

Character Information: Big Brother

Who is Big Brother and what is he?

Big Brother is a human-turned-Crystal User character and the primary antagonist of his one-shot freeplay week in Future Night Funkin'. He's Boyfriend's brother (only in the Above the Future continuity) who died protecting Girlfriend from the angel named Armaros, who targeted Girlfriend because she's a demon. After Micahel's death, Girlfriend asked Dearest to revive him so Boyfriend wouldn't be devastated, which he accepted, however, right after his revival, Michael became a dead ringer to his family and a target to Armaros, leading him to cut ties with his family, almost entirely. His separation developed paranoia, hard times on making friends and depression. He was once a human but became a Crystal User right after he fused with a Blue Crystal.

Personality

While it's unknown what exactly his personality is, it's shown that Big Brother is a friendly person, which would make sense in his dialogue from the original mod where he interacted with BF nicely and a statement that he used to be close with his family, often calling and visiting his siblings all the time. He's shown to be protective, explaining why he shielded Girlfriend from a gunshot. However, this led to his death; he became paranoid, worried, depressed and suffering from heart problems, always keeping his family photos in his apartment; he doesn't want to bring any troubles to his family because of the angel who shot him. His separation also developed PTSD and major anxiety, giving him hard times to make friends. He can usually break down anytime.

Unlike Boyfriend, he's a storm lover and when the storm isn't around, he stares at the stars as the sense of peace in his chaotic life. Whenever the storm is around, he will watch the show with a hot drink and sit by the window. He's said to be arachnophobic and uses the laser pointer for the cat to kill the spider.

In Future Night Funkin', Big Brother still has his old personality but with add-ons and differences. For this version of Big Brother, he still worries about his family for being a dead ringer, further developing next stages of paranoia, depression and anxiety, however, thanks to BF understanding his status being a Crystal User and convincing him to accept what he became, he no longer worries anymore but still carries his paranoia and anxiety with him throughout his days.

History

Big Brother's past is shown to be the same as his original self; his childhood is unknown but he was given birth by his parents, and sometime after he grew up, he noticed that Boyfriend (who he calls him Keith) has a girlfriend, which gave him the desire to protect his partner at all costs. His goal to protect Girlfriend didn't last long after his death by a gunshot from an angel named Armaros. After his death, his killer was banned from Heaven and Girlfriend pleaded with her father to revive him. He accepts but after his revival, he starts to suffer from major heart problems, anxiety about being a dead ringer to his family because he's a puppet to his own game. He even separated himself from his family out of safety to make sure nothing bad happens to them but at times, he would let any one of his family members visit his place to meet him.

Eventually, Boyfriend paid a visit to his big brother as if he missed him for a very long time. As they started taking more of their matches, Michael would start having problems with his heart and decide to delay their decision for the proper victor. After their match, Michael calls his brother to keep him company and after his brother visits him, his anxiety starts to drop then his killer decides to pay him a visit, triggering his PTSD. He later gets shot by his killer again but Michael stands up for himself to fight the angel; the angel breaks down and leaves his apartment after their confrontation.

11 years later, Big Brother adopts another cat just in case they die and during his lonely life, he starts to become more paranoid, anxious and depressive despite fusing himself with the Blue Crystal he eventually found at the unnamed park and discovered his newfound powers. He even heard that Boyfriend is married to his Girlfriend and when he wanted to visit his brother to celebrate his marriage, he realized that he's still a dead ringer to his family because of his killer. This led him to be forced to stay in his home and celebrate him through texting. Eventually, Boyfriend visited his brother alongside his wife to cheer him up for not showing up.

What are his powers and abilities?

Michael's powers remain the same as his original self, however, thanks to touching the Blue Crystal, it gave Big Brother new powers he never had in his life. The most common is crystal manipulation, regenerative healing factor, immortality, invincibility, virus immunity and emotion empowerment but the uncommon is water-based powers. It can also be empowered by sadness.

Mediumship: Prior to his death, Michael couldn't even talk to any ghosts until his revival by Daddy Dearest. After his revival, he can hear and see any ghosts, even interacting with the ghosts.

Power Rank

Power Ranks are important for characters to see how smart, strong, fast, handy, durable and capable of magic are. The rank on this document uses colored text to present their level.

Red: Very weak

Dark red: Weak

Yellow: Around human

Dark green: Strong

Green: Very strong

Black: Unknown

Here are the examples of Michael's power, speed, defense, dexterity, intelligence and magic.

Current

- Power
- Speed
- Defense
- Dexterity
- Intelligence
- Magic

Formerly

- Power
- Speed
- Defense
- Dexterity
- Intelligence
- Magic

What is his height and weight?

From his original game, Michael was introduced as a tall character, showing him being bigger than Boyfriend. However, his height is still unmeasured.

Who are his friends and enemies?

Big Brother is said to be friends with Girlfriend's sister, Sister Searest (but yet to be confirmed by the creators in Timeout's case), however, he is arch-rivals with Armaros. This is shown in his original mod.

Diagnosis?

Big Brother has been diagnosed with ADHD and PTSD. Because of his PTSD, he keeps a cat in his house to help him with his PTSD and other disorders, such as anxiety. He tends to keep his ADHD side as he tends to be goofy, hyper and fun to be around.

What is his alignment?

Michael's alignment is on its good side as he protected Girlfriend from a gunshot and has good terms with his family as he often visits them.

What are his favorites?

Favorite Food: Cheez-Its Favorite Color: Unknown
Favorite Hobby: Singing
Favorite Music: Rock and Heavy Metal
Favorite Game: Sly Cooper 2 and 3
Favorite Instrument: Guitar
Favorite Book: Unknown
Favorite TV Show: Unknown
Favorite Movie: Unknown
Favorite Character: Unknown
Favorite Song: Unknown
Favorite Catchphrase: Unknown

Family

Big Brother has unnamed parents, a pet dog who lives in his parents' house (unknown if his pet chicken also lives in his parents' house), a rat named Ritz, who's his adoptive brother, Hatsune Miku as his sister and Girlfriend as his sister-in-law, This would have Daddy Dearest as his father-in-law and Mommy Mearest as his mother-in-law, however, this is only exclusive to the modding community and Above the Future continuity.

Trivia

- Big Brother still retains all of his facts from his original self as this version of Big Brother is the future version of the original Big Brother.
- His shoe redesign clearly resembles Sonic's Grind Shoes. Additionally, his original design resembled Sonic's Shoes he wore during his entire series.
- His new design slightly resembles Terry Bogard, however, it's a clear coincidence.
- Big Brother was mistaken to be a fallen angel in TimeoutArtist's case, taking the misconception into a real thing, where he took the bullet from an angel and got banned from entering Heaven for protecting Girlfriend. This misconception was dropped after discovering his mistakes about Michael's character.
- This was due to how similar they looked from each other's design.