Subject line - The truth is here. Now, the choice of freedom is yours.

For decades, the corporate elites have left this door open.

Undiscovered, until I got here.

I will expose the truth and everything behind it.

You will be able to escape from the lifelong depression you have been put in by the matrix.

I'm your ally and I will not let you live like this any longer...

Subject line : This will unleash you from the chains that have been put on you by the corporate elites.

This story will give you the power to break free from the lifelong misery that you have been chained to your whole life.

I would listen very carefully if I were you...

3 guys move towards me in the dark town centre with a steady speed.

They seemed PISSED.

I ran like I had a life to live for (I didn't).

Eventually they caught up to my weak ass and pulled out knives and hammers from their bags.

Drenched in blood, my mind was flooded with despair.

I lay on the floor, hopeless for any last breath.

Since I lost my 'stable' job I have been homeless, depressed, attacked by multiple gangs and still couldn't find food to cure my malnourishment.

Weeks went by and nothing changed.

The matrix had me trapped. I was hopeless. Like a test rat.

After countless fights and begging for money on the streets.

I managed to buy some shitty laptop from the 2nd hand store.

I would walk into Starbucks and work 24/7. I found faith and I knew that the impossible was possible.

The countless looks I got from random strangers made me motivated to prove to them I was able.

I worked on the same strategy that I teach inside this business.

The strategy that managed to take me from a homeless, starved and beaten up man to a millionaire that wears a 5 million dollar suit and drives around in a lamborghini.

If I did it, you can too.

Unleash yourself from the chains of the matrix and live your dream life.

Subject line - Find the right people and you shall find freedom

For years I was around successful workers inside of the matrix, they all promoted stability and balance.

Well, look where those things got me.

I became as miserable if not more miserable than them. I became depressed and for what? Just so my boss could sleep easy at night.

If you're around losers you will become one.

If you want to live a truly successful life, being around workers won't create that.

Listen to somebody who has been in both situations.

BE AROUND PEOPLE YOU ASPIRE TO BECOME!

Subject line - How to mutate from a loser into a winner...

Can you imagine yourself a millionaire?

If not then you're probably never going to become one.

I have built myself from the ground up into what I am today.

It didn't happen by accident.

Continuous work and hope got me here.

Subject line - You are simply one hopeless and wrecked man in a world of many.

Are you truly happy with your life?

Do you wake up full of energy and eager to break through any problems that get in your way?

By your current situation I'm guessing your answer is no.

It's fine. Don't worry about it. You are no different to every other broke in this world.

Does that sit right with you, or are you looking to unleash the powerful creature within you?

Don't worry, it isn't as hard as you think...

Become hopeful and win the fight of freedom
