Broken leg at Berezino apartments' roof top across the middle supermarket. Tried to give me some of his stuff, but I didn't want nor need any of his stuff. Gave morphine, he helped me draw blood from myself and we ran around scavenging together for a little time. I also t

Broken leg at Berezino, between apartments and hospital. Found him very easily with Flat Eric, and we fixed his leg with a splint. Also checked his bloodtype which wasn't something useful.

Started with some trouble by Reddit not allowing him to re-create his post and TeamSpeak not connecting. We fixed it quite fast. I found Ninja at night in the NEAF tower. Easily fixed his leg by giving him one of my five morphines. We traded weapons meanwhile, his M4 for my Mosin ammo+attachments, which was also a bonus. I accepted the need for help, because I could find an M4 at the airfield, so it turned out win-win for both of us. "Fortune's Favorite" wanted to tag along, but at the time he told me on TeamSpeak, I was already around Ninja and helping him

Broken legs. We met up at the church in Berezino. Had some connection problems on the servers, but sorted it out quickly and fixed his broken leg by dropping a morphine next to him. He seemed to have a lil' bit of trouble marking the post as "RESCUED", but a mod fixed it a few seconds after.

5. Pixel, 23. february, 22:58

Rescued on top of Berezino hospital. Found him really fast on the very top and exchanged some food. Everything went smooth. Got some backup from rustifus(Steam, k123nino on TS), just in case of ambush. Better be safe than sorry.

6. Chrismac250, 23. february, 23:03

Found Chrismac250 at the down side of the ladder at the 2nd apartment building, just across middle supermarket. Gave him morphine with rustifus somewhere close just in case. Everything went fine, patient didn't even need extra food. Politely thanked and went off.

Found him lying on the road a little south of the supermarket across the apartments, after I named landmarks and asked if he was near them. He wasn't very familiar with Berezino. Quickly got him up on the legs again and we traded some handcuff for food.

8. Smugl, 25. february, approx. 20:10

Got asked if I wanted to assist another medic. His plan was to place morphine for a guy with broken leg in Balota airfield tower and then run away and watch from distance as he logged in. I needed military supplies and therefore said yes and ran from Elektro. Guy had problem finding it at first, so I ignored risk and ran in to assist him. No problem, friendly guy. He was really glad for the help. It was his 2nd time and the first time he got killed by a medic named something with Caesar(Smugl's own story)

9. Franz(forgot the rest), 26. february, 01:20

Met up with Roland, Gunslinger and Fortune to go help a guy with a broken leg. Probably quite overkill. Everything went smooth and we had some good talk.

10. Spinning sputnik / Jokke

Met up with him in the Elektro church. Was a 10-12 pop server, but we found no one. Everything was unlooted. I gave him 2x blood bags and told him how to start natural healing. He kept being blurry, but I told him to go into settings. Immediately when he did (while changing nothing) it stopped. Wonders of DayZ alpha.

11. sneakyvendetta, aka. iowabasketball123

Went over to the deer stand at high hay bale hill to provide overwatch for Roland and Daywalker to inject saline into patient. Everything worked perfect and patient got the salines when he logged in around you.

http://www.reddit.com/r/RedditRescueForce/comments/1z9m3u/n_saline_l_elektro/

12. Derek300(or 0300?)

Patient had a broken leg and said he was at the coast and hospital. We couldn't find him at the coast nor hospital, so we guessed he meant the office building and confused them together. I asked and he said there were cranes outside, so we knew he was there. Roland and Belthazor provided overwatch while I applied a splint.

http://www.reddit.com/r/RedditRescueForce/comments/1zcgvf/nneed_morphine_I_elektro/

13. GeraldBjeff

He said he was in the "fire hall", but he really meant the powerstation. After clearing up the confusion, me and Belthazor ran to the power station and I gave him morphine. After that, he said he was "feeling faint" and sick. He said he was energized and thirsty(hence the faint), so we escorted him to the church well. I got really paranoid when I saw a rifle in the middle of the road, just lying there. Probably a sniper trap for anyone standing still to pick it up. Left it alone. We fixed the guy's thirst and Belthazor gave him some charcoal tabs. Everything went fine, we didn't meet anyone not part of the rescue(10 pop server)

IMPORTANT POST-SUBMISSION EDIT: Apparently the guy didn't write on the thread. I saw another guy on TeamSpeak 10-15 minutes later that also had broken legs. Tried to help him with Shenanigans and walz, and it turned out to be the exact same guy having the exact same problem again. While helping he mysteriously logged out of TeamSpeak. He didn't even change flair from first rescue.

14. theirongiant74, 8. march, 14:35

Patient rescued. It was a hard time finding him at first and we had 4 medics around him, while I was providing long range overwatch from a little south of the Elektro deer stand. We began to become paranoid, because of the time it took to find him, even though I asked him 4-5 times where he was and he kept changing it a little bit, by suddenly being a little south of sniper hill, then bench, then south, until I saw him move up and the medics found him. There was some problems with the sticks (the Danes helping seemed to confuse each other :l), but it worked out well in the end.

POST-SUBMISSION EDIT: The guy doesn't seem to have confirmed it. He said, that he would write the names and didn't. I told him, that he could just check the names on the picture I posted. I told him and he agreed and said he would, but I don't see him doing it?

Here's a picture of him replying to me on TS: <http://i.imgur.com/qjWC8Y3.png>

We started out with like 4-5 helpers, but suddenly all left without saying anything and I was left with no overwatch. All went fine and I trusted the guys, as they seemed very friendly on TS.

Zero got fixed his leg and I applied 2x salines.

16. JAMJEM13), 8. march, 21:20

Teamed up with 4 other medics, so that we could provide overwatch to each other. All worked fine, as we had cover from school, high hay, the building across the church and the church itself. Wasn't very needed, as it isn't a problem when patient can login on low pop servers :)

There was only two others besides us. None of which we saw.

17. Bad_Decision_Penguin, 16. march, approx. 20:15

We went there with a guy we rescued before. I provided overwatch from hospital and the guy from our previous rescue got shot at one of the firestations. He started talking a lot and it made it a bit of trouble locating him, because he kept talking about other stuff like how long he lived. Suddenly he left. Though, patient got rescued after fixing a bug by moving the unconscious body downstairs or something. Before it was out of reach. Patient is okay.

18. CannedDicks / Noric

A lot of us went on with this. We met up at the gas station to the west of Elektro and gave him some saline. It wasn't enough, so I went in and gave him my last two. Everything went okay, he even gave me a speedloader as reward, even after I said it wasn't needed. He wanted to follow us on the next mission, as we went straight to a priority rescue on an unconscious player. We let him.

Guy had a broken leg, so I met up on a 2-pop server with Mayor Mayonnaise and the patient. We fixed his leg and while doing so, and a new spawn ran in all scared, after he saw me raised our guns. We gave him food and supplies. After saying goodbye, and we were done with the patient too, Mayonnaise ran a bit away. Suddenly he went unconscious, woke up, all his stuff gone. The new spawn had taken them. He also quickly logged off. After talking a bit about it, we said goodbye on TeamSpeak. Just me and the last guy on the server now. I also happened to run into him. Was a relatively new guy with a fire extinguisher. I gave him food and blood test.

20. itsbalboa, 26. march, 16:30

Guy was inside the rock and I used his picture to pinpoint him. As I was standing outside the rock and told him to sprint and spam vault, I saw his character going out of the rock and rubberband back in. Seems like it is somehow his server-side body or something? I could hit it, but for him he was still inside. So I hit the body thrice and the guy inside died. He seemed very happy, as he had been stuck for a long time :)

Guy was pretty quick on TS and it was all over relatively fast. Not much to talk about. He wanted to give me stuff, but I had everything I needed already.

22. Tyrion(TS), IED(Steam), Twinkie11(Reddit)

Rescue done. If we don't look at the patient being rescued, the mission was a total disaster. The sun was bugged (I think???), so apparently I couldn't trust it's position and I went all this way. I kid you not. I am fucking embarrassed over myself. I don't know if this was the route, but it felt like it. I got to the north side (God knows how. Maybe as shown on the map). Then I got to the world roads north of Black Meadow, so I tried to go direct south. Sun tricked me again and I got all the way to Krasnostav...

Patient ended up waiting 15-20 minutes more, I think.

23. Luzvijer, 29. march, 16:40 to around 17:20

This was my worst rescue ever. It went "well", as he got rid of the sickness and healing, but Smiley spent 25-30 minutes helping and I spent 35-40. Sickness went away relatively quick, but he still didn't heal and had a few "I am extremely tired", even though sickness was gone. After like 40 minutes, he finally started healing. We had tried everything, relog, hitting his leg for a technical status update and

26. crocodial, 1. april, 20:50

Found the guy in front of the "garage" at the construction site(the one with 2x large blue doors).

Gave him morphine to use on himself(I do this when alone, so that I don't apply and patient shoots me), and when applying he lost connection. When back in again, it didn't seem to work, but it was still in his inventory. Second time worked and he wanted me to give his bipod(which I need for my LRS-Mosin), so I said that we could trade, as I wouldn't take rewards for rescues. He refused and just straight up gave it to me and went away. Couldn't resist taking it then :)

27. Beadyroller, 3. april, 18:35

Got a bit paranoid, as he couldn't download TeamSpeak. After some talk back and forth, I denied helping, as he couldn't get TeamSpeak and apologized. He was then immediately able to get TS and it made me paranoid for an ambush. It didn't turn out to be so though. I was on top of the firestation in 3rd person and had already dropped a splint in front of it. Nothing happened and nobody else logged in. So it went alright :)

28. Great-Britton, 3. april, 18:45

Ran from Black Meadow after patient #27. Quickly got there to the jail next to the ATC and placed morphine inside while running out to hide (paranoia). He logged in, injected it himself and thanked me. I didn't really want to be inside a jail in a long empty airstrip if it's an ambush. All worked out fine.

29. De-Killer, 3. april, 20:10

I got all the way to Svet while speaking to him. He was writing over TS with no microphone, but I got a secondary monitor to watch TS while I run. When there, I saw himself and two others login at the same time, so I suspected an ambush. I said there was a bug and I had to change server. When changing server he joined alone, so I expect it to just be a coincidence and not ambush attempt. His whole character reset itself, so I didn't get to shoot him for a respawn. I asked TheAngryPuffin in the admin lounge if it counts or not, and we had a nice talk about it, which ended in it counting, because in theory I did everything I should. I don't have the voice log of Puffin just in case of confusion, so this will do what it can.

31. MR_BIGGUS, 4. april, 01:15

Ran to the powerstation and found him in the tower. Dropped morphine while guarding him. If people inject it themselves, I can't missclick nor can they kill me while injecting. Everything went smooth. Had some flair problem, but it went good overall.

35. Mr_Friendly, 6. april, 01:50

Helped this guy at Elektro hospital with 3 others. The situation was fully under control and nothing dangerous as the only others were 3 people we couldn't find/hear/see. Still, I felt annoyed by some of the others medic lack of concentration on the patient. Started fixing each other up instead of checking on patient first, fix post, leave, then help each other. It's not really like it would had mattered, as we weren't anywhere close to danger, but for some weird reason it annoyed me immensely.

36. Mr. Meloncandy(actual patient, not Visma)

Guy needed help and on my way there I got killed by a bug at train station. Mantis safeguarded my corpse after I poked him on TS, which I was extremely grateful for. We agreed to go to Prigorodki together.. Massive safety pre-caution was taken. Visma was not the patient, but a friend and we were talking to Visma on TS. Visma+other guy was together with the patient Mr. Meloncandy, which was I first knew about on the spot. So me and Mantis wrote to each other on our way there figuring out a plan. I dropped morphine in barn, while I took a look at the surroundings+Mantis from bushes and Mantis checked the barn. Everything went fine, nobody else logged in with the patient(not even his friends), so all went well.

38. Saraixo, 8. april,

Found this guy and patched him up with two other medics. He was under the stairs of Elektro firestation and I came with inferior weaponry and civilian clothing, so I fixed a splint for him. Took up 3 slots I didn't have, since I got no backpack. Had to give it or leave it, so I made sure nobody applied morphine and used my stick, if I was there at the same time as everyone else, which I was. Rescue was not delayed.

Set everything ready with two other medics at the western jail of NEAF. He logged in at the little hole of the jail outside and I showed him the morphine while getting overwatch from other medics. Leg was fixed and he didn't want escort to more secure location. Instead he logged out in the "hole" again.

The intentions of the rescue was medical, but patient turned out dead. Therefore it was no longer medical, but we secured all of this stuff for him to return and take it and used our time to get here and ready to save him. So basically patient's leg is now fine (fixed by death) and he got his stuff. Happily it still counts, even if it technically wasn't medical:

This was a clusterfuck. It was around 5 of us and me and Bayne was at the police station waiting for the rest. While the rest three came, one got shot and instantly went dead at the hangars. Me and Bayne quickly got up and ran there. Bayne went to the west, I got off from the south plains when I saw the guy run there. We lost sight and knew he tried to combat log. Bayne found him in a bush and they had a 1v1 only 30 meters from me. I couldn't see who to shoot, until one of them ran in my direction with a Mosin, so I knew for sure it was the guy to shoot, as Bayne had an M4. Another one of the 3 guys had his character reset. In all the chaos and re-organizing I went up to the patient alone to fix his leg. Was kinda sad for him to wait through all the chaos ;(

This guy said he was southeast of the ATC at NEAF. Saw someone at the road when we told him to login and told him to take his weapon away and crouch. He did, so I got him into a bush to inject saline. Turned out it was the new medic. No idea why he did what I said to the patient, so I mistook him for the patient. Found the patient 1 min later in the treeline though. Could have been quite bad if it was an ambush due to the new medic being a little confused.

Ran there as fast as I could after rescue #47. The rescue was already going on, they just tried to find each other. After a loooooong wait we finally got a rescue. Met up with two medics and had some problems as one of them lost connection, which took 6-8 minutes of our time ;(! We got there and set up good positions. He wasn't where we thought he would login, but two rooms more to the center of Rify and not the outermost on the left side on the bottom. We helped him with his leg and he found two awesome hats and we had a small dance party. Everything went fine.

Ran from Krasno to Olsha to meet with this guy. It wasn't actually the patient, as that guy was at work. The friends wanted to continue playing after he got home from work and he couldn't find any sticks/morphine. Therefore we supplied him. I thought about it for some time and made the conclusion that I do believe he was telling the truth and not scamming to get it for himself, after we talked to him a little. We got there and met up with the guy. Found him running intown to the well and we came out to help. Everything went fine. We did see 2 server-jumpers on the way there, but nothing else.

Lucky I didn't throw the near useless tablets away. I met up with a new medic coming from Chernobyl. He didn't seem to be familiar with Elektro, so I helped him over to the build across the east street of the school. We found the guy logging in on top floor, after we were ready. We gave him enough charcoal tablets. He then proceeded to offer lots of stuff for us. He seemed really friendly, so we let him loot Elektro with us. Found a Mosin at the police station and he threw a long-range scope on it before I picked it up, so I said thanks. Everything went fine.

Ran to Svetlojarsk to get him rags, but he actually found some on my way, so he only needed the saline at that time. Unfortunately I actually got killed by a zombie from only one hit. Was fighting 4 zombies 50m away from where he was gonna login and I never got hit, except for the last zombie alive. Hit me once and I died.

Guy jumped into the wrong room and I knew he wasn't part of the rescue. When I kindly told him to move out, I noticed he was a patient needing help, so I offered my help. I was already at the wood piles at Berezino school, so it took me no time to get to the police station. I dropped morphine on bottom floor as he said he was gonna spawn there. Everything went fine, as he didn't pull a weapon or do anything unexpected. Patient logged at same place as rescue.

Met up with two other guys here, as my own splint was ruined. Found the guy relatively quick, even though we ignored one of the rescuers, as he ran in the complete opposite direction, we rescue was only with two of us. Everything went fine despite the misnavigation from the third guy.

Guy said he would spawn in at the garage at the ATC, but that wasn't where he spawned in according to what I thought. Instead he was at the shed for the eastern jail and I gave him the morphine. He had some trouble getting it into his inventory, but everything went fine.

Did this rescue with Dot, Tilo and Saradas, the latter two being new medics. It took some time to get set up, but everything went fine. Patient's location was a bit hard to know, but we quickly found him, because we were spread out so much. Patient even wanted to reward us in the middle of the treeline of south plains, where we then got him to the forest down south instead.

Finding this guy was a 'lil bit trouble. First I thought he was at Khelm, but with a sign of a picture and the help of Soul, we figured it must have been the water pump at the southern treeline of NEAF, which it was. Guy got his help and had a fantastic Australian accent.

While conducting rescue #60, we found this guy logging in, so we paused #60 and did this one real quick. Me and Saradas ran around in Krasnostav and heard a guy with a broken leg log in at the school. We secured it and saw a guy with a broken leg. Apparently this was Vegemite's rescue at Berezino school and the guy was confused thinking he was there, instead of Krasnostav. Was just a real quick rescue after we told Vegemite and took over by moving patient into our room :) Everything went fine.

Wasn't sure where this guy was, but in the middle of the rescue we found another guy (#59). After that was over we found out patient was at the eastern pond of NEAF, so we ran down the south road and up to him. Spriggs met up a little after and we got him ready to regen with food and gave some initial blood with saline. He then logged out and got the blood back we could give.

Ran here with Kevinski, a completely new guy I found from Unge Gamere(Facebook). He wanted to play and I was about to do this, so I he hopped into the rescue room, while we were helping a guy at NEAF, who was appanerently globally banned by BattlEye. We ran to Svet and found the guy in the bottom floor of the police station. Quickly helped him with my splint and asked him to logout as a security precaution. Everything went fine.

Ran from Berezino after a guy asked me in the waiting room, if anyone had a splint on hardcore. So I just ran on my near-naked hardcore character up to NEAF and found the guy on a night server. The other medic was very dedicated(Jzir), as I could heard in his speech :O

Was playing Wildstar when I saw it, so I teamed up with Jigoogly and Savagebunny. We met up in Svet, when Ryan and Nightwing wanted to join too. The patient was cool and chatable. I also found an amazing overwatch point on the roof of the corner pub. Didn't even know you could go up there. Rescue took a good time, because we kept waiting for the rest to come and I found a random within 50m of us, which happened to be friendly. Everything went good.

Patient took good time to answer questions, so I was really cautious. Turned out it wasn't a problem and everything was good. New rescuers was Anders (besides me and 2 others) who apparently loved talking and did it a lot. He'll be a good addition to the RRF. We found out he was O-, so we even harvested his blood.

Ran up to Black Meadow for this guy after rescue #64. We had to explain twice how his friend couldn't be in the same TS channel and how things were really going to go on. We teamed up with 3 others and did the rescue (Anders wasn't with us). Everything went fine

66. albinoclock / Dr. NoShoes, 17. june, 01:10

Ran from Svet up to this guy. He was trusted medic and 0-pop rescues are boring as hell, so I joined his 40-pop. Met up with Saradas and I ran to Kras, where he was waiting. Got there and just before meeting patient (after a lot of stops, because we saw random bambis). Server restarted, we switched and found him. After that we looted around and killed a guy that was going around, after I told him not to move. Didn't intent to kill him, so I broke his leg, but he went unconscious and instantly respawned. We then kept looting for a while and I switched my Mosin out for an M4.

67. McGovern / sangelli, 17. june,

Met up with Dot for this, which turned out to die on his regular character he hadn't used for a while. Got there with albinoclock instead and we fixed the guy up. Went pretty fast and we got into a fight 5 minute after with two guys running back, after patient logged out. Albino for some reason couldn't shoot the guy chasing me, after I pronounced myself friendly. Had to do it myself, but apparently he shot the guy last second and died to the same guy himself in a 1-1 simultaneous firefight. Shot the AFK buddy after as a safety precaution.

68. Noody, 17. june, approx. 15:00

Ran from NEAF to Berezino after Savage poked me on TS, since I was in No-Sound mode and studying. I got to the school and we actually went very lazy on security, because guy had been rescued multiple times, no black list, very friendly, et cetera. Everything worked great and we fixed him outside the school in Berezino on a boring 0-pop server.

69. Chaoticpanda3, 30. june, approx. 17:40

I ran from Svet and down to this guy. First there was problems with microphone and speakers, which didn't fix when I told him to enable them at the top left(was already). He somehow fixed it just after I asked Soul for help, so we carried on. His microphone didn't work, so I got a little paranoid. When I got there, I dead-dropped the stick for him to login at the prison cell in Berezino police station. He came in, but was in the room to the right when exiting the prison cell. He couldn't move out of the door (DayZ prone physics...) Had to get back in and got even more paranoid, even though it was just him. Nothing happened, I retrieved the splint and dropped it for him in the other room and got out of there. Everything went fine, despite me being paranoid.
