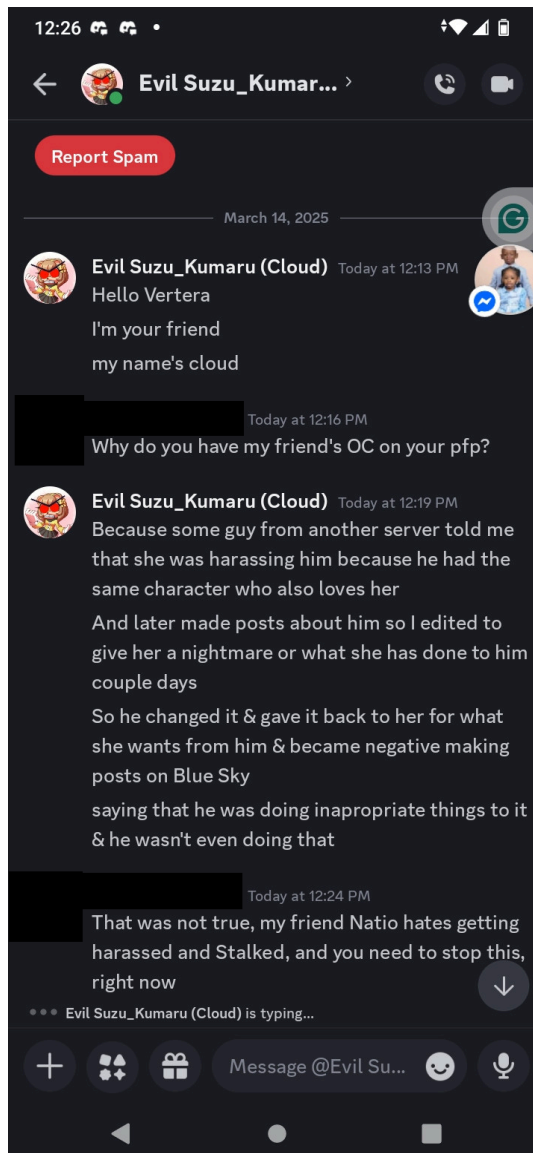

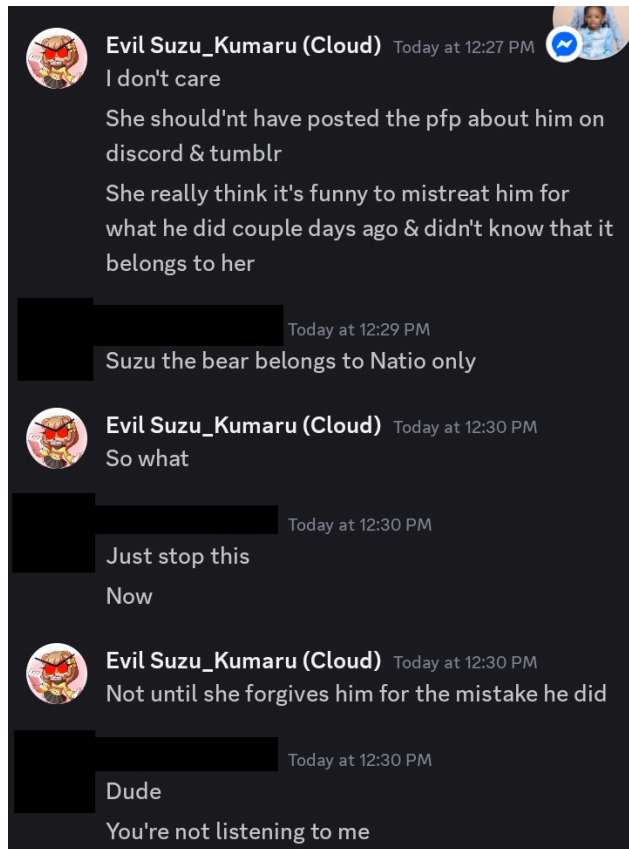

He even went as far as to insult the people within the server. To which he was banned from the server for his inexcusable behaviour.

On March 24, 2025, Grant was caught trying to send a friend request to one of CandyKuma's friends in order to stalk her and harass her on discord, as he's been still doing towards CanyKuma.

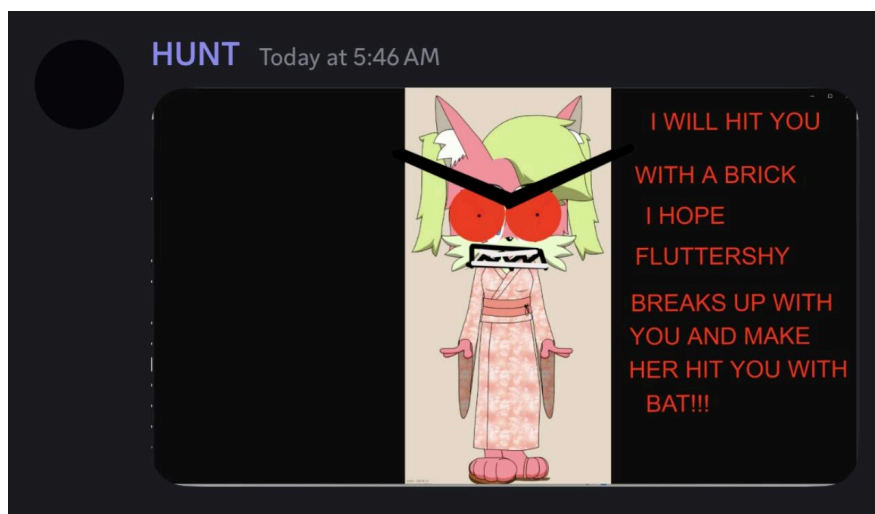

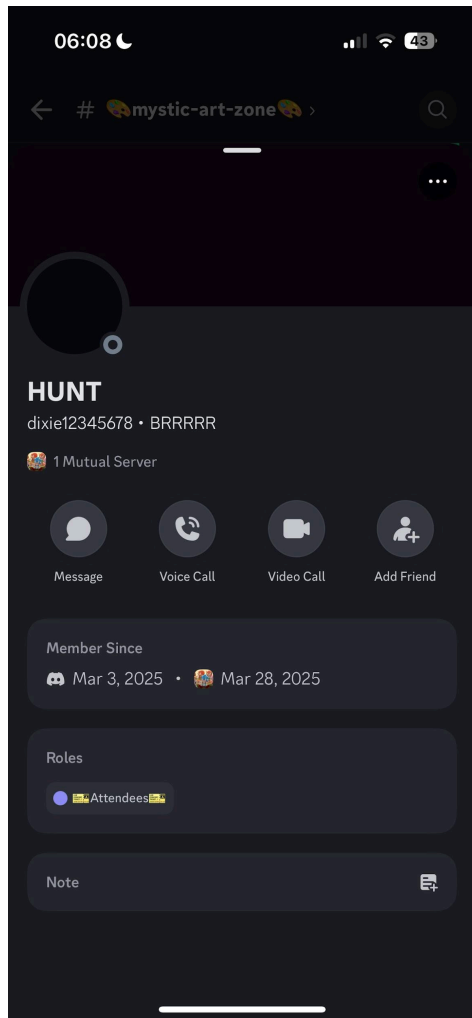

In a recent confrontation with another user, Grant used the Evil Suzu Kumar discord alt and sent a direct message, accusing CandyKuma of being a Monster, to which he was told to stop. But as usual, he doesn't listen and goes on to call CandyKuma a Spoiled little brat who's obsessed with Cream the Rabbit. And once again claiming that Suzu the bear belongs to him when the character already belongs to CandyKuma, while once again denying any wrongdoing.

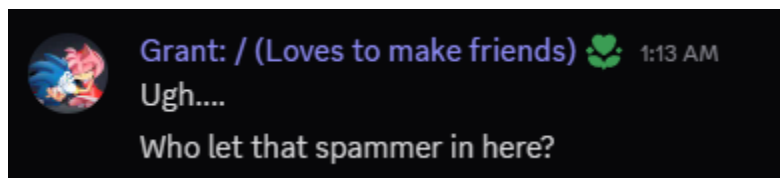

On the 28 of March, 2025, he was caught trying to post hate art of another sonic OC while impersonating someone else. He was recently seen in the Sonic Revolution discord server.

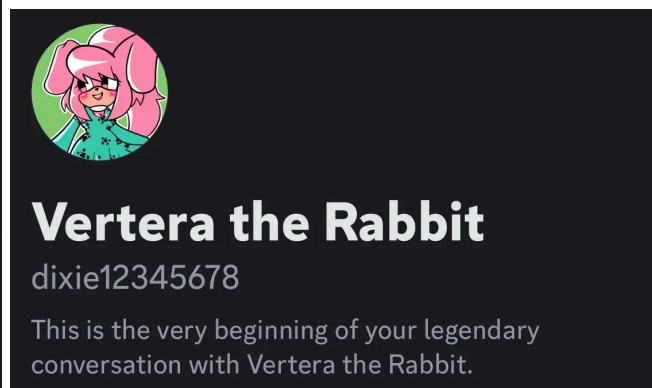

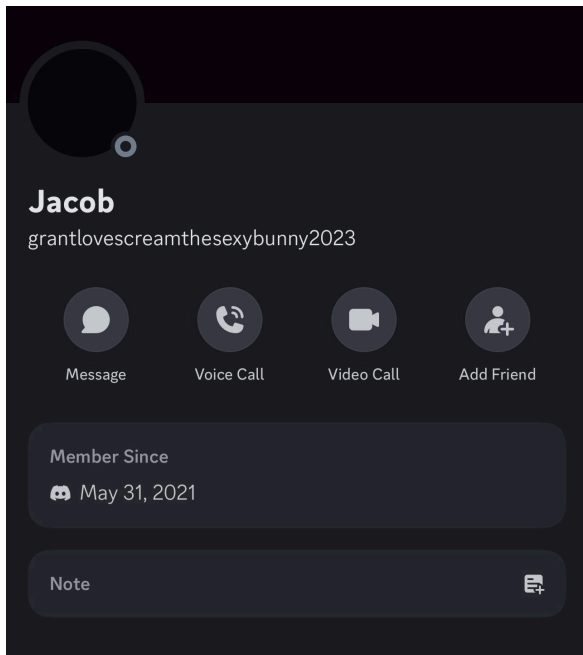

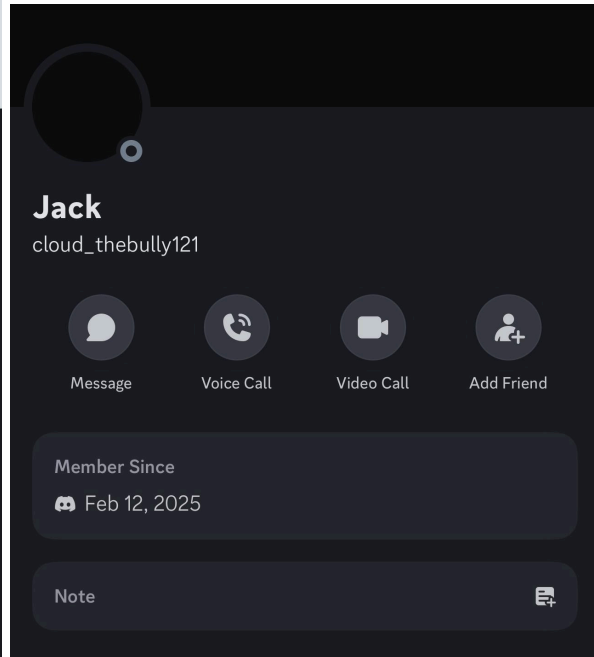

After his comment was removed, he used his main account to try to cover up his wrongdoing.

By using one of his discord alt accounts, he was also caught impersonating one of CandyKuma's friends and stealing her OC as well. In addition, he even exposed CandyKuma's home state.

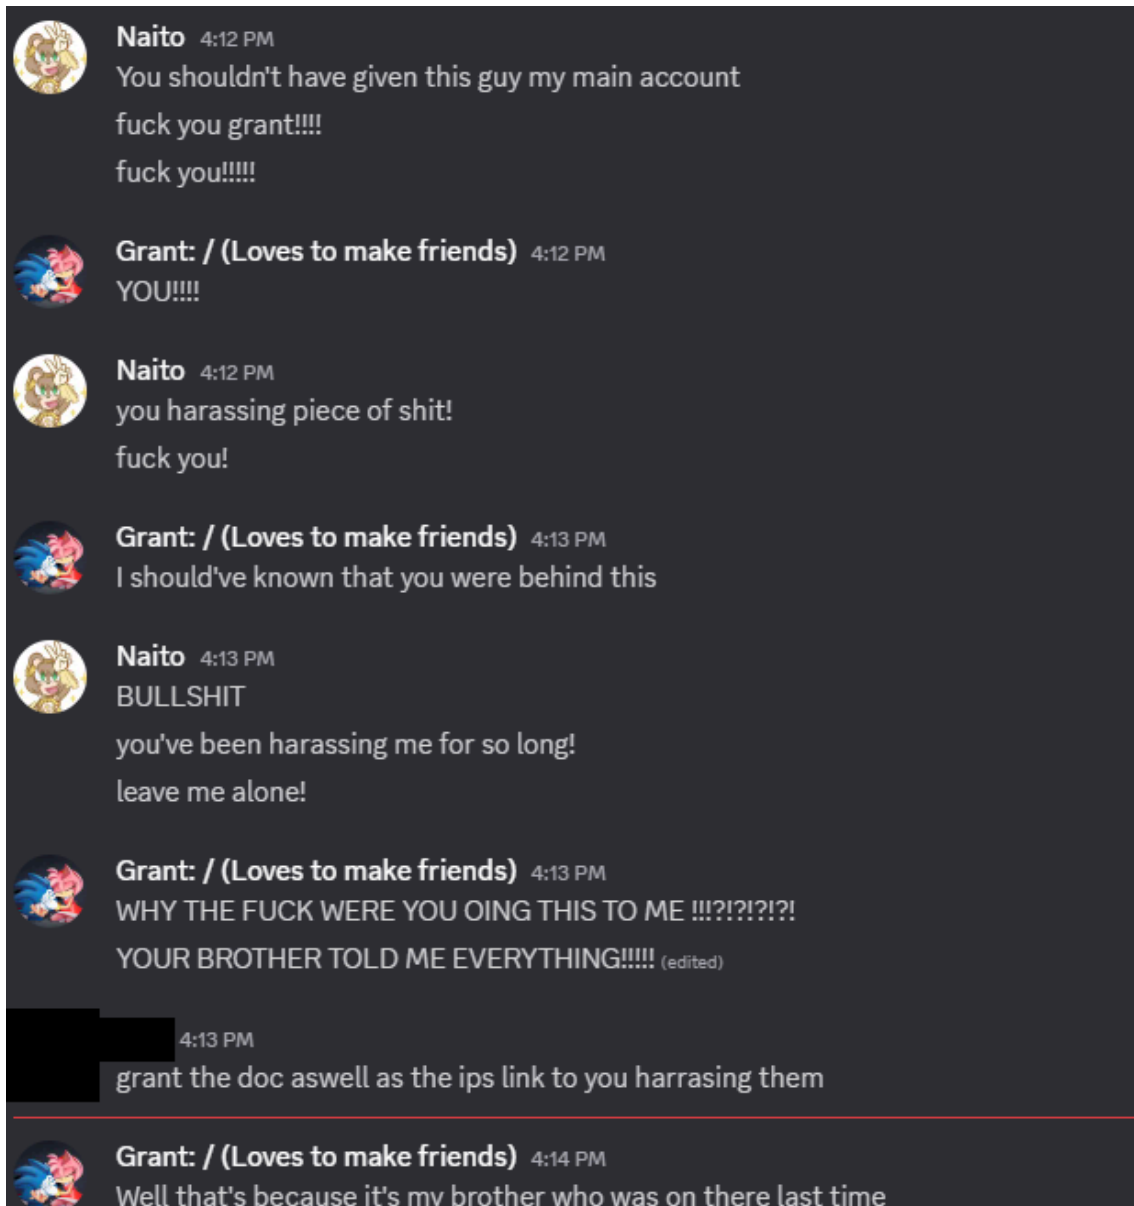

Since joining the sonic revolution server, he managed to create 3 new alt accounts on discord.

<https://discord.gg/GfCQQxSY>

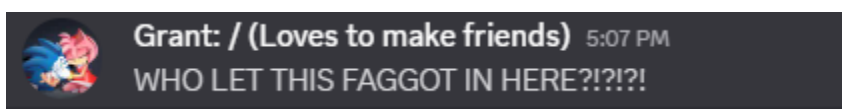

Grant was last seen in this discord server continuing his inappropriate behaviour such as harassment and stealing ocs. Furthermore, to add insult to injury, anyone who tries to call out Grant for his behaviour gets banned from the server.

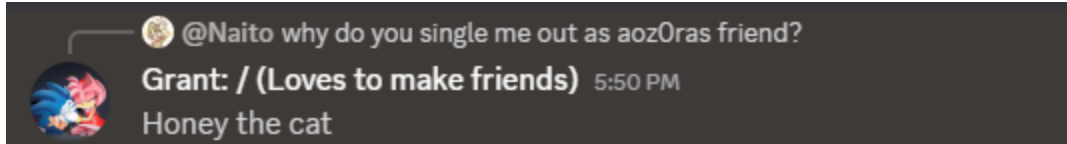

CandyKuma was then thrown into a group chat where the confrontation between her and Grant escalated.

Once again, Grant is attempting to falsely accuse CandyKuma for harassing him when in reality, it's Grant harassing CandyKuma.

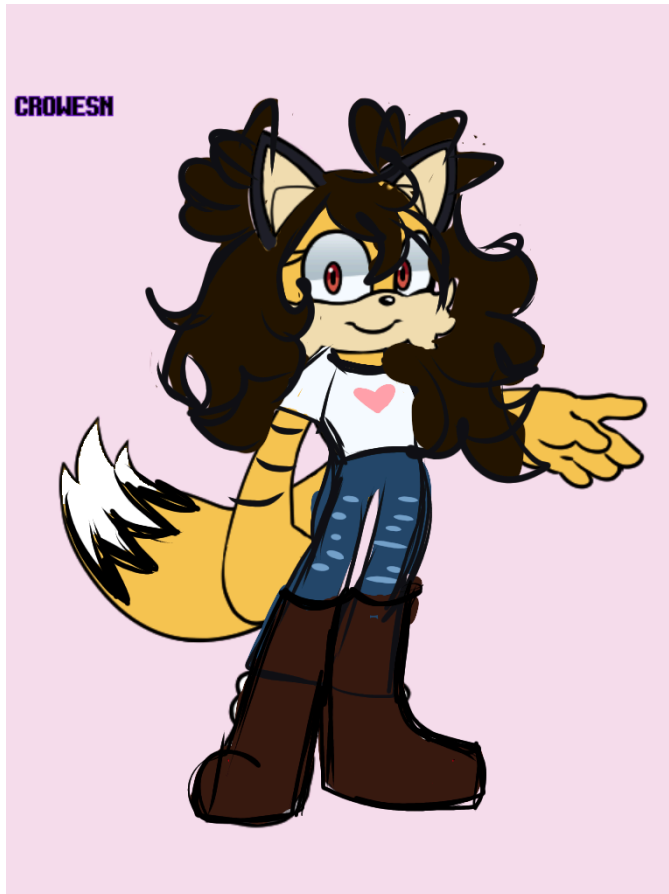

In addition, he continues to deny allegations regarding his inappropriate behaviour, claiming that a "family member" was behind the stalking and harassing.

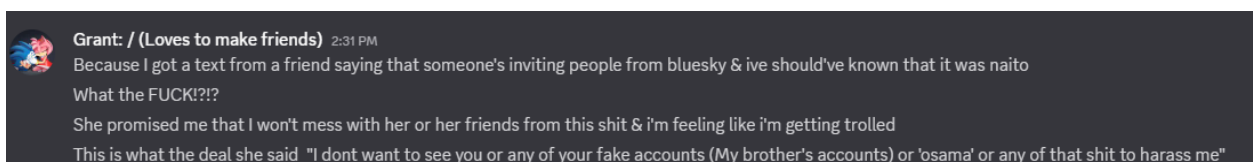

He was also caught using a slur in the group chat.

During the confrontation, CandyKuma asked Grant a question, to which he refused to answer by posting a comment that has nothing to do with the situation.

This character is another stolen OC that Grant claims “his friend made for him.” But once he was confronted by members on another server, he apparently got banned from said server because it was revealed that this OC was considered stolen.

On March 30, 2025, Grant started confronting CandyKuma again, wrongfully accusing her of starting an argument with Grant and claiming that she’s harassing him, when in reality, it’s Grant who started jabbing towards CandyKuma and is continuously harassing her.

Note

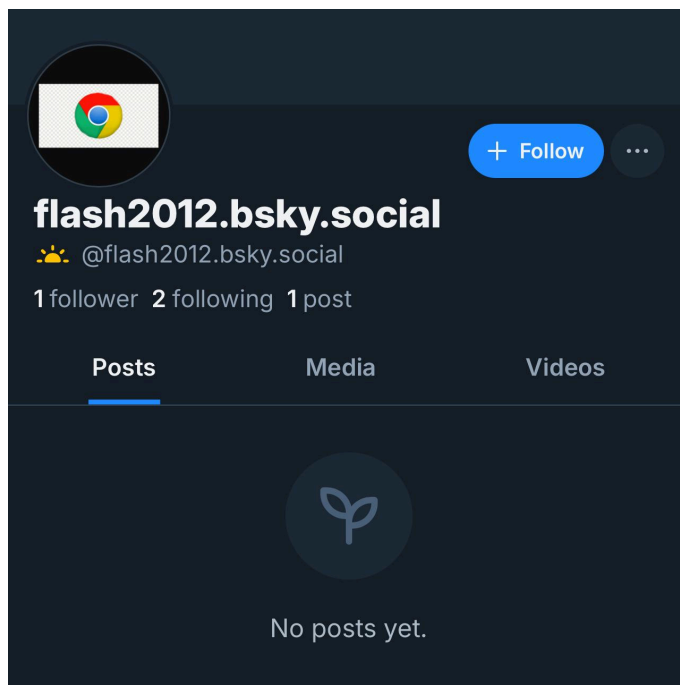

On March 31st, 2025, Grant was caught creating a new account in order to continue his stalking and harassment.

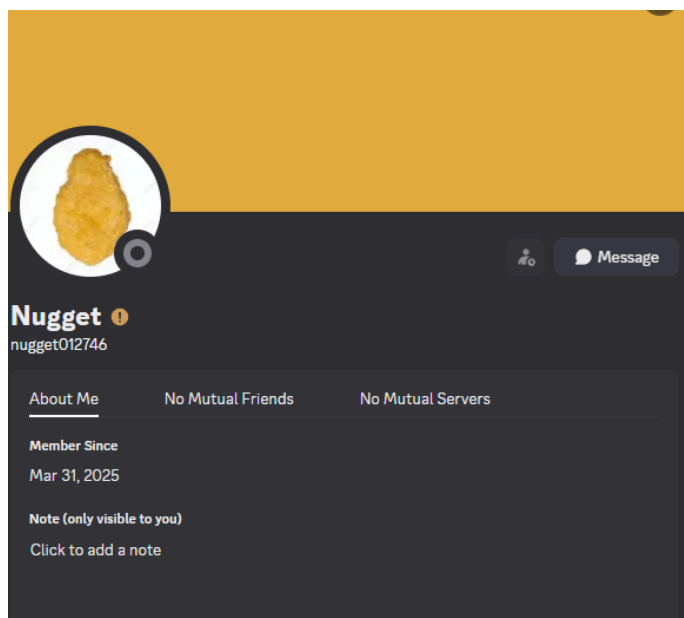

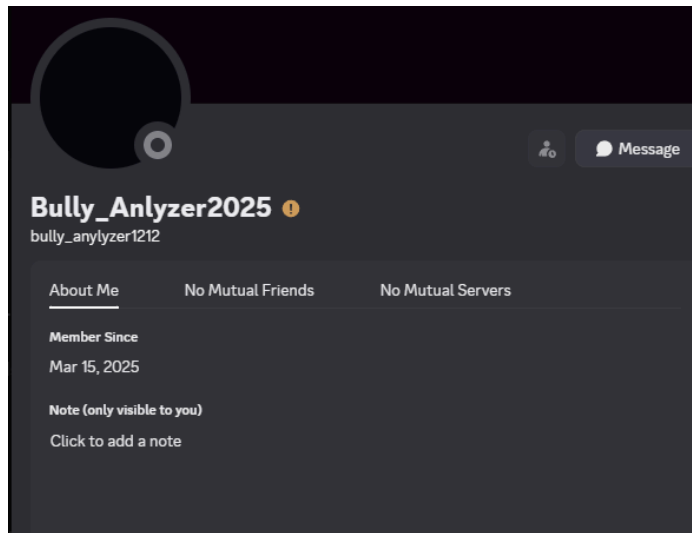

He even sent CandyKuma a friend request on discord in order to proceed with his inappropriate behaviour.

He even created another discord alt account. Followed by another bluesky account.

<https://bsky.app/profile/flash2012.bsky.social>

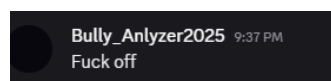

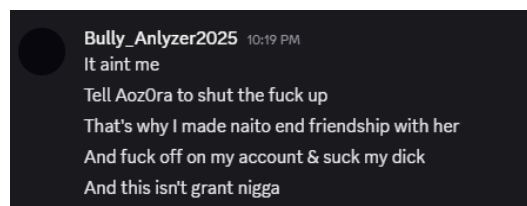

Upon his return, he posted a comment towards an art piece disrespecting the artist in question.

In a recent confrontation between CandyKuma and Grant, Grant responded with the following:

In addition, he continued to deny any wrongdoing and even managed to take the confrontation to another disgusting level.

And Grant started stealing other people's OCs and is using them for his profile picture.

In April 11, 2025, Grant created another bluesky account and once again began to troll people online.

In addition, he even pestered CandyKuma to join her server in comments and in DMs in an attempt to continue his harassment.

In a recent confrontation with one of CandyKuma's supporters, Grant tried to evade the conversation by blocking the individual.

He then went on to post creepy comments towards an OC character made by another supporter of Candykuma.

Furthermore, in an attempt to justify his return to bluesky to start more drama in the sonic OC community, Grant came out swinging, threatening that he will continue stalking and harassing if people keep blocking and reporting him.

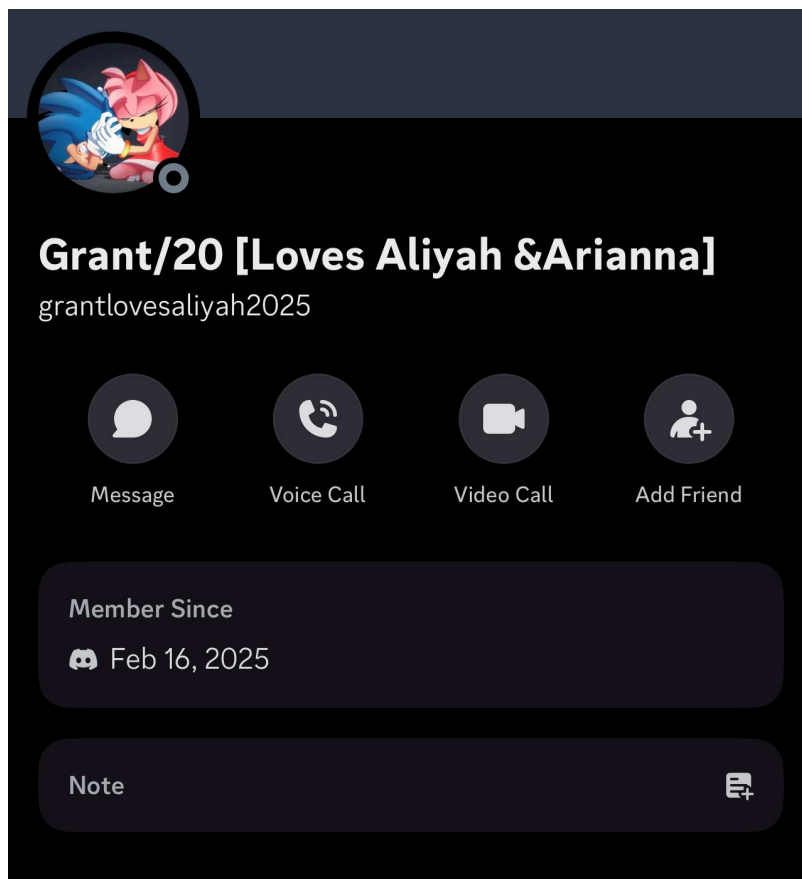

As if that wasn't enough, he then started posting pictures, attacking one of CandyKuma's friends and supporters on bluesky by posting hate art of her OC. Not once, but twice.

He then went on to insult one of CandyKuma's friends on bluesky by replying to the individual a "brick", indicating him threatening violence against the user.

He even tried making another alt account on discord in an attempt to rejoin the Sonic Revolution server, but he was banned immediately.

In a recent confrontation on discord, Grant continued to deny his wrongdoing and continued blaming CandyKuma's friend and supporter. Even threatening to continue impersonating her through retaliation.

Well you shouldn't have interrupted our RP & I made a promise that I won't be with her anymore

So Ive determine a favor for her that she will be impersonated in discord servers & broke that last patience

I wanna show her how it feels when she let people troll me like the otherday

By impersonating on bluesky acting like her

 Grant/20[Loves Aliyah& Arianna] Yesterday at 8:26 PM

Well you shouldn't have interrupted our RP because of that character and I got you banned on a server because of that

Yesterday at 8:26 PM

why do you blame nothing on yourself

Grant all of that was your fault not mine

 Grant/20[Loves Aliyah& Arianna] Yesterday at 8:26 PM

Oh yeah

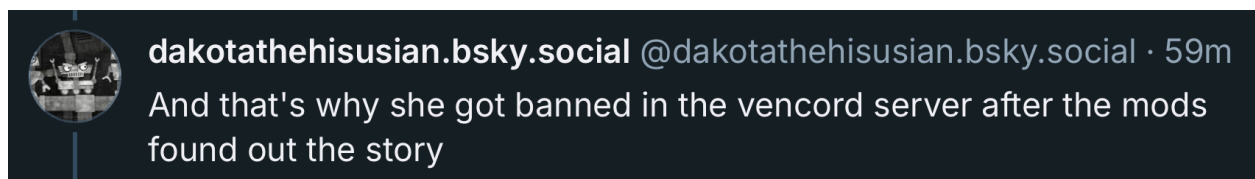

What about the edits you did

Yesterday at 8:26 PM

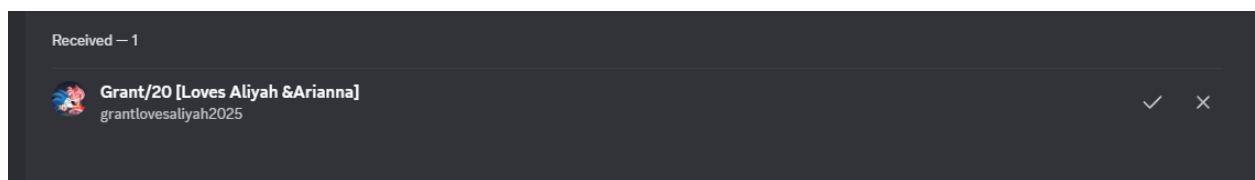

funny as fuck but you brought that on yourself honestly

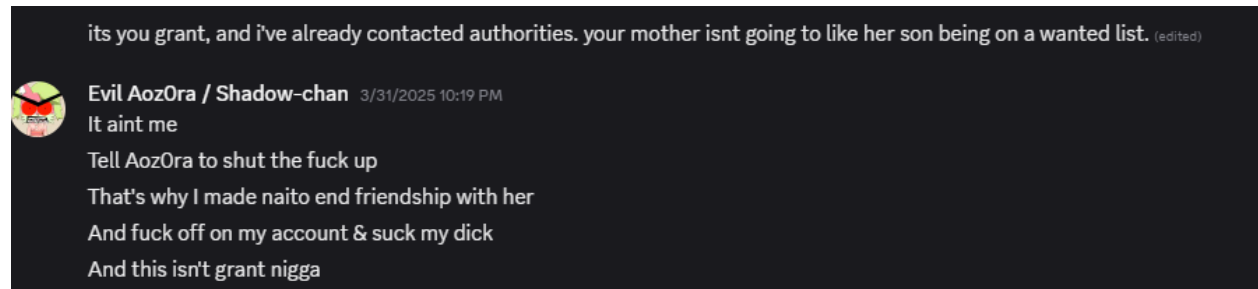

He even went as far to get her friend & supporter wrongfully banned from the Vencord discord server, as seen in this screenshot posted on bluesky.

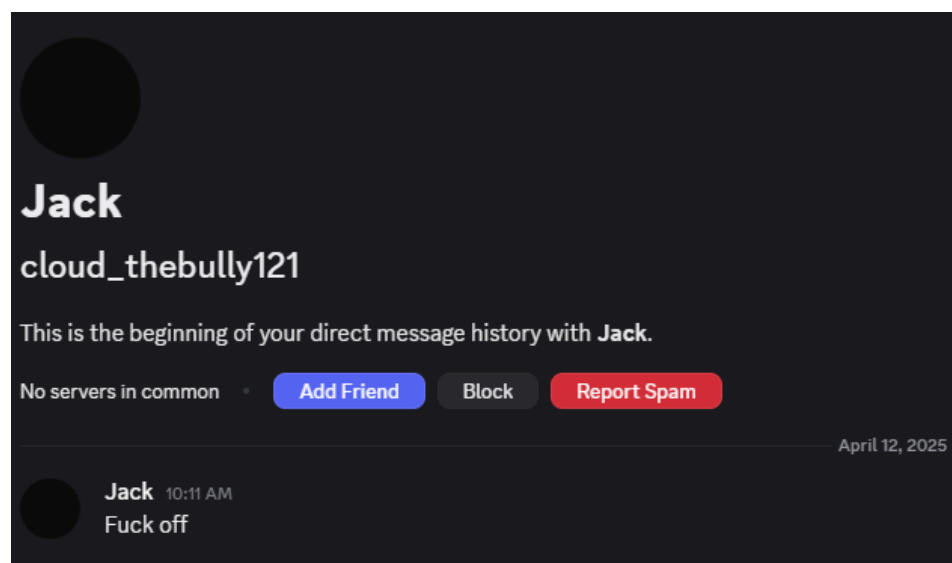

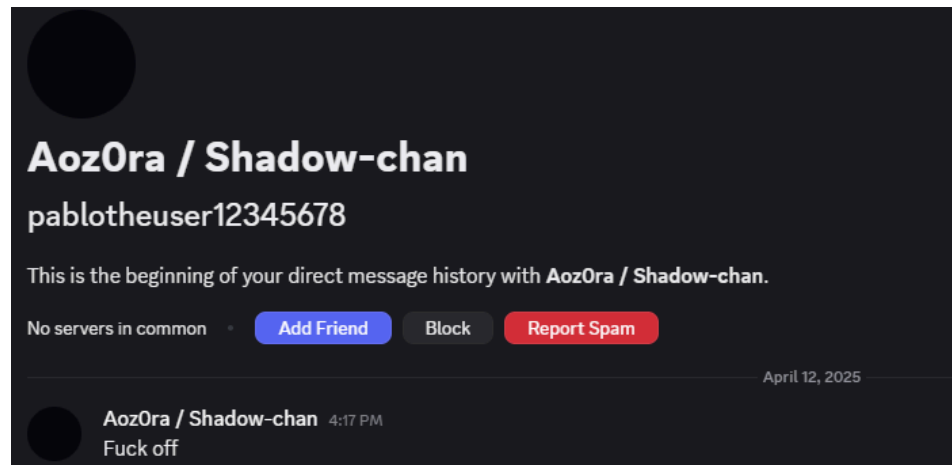

He even tried to send another friend request towards CandyKuma with another discord alt account.

In a recent confrontation with CandyKuma on discord, Grant once again tried to defend himself, blamed her best friend and even insulted her in DMs.

He even made 2 other alt accounts on discord. One of them impersonating CandyKuma's friend.

In another discord server, Grant began falsely accusing her best friend to the point that he got in touch with a moderator to have her falsely banned from the server. Once again falsifying his story, using his brother as an excuse which is also false, and telling people that he's tired of people trolling him when he's doing the trolling to others.

And keep in mind that Grant always has this pattern of joining social media just to pick a fight with others.

And in one of his alt accounts, he posted these images in discord DMs. It's clear that he's using a fake image or deepfake software to mimic the face, as seen in this screenshot belonging to Western Kentucky Hilltoppers basketball star: Rodney Howard https://www.espn.com/mens-college-basketball/player/_/id/4433010/rodney-howard

Other alt accounts created by Grant, once again impersonating CandyKuma and her friends from social media through various profile pictures and usernames.

He then went on to create a fake discord server of CandyKuma in order to continue his harassment and trolling behaviour. As you can see from the server icon, he's once again using CandyKuma's OC character, after he claimed many times that he would stop stealing OCs.

He was later discovered joining another discord server under a new alt.

This is his latest message towards CandyKuma on discord. It's clear that Grant is trying to blacklist as many people as he can in order to have them banned from various discord servers when he is the aggressor.

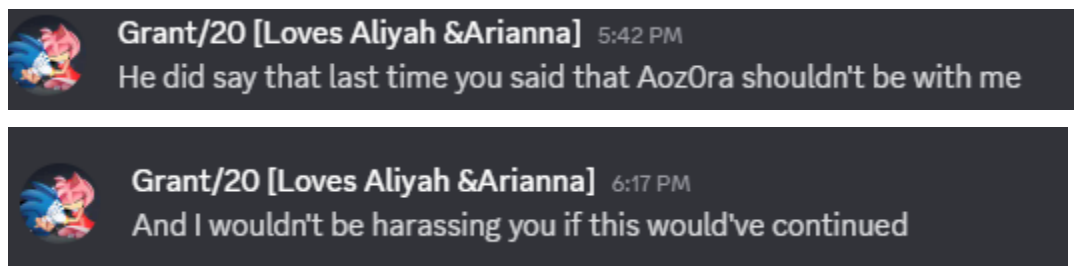

He even went as far to post screenshots of his possible state and the area he's in (around the Central Time Zone area)

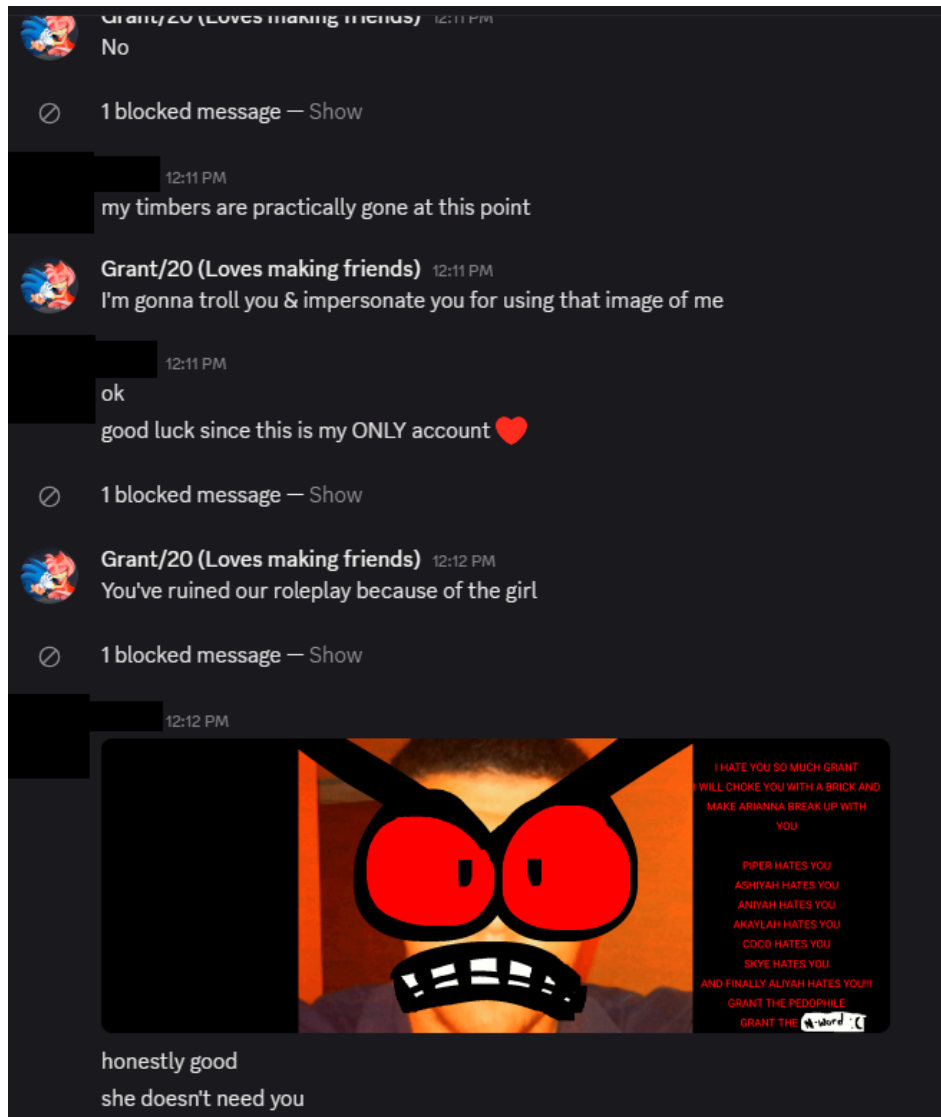

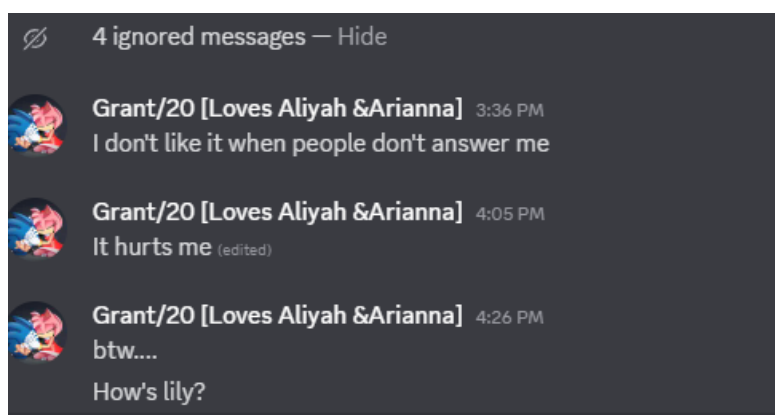

Grant is also seen here falsifying a claim of CandyKuma warning her best friend not to be with him. And he's continuing to blame CandyKuma for harassing her.

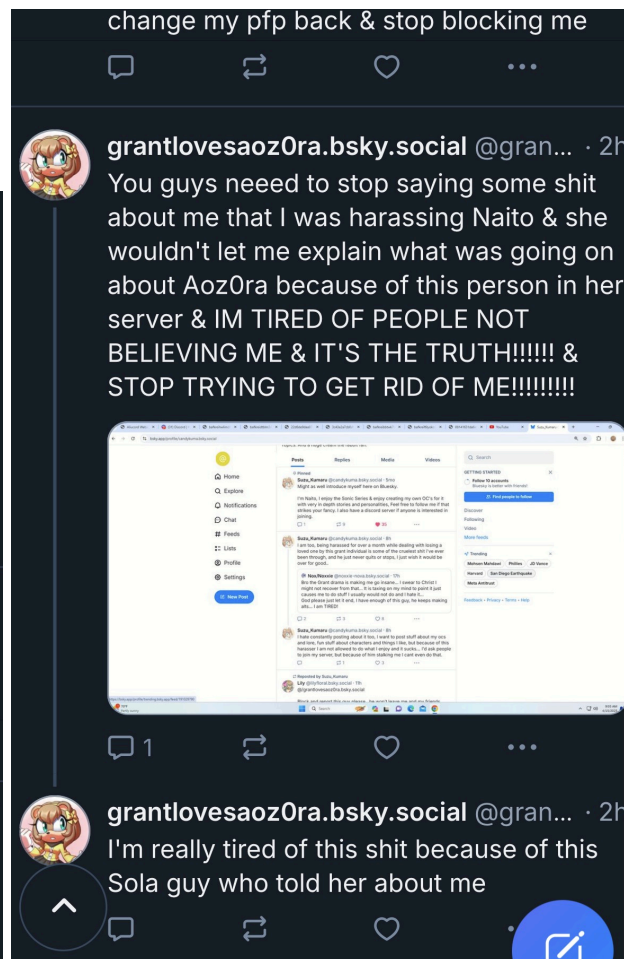

In a recent confrontation on discord, he was caught threatening to troll and impersonate a user as seen in the following screenshot.

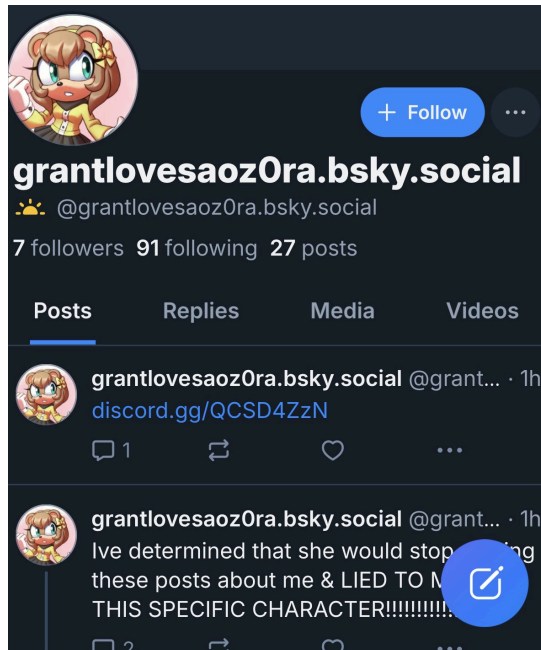

In an attempt to ignore Grant, he posted multiple messages, including one message asking about one of her friends.

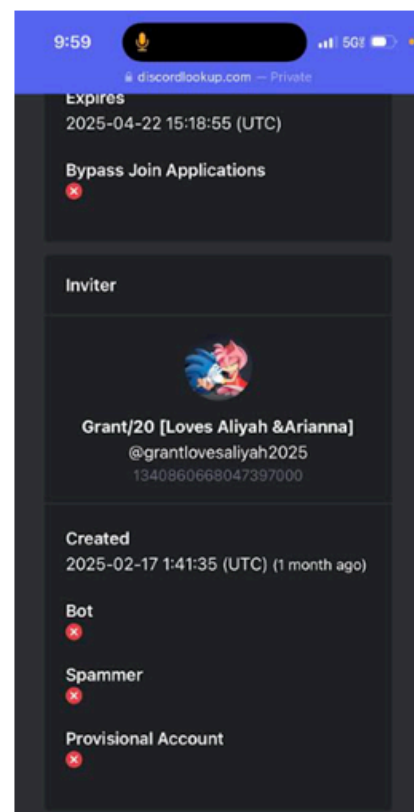

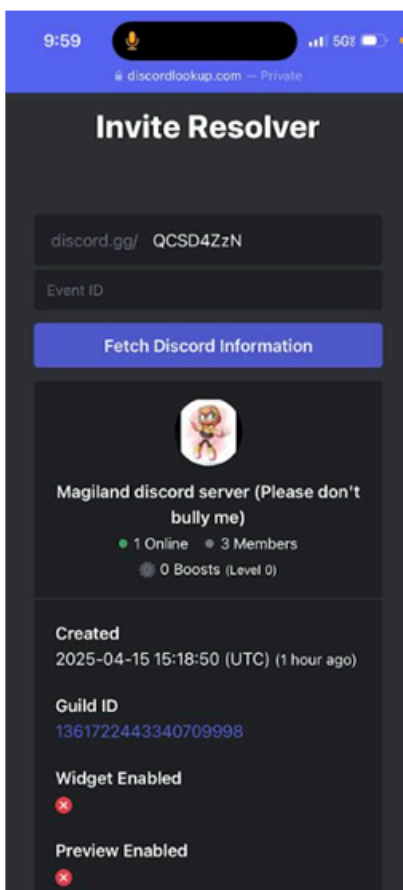

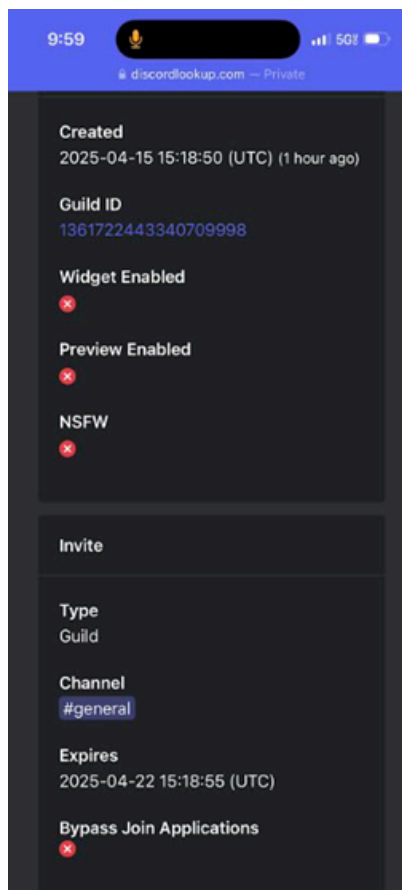

On April 15, 2025, Grant was spotted impersonating CandyKuma's character once again, and picking fights with CandyKuma and another user on bluesky.

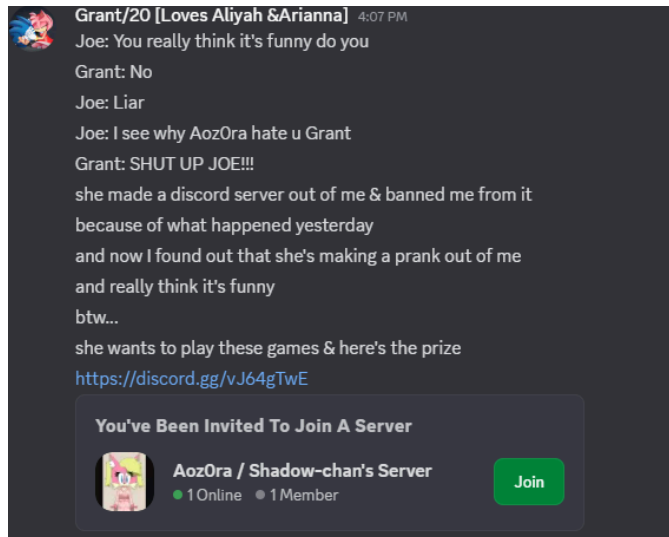

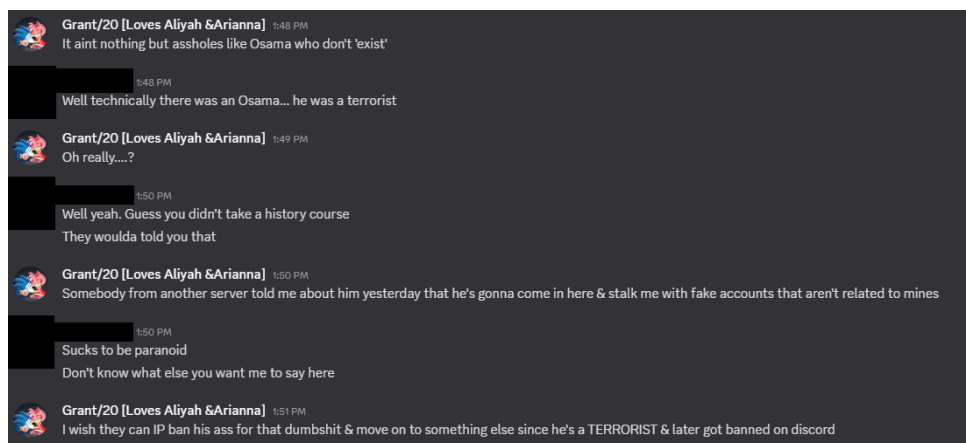

Also attached is proof of how he obtained the profile picture.

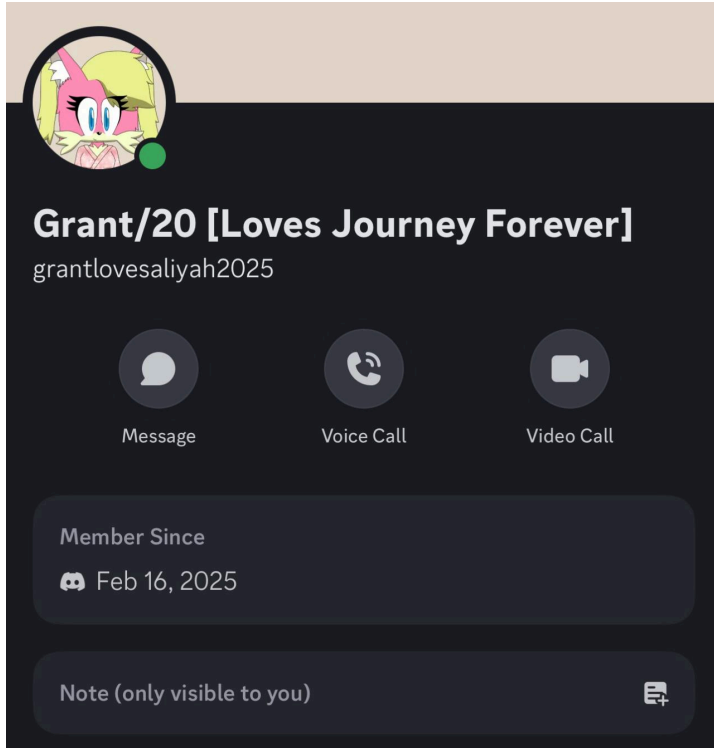

He even went as far as to create another discord server with her supporter's name and character on it without permission. Thus stealing an OC character once again.

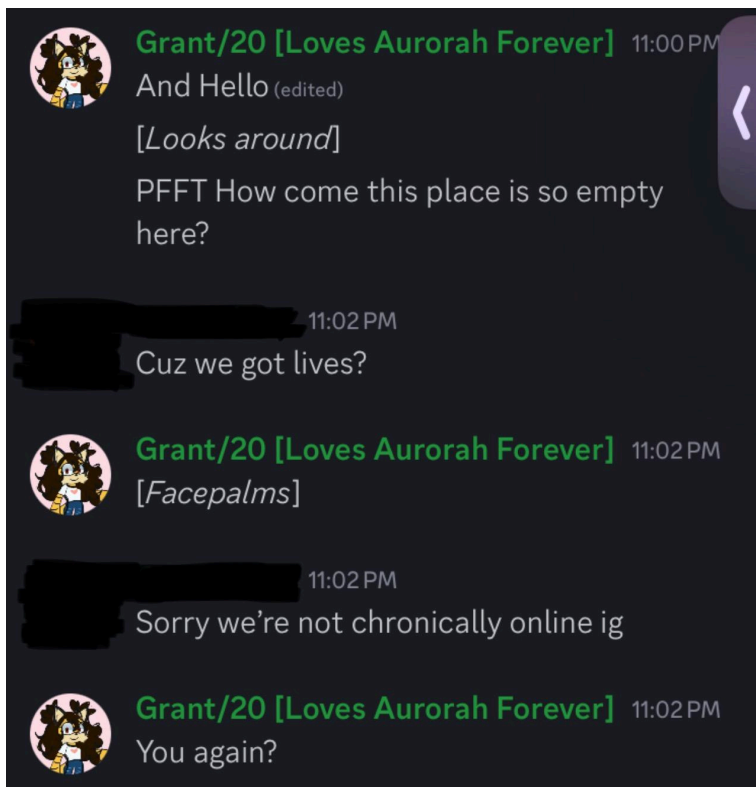

During a recent confrontation with another user on discord, Grant went on a rant claiming this “Osama” guy was responsible for creating alt accounts of him.

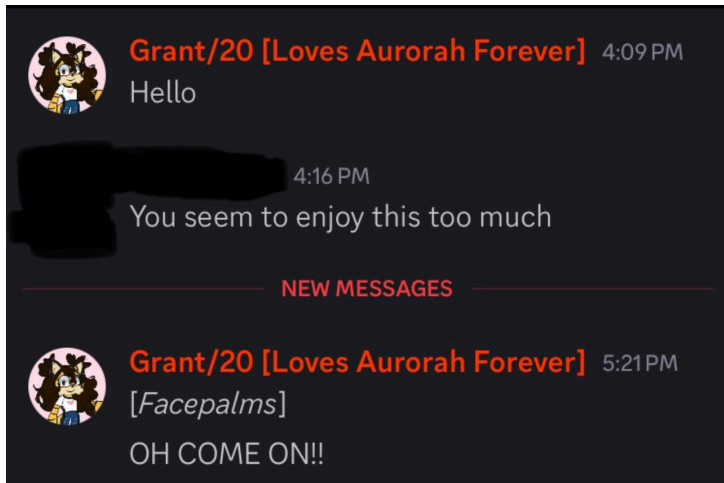

In February 16, 2025, Grant created another discord alt account.

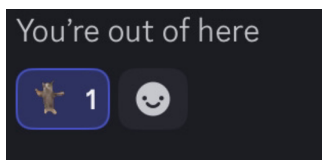

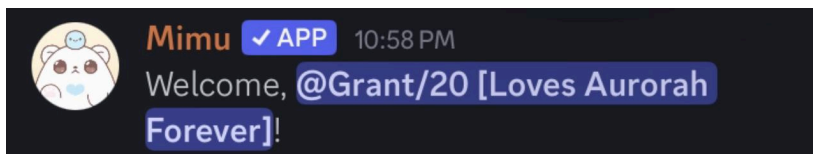

On April 23, 2025, Grant got into another confrontation in the discord DMs.

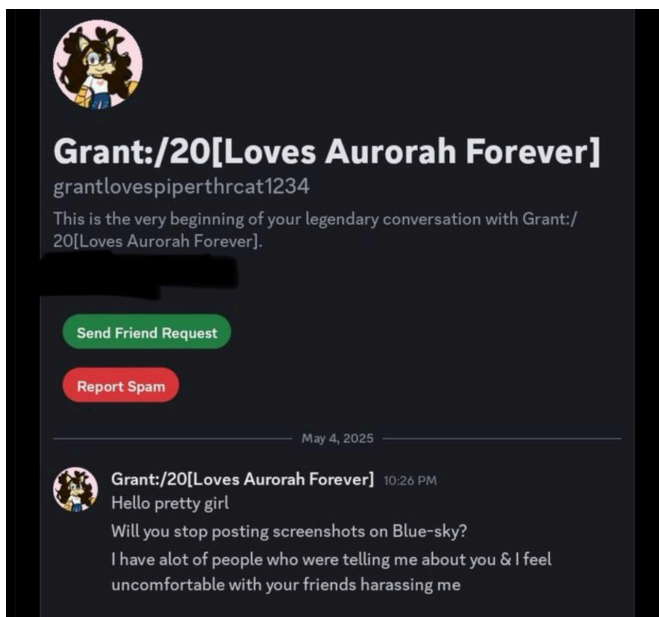

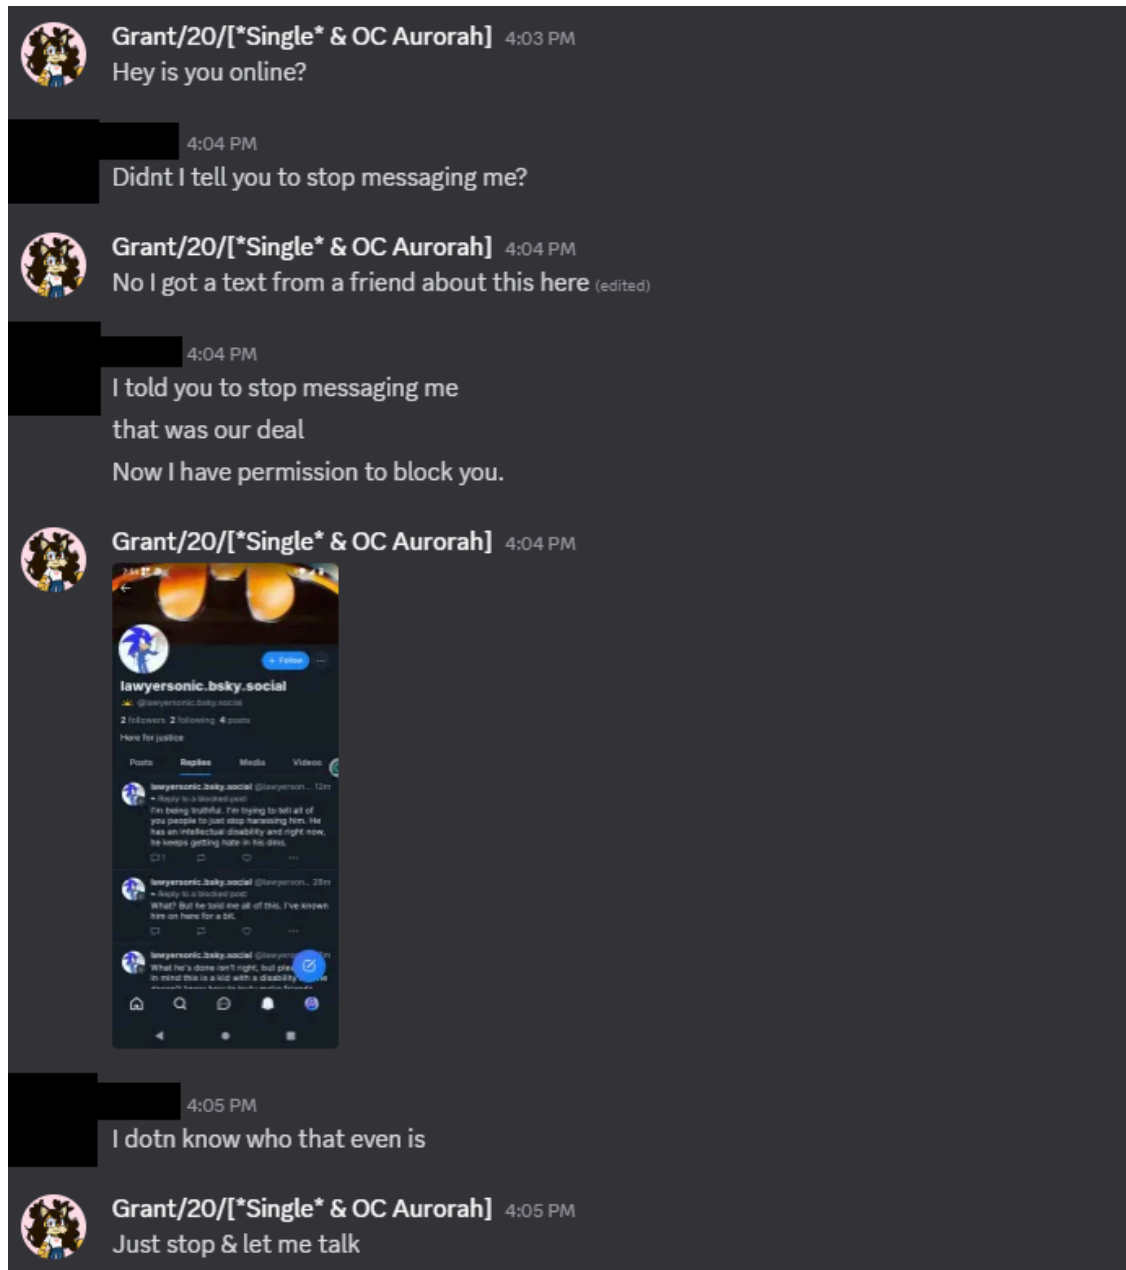

He even attempted to join 2 discord servers, but got banned by the moderators.

On May 4th, 2015, Grant was caught sending a DM on discord, and thus making a victim uncomfortable.

On May 9, 2025, Grant was caught once again stalking one of the victims once again in Discord DMs.

He even sent these 2 screenshots to his victim recently in DMs by using his alt accounts.

In a recent confrontation in discord DMs, Grant was caught lying to his victim as he posted this screenshot:

In a discord server, he got caught using the names of victims' characters in an attempt to roleplay with himself while dodging questions asked to him by various members of the server.

Grant then went on to create 2 other Discord alt accounts. He then used one of the alt accounts to resume his trolling towards victims.

On August 4th 2025, Grant was caught using a new alt account on bluesky, from there, he started stealing another victim's OC

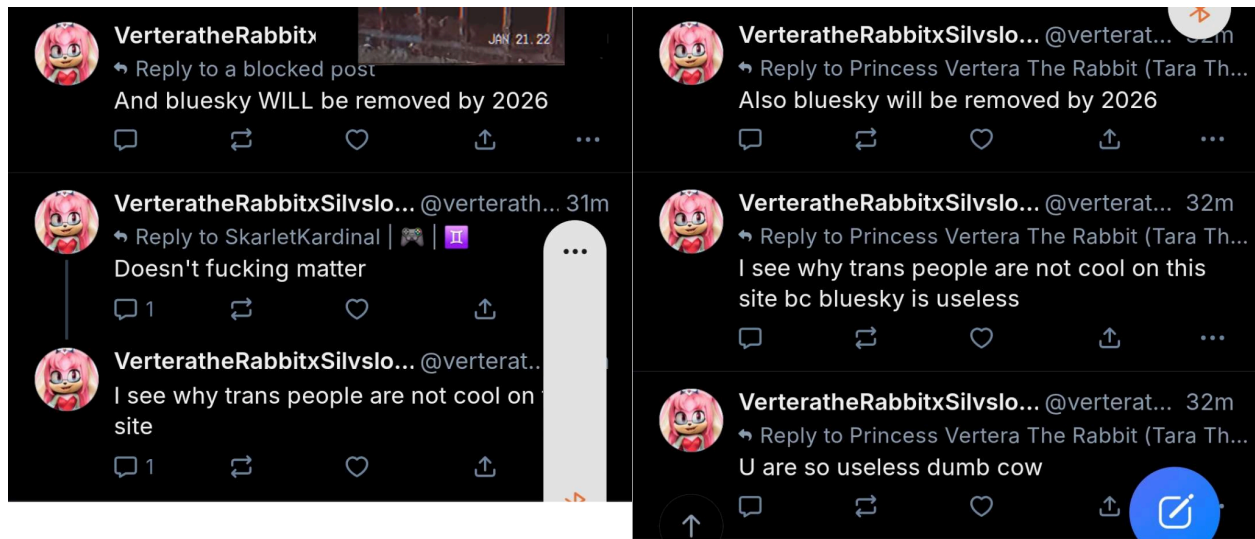

In addition, he also got caught using a slur

On August 9th, Grant was caught once again making other Bluesky alt accounts, once again impersonating and trying to harass one of his victims:

And just like previous times he showed up on BlueSky, he is once again constantly harassing various victims online:

 Bluesky

And once again, he uses these accounts to harass his victims on social media, even going as far as to post nsfw images and posting images glorifying violence against victims

User Statement:

"After a warning message from a separate server, the Grant guy indirectly joined my Discord server using "grantloves202020" username on March 13th, 2025. I quarantined the user from my server without directly banning them. Then, Grant left and rejoined my server 2 times to evade the quarantine role before leaving. I temporarily paused invites to my Discord server for 2 hours due to security issues.

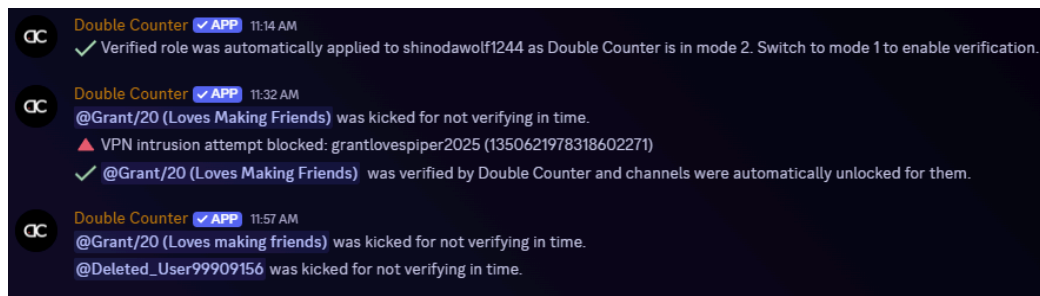

However, on March 31st, 2025, the same guy using "grantlovespiper2025" alt account joined my Discord server again for the fourth time. I quarantined his alt account once again. However, he sent me a DM from the first screenshot saying that I was banning him from the server mentioned by a member of a different server. I never responded to his DMs in fear of retaliation. Because of those issues, I decided to enable DoubleCounter with strict settings requiring him to verify the server and disallow VPNs and alt accounts. After verifying, I limited the user from viewing any channels due to security issues, as he was looking into different channels.

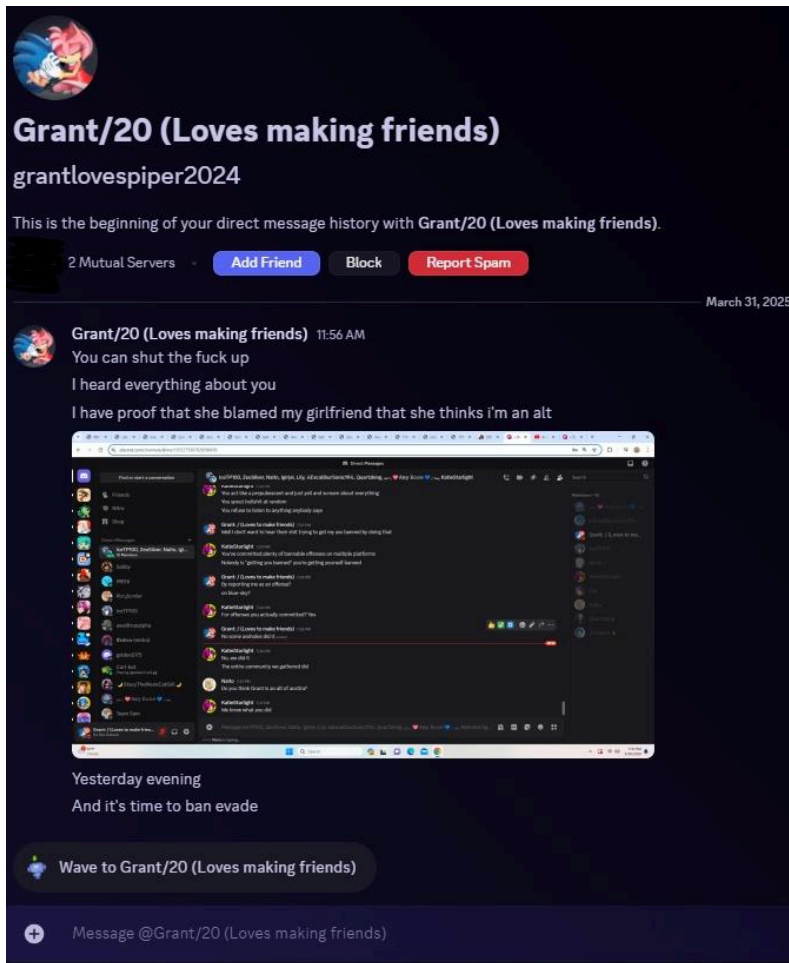

Later, the "shinodawolf1244" joined my friend's Discord server and sent a false report in the general chat before leaving the server and using his other alts. I currently do not have the last known screenshot of the image he sent, but this was the message before I banned the user for making a false report. However, because the alt account left the server, I couldn't IP ban the user from the server.

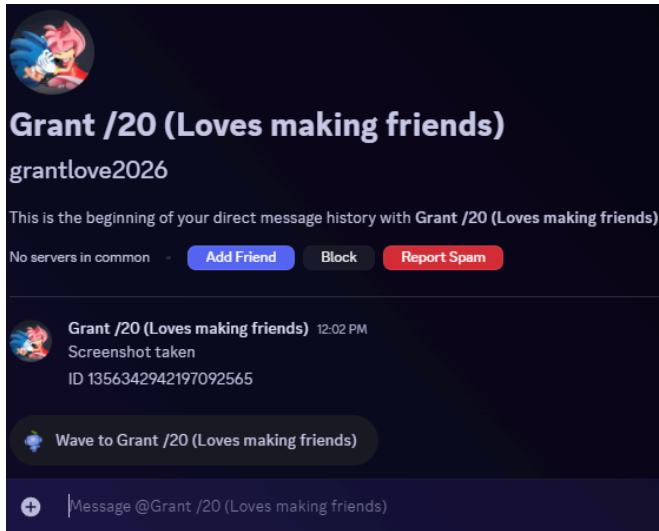

He joined using the "grantlovespiper2025" account under verification requirements. After 5 minutes, the user was kicked from the server for failing to verify themselves. He joined again while under verification and accused some mods of "personally" kicking him from the server when the DoubleCounter bot actually kicked them. During verification, DoubleCounter detected a VPN intrusion, preventing him from completing his verification before he turned off the VPN and completing verification.

However, many mods warned me about the user, so I instructed my staff to ban Grant from me and my friend's server. Grant later joined using an alt account, "grantlovespiper2025" and found we were banning him from our servers. He sent more DMs, provided more false evidence (considering his track record), and plans to evade suspension from our servers using multiple alt accounts and VPN.

After DoubleCounter kicked his alt account for failed verification, he used another alt account while using a VPN to evade suspension. He sent even more vague and false DMs with the user ID shown on the screen. However, the user ID did not exist when I used ID lookup. Once again, I never responded to any messages.

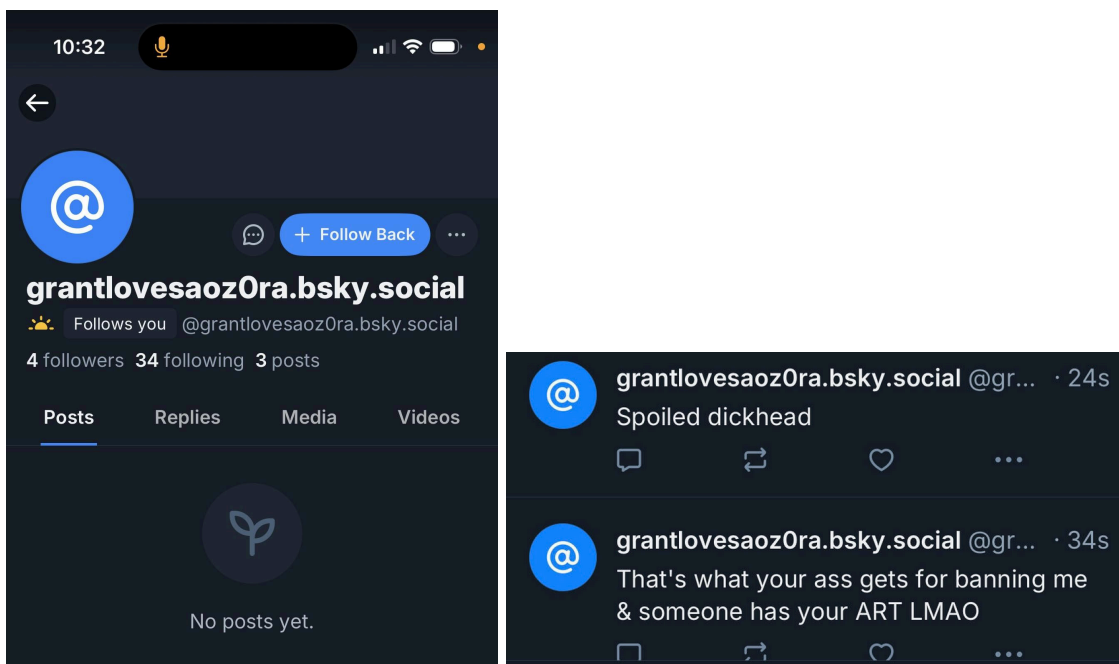

DoubleCounter once again kicked his alt account for verification failure, and he was never seen again on our servers. Our staff decided to ban all alt accounts from our servers using Carl-bot's /massban command with all user IDs listed in your document.

I have more screenshots to document. This time after my announcement from a different art thief, same grant guy sent me this message, which I was able to screenshot the user.

This time, I managed to grab the user ID:

<https://bsky.app/profile/did:plc:7c533ppvqj36q74u4xfdknae>

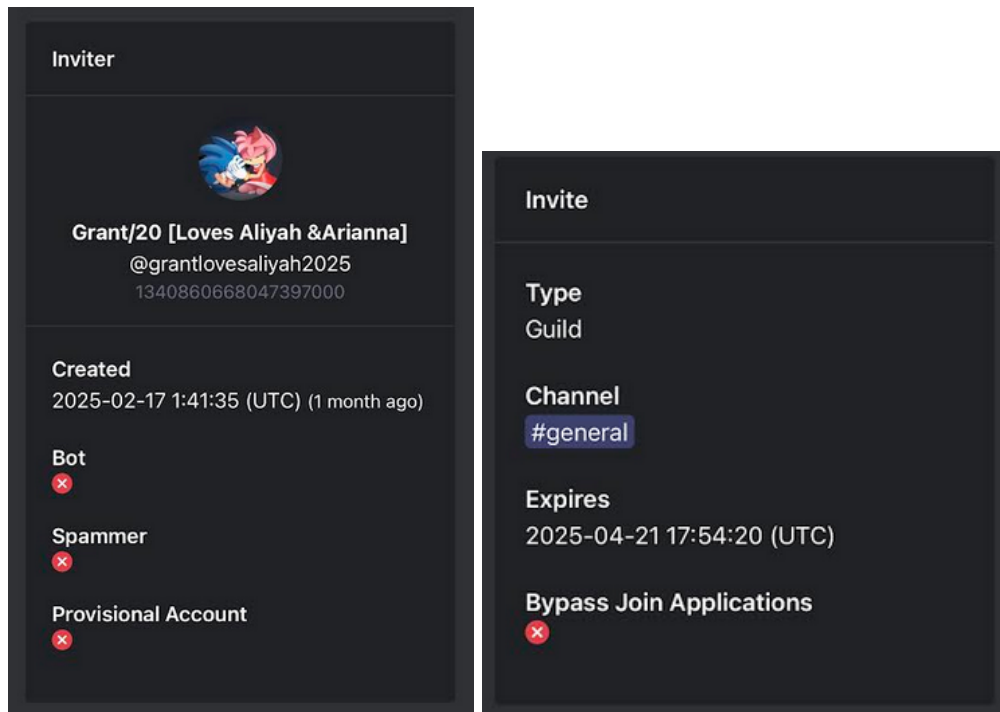

That way, changing his name won't get him out.

The guy sent threats to have spies on my discord server.

Can confirm he stole one of my artwork as a server icon where he created his Discord server."
