Great Start to the Year!

WHAT WE ARE LEARNING THIS WEEK

MATH:

In our first unit we will be reviewing multiplication and division strategies: ratio table, array, and number line. Students will have homework every night unless they complete it in class, we are taking an assessment, on a field study, or have a special activity planned for the day.

LANGUAGE ARTS:

Students will be practicing Reader's Workshop expectations as we continue to read aloud the Sarah Plain and Tall series. Students will be analyzing character's thoughts, actions, and words while making inferences about them.

Grammar:

Students will focus on sentence structure.

SCIENCE:

Students will begin our first unit on the processes that shape the Earth. They will learn about the rock cycle.

SOCIAL STUDIES:

Students will learn about the Preamble to the Constitution. We will be exploring the meaning of the Preamble and create a Preamble for the Upper Elementary.

WRITING:

Students will be writing a mini autobiography about themselves.

IMPORTANT...

SNACKS...

Healthy eating habits are important. We would like students to be able to have several small snacks. It should be a healthy snack and something easily eaten without utensils. We will have snack times available in the morning and afternoon.

If you are able to donate snacks for students who forget a snack, we would greatly appreciate it.

WATER BOTTLES...

Please provide your child with one or two water bottles a day. They can bring a refillable one that they can fill at school using the sinks or filling station. We also have drinking fountains if they forget their bottle.

REMINDERS...

- Please check your child's planner every night and initial it.
- Check your child's homework folder daily for important papers and possible homework assignments. Your child should return to school each day with their planner signed, homework folder and any homework.
- Every Friday, Friday folders go home. Please review the papers and complete any redo assignments. Your child should return to school on Monday
