

Event Information

The Audience

The festival is aimed at young people, however, as it is a free event held on a Saturday in Guildford town centre, people of all ages will attend.

The Visitor Experience

It is our intention that visitors should move around the festival in a free-flowing manner. We will have volunteers on hand to direct people to the different zones of the festival.

The Connected Event Aims

- To showcase some of the most innovative and forward-looking local companies and increase public awareness of their work in, and importance to, the area.
- To motivate young people at critical moments in their educational careers to embrace the exciting mix of creativity and technical skill that the most successful innovators of the future will need
- To encourage visitors to imagine the application of science in the future, for solving problems and improving people's lives, particularly with sustainable urban living in mind.
- To celebrate the inter-reliance of science and the arts in everyday life, for example in areas such as gaming, music production and engineering design
- To communicate the excitement of science to a new audience through artistic media
- To entertain and inspire
