

Hi Chris,

Firstly, I like how you said that Will Ramos taught you how to growl and sigh which led you to create your “SING SCREAM made easy” video — it was super useful for people who weren't using their head voice whilst sighing.

After watching, I was curious about the singing courses you offered alongside the free warm-up course you made with Will...

Back in December when you posted a few Blogs on your site,

I noticed that you could start optimizing your Blog Posts to get ahead of your main competitor on Youtube which was Ken Tamplins Vocal Academy.

You could outgrow Ken's channel and gain a LOT more leads through Instagram & Google search alone.

When readers find your Blog Posts useful, they will be more inclined to check out what you are offering after they consume the useful information you've provided them with!

So, down below is a blog post and an engagement-boosting Instagram caption to help you gain more attention through Instagram as well.

Why Instagram? Because there is no good singing influencer there, You could take that spot!

If you liked the blog post I wrote about your SING SCREAM video, then hit me with a quick reply, I have a few more ideas we could do rather than just blogs to get your business going.
