Subject- Happy birthday letter

Dearest, [mention the name of your love]

Still, I can remember the first time I placed my eyes on you. I calculated, “This guy is too good for me; there is no way that he will fall for a girl like me.” Then, we met at the party, where we enjoyed dancing and drinking all night long. You waited outside my class for three days, looking quite apprehensive.

You invited me to coffee with that wonderful smile of yours. The rest became history. Here we are, sharing a house with our wonderful children. I can kiss you whenever I want. We are free to go on dates whenever we want. You are now my wonderful hubby. You are mine. Happy birthday, sweetie! You know that I still wake up thinking that this is all a dream to me. You are too good to be true! Really, I love you too much!

Time may cause our black hair to become grey, crumple our skin, and smash our teeth out. But there is one aspect that time cannot erase — my undying love for you! Once again, happy birthday! Thank you for being a wonderful father to our children, a reliable provider, and a pillar of our household. I wish you all the best, and happy birthday, honey! How could life bless me? So thank you for being such a wonderful person in the world.

You are everything in my life, like the closest friend, lover, confidante, and soul mate! God has given me abundantly for you to make my goal a reality! Have a fantastic birthday, love.

Thanks for existing.

Love you [mention the name of your love].
