Date of Mentoring: August 20, 2024
MENTOR'S NOTES
Dr. Christine Joi Lomocso has recently commenced her residency training in family medicine last July 15, 2024; and has completed her first month in the outpatient department. During this period, she has demonstrated significant growth and adaptability in her new role. As the youngest of the pack, Dr. Lomocso was determined to improve her clinical skills and knowledge by updating her train of thought through guidance and mentoring, as well as through her clinical readings via Clinical Practice Guidelines and the recommended reading materials. Some problems during her rotation in the Outpatient Department was the large influx of patients, leading her to stay late and finish late. However as she progressed in the training, she later learned to have a focused history taking, thus a swifter way of handling a large number of patients. As she moves on with the training, Dr. Lomocso will eventually find her way in improving his clinical skills, rapport building, patient interactions, team collaboration, Procedural skills, Time management, and Clinical Decision-Making.
