There's too much hot smurfin action for just one dive! Last time we got deep in the smurf with the actual fanfiction, but we didn't really get to learn about the people who made it! Get ready, there's gonna be a LOT of cattiness and I'm not talking about Azrael ha ha ha that's the name of Gargamel's cat I had to google that.

Hefty and Smurfette belong together?

Because i do !

I mean Hefty has saved her multiple times and he does have a crush on her !

And Smurfette seems interested enough in hefty !

VicGeorge2K9

That's fan-shipping. And everybody's got their opinion on who Smurfette should be paired with.

A FANDOM user

You have to say that would make a good couple like i don't know " Katniss n Peeta " ??

Its all the rave these days !

VicGeorge2K9

I don't have to say or do anything of the sort if I don't personally agree with you on that.

Fine Thats your opinion but mines that hefty and smurfette would make a gorgeous couple and if you don't like that

I really don't care

so stop trying to bring me down

VicGeorge2K9

Oh, poor you. You can't handle the fact that there is no official couple pairing announced in Smurfs media, that she may actually love all her fellow Smurfs equally or is not interested in a romantic relationship. Oh, well...

You are just as bad...look in the mirror. You attack people in comments, you bullied SmurfGirl10, you insulted the Bible and you deleted all my stories, with the excuse that they were worthless when YOU were not the judge of tge wiki, you are no one to set standards on work and you certainly can't delete work for no reason. In regards to the intervention of SmurfGirl, you are a massive hypocrite, since you deride her for getting involved in this crisis yet you deem it OK to discourage someone from welcoming me back to the wiki, trying to paint pictures in people's heads and lead them to prejudice?

Numbuh, listen up. I understand what I did was wrong. While I attacked your pages I knew it. I was blinded by anger but I knew what I was about to do and I did it anyway. I'm not making excuses for my behavior, and I will not ask to be unblocked. I will probably wait out my block, which exxpires in 360 days, and then, from there, I don't know.

So while I maintain I can be a pain in the arse at times (a lot of the time lol) give me a fair chance. I'm human too, although I don't always feel like that. I may not be as talented as you are, but don't reject me.

I may not be as imaginative as VicGeorge. I may not be as eloquent as you. I may not be as interesting as Hero. I may not be as capturing as Enriquearreguin.

But I still have plenty of good qualities and I would be more than happy (once my block ends) to put these into practise for the good of the wiki, if only I'd get a chance.

How'd you like it if you were in my shoes? If you felt no one understood you and nothing was going your way?

I admire you, and I admire your writing, but you cannot criticise my behavior since your own is very similar, perhaps worse given you're an admin with added responsibility.

(Smurf Manian makes another post admitting to harassing Numbuh 404)

Numbuh 404

For once, you have given me a message worth reading. I appreciate you taking responsibility and admitting to your mistakes. As you may (or may not, given you "reflection" reference) know, I own up to mine as well, and I am not afraid to say I am or have been wrong about someone or something. If I am wrong about you having been only trouble since your arrival to this Wiki, I would welcome the claim.

Why, you may ask? If not simply to add one more enjoyable individual to our community. I would much rather smile when seeing someone's icon than frown, and with you, I would especially like to see improvement. Everyone can improve themselves somewhere - even me.

I like to think I'm a welcoming person, but I confess to judging by the first day. I have had trouble finding acceptance on other sites, so I seem to reflect it here on some people. I suppose that's based on virtuality's dilemma of not seeing someone face-to-face, in which situation I am normally more comfortable (being a social butterfly, generally).

I also admit to holding some artistic superiority here: I am not afraid to say that because I am advanced in English through all grade levels and have practiced my illustration talents since I learned to walk. With such talent, however, comes power and responsibility, which is why I like to share it with this community. I draw for other people's pages because (unless I bluntly say it) I enjoy doing so - I enjoy making people happy by drawing their creations.

Although I am bursting with creativity and talent, I also admit that I still need help coming up with ideas or recounting mainstream knowledge. That's what the chat is for, and I use it on a fairly regular basis to shoot around ideas in the making. Asking for help is not a weakness, I firmly believe.

I can be cold as ice, but would much rather be as warm and radiant as a ray of sunshine. I would like to add you to my list of friends here on this Wiki, and so, based on your previous statement above, I will give you a chance once your block is reprieved. Make me proud. ^^

Then be prepared for war, Vic. Your truth is no truer than my truth, so can it. You sound just like Brainy - so sure of yourself and how everything you think must be right or you wouldn't think it, and clearly it can't be wrong because as the Holy Bible always says, God's word is truth and His true worshippers (like you, Vic George) will be welcomed into Heaven by forcing everyone to hear the word of God and to accept Him into their hearts because that's all there is to believe in this world, and may the Lord have mercy on everyone who doesn't also believe in everything you've read about.

You think you know everything and I'm so sick of hearing you going on about how you're better than us because you're a born-again Christian. Keep it to yourself. You're as bad as a vegan.

Also, if you want me to tell you something that I think proves the Holy Bible true, then go ahead and ask. I can assure you that it is 100% true, as it actually happened. I'm not forcing you to believe it happened or to want me to tell you. The choice is yours to make, and remember, I'm not forcing you to do anything, No Christians are, they simply want to help you, so please stop this on-going fight.

Topic: NOT Smurf Vitamins!!

(The OP posts about some illegal drugs being sold shaped like Smurfs)

VicGeorge2010

Two of my latest fanfiction stories, "The New Shop In The Village" and "The High Cost Of Smurfing", deal with the issue of drugs, albeit Smurf-related fictional analogs to existing real-life ones. The first story is about two Smurfs opening up a morning brew and smurfnip shop as an alternative to Tapper's Tavern, sort of like the c weoffee and pot shops in Europe. Unfortunately, that almost gets shut down because somebody introduces them to something dangerous called moonberries, which almost causes the Smurfs to start eating the roofs of their mushroom houses, believing that the mushrooms that their Smurf houses are made of have magical properties that let them see hallucinations, and that they also get sick from eating too many moonberries. In the second story, Vanity gets addicted to snorting pixie dust and almost dies, which makes Empath find out who was giving him that to be addicted to in the first place.

Topic: Anyone ever had any Smurf related dreams?

SmurfyDash

I had a Smurf related dream very early this morning when I went back to bed. It went like this, mom and I were going to a movie theater and there was a big Smurfs poster in the lobby and Smurfette was there. Someone dressed up in a Smurfette costume anyway, kind of like the ones seen at official Smurf events.

I was getting ready to meet Smurfette and just before I could meet her and get my picture taken with her, I woke up.

That's my dream, I guess it originates from following the official Smurfs Instagram and wanting to meet those mascot Smurfs I see in pictures sometimes. Anyone else ever had a Smurfs related dream?

Smurfette, the truest smurf of all.

VicGeorge2010

A few of them, actually. In 2011, I was dreaming that I was watching the Smurfs movie being presented as though I was playing Mass Effect or Dragon Age II with a dialogue wheel to select an appropriate response within a scene. Sometime before that, I was dreaming that the Smurfs cartoon show had actually continued past Season 9 into the 1990s, though at that point the episodes had somehow deteriorated in quality, being more like a mashup of various previous episodes than a coherent story.

Ariel author of The Lost Smurfette

Any way, back on topic... It wasn't really a dream, mainly because I was still awake. But I was in choir class a few weeks ago and the teacher had us listen to a recording of the song "Omnia Sol," which we were learning. He had us listen to it with our eyes closed. Throughout the song (and every time I've heard it since) I see the following sequence of events :

The song begins "somewhere far from nowhere, I grew both strong and tall" and I see a little smurf house, inside which is a little baby Brainy Smurf, this fades to Brainy as an adult Smurf... The song continues to say "longing to become, but knowing not the path at all" showing Brainy holding a map and staring at the woods covered in snow.

The soprano/alto part comes in "but the footprints of the winter melted to fields of spring..." and as the snow melts away, my character, Ariel, comes into view.

And pretty much the whole thing is about Ariel's death and how Brainy sets out to sea all alone on a tiny raft trying to find her.... And sadly, his raft is overturned by an ocean storm and the last thing I see is an open locket washing up on the beach, inside the locket is a picture of Ariel and Brainy hugging and smiling...

I may not always have the answer, but when I do, I stick with it!

Topic: Is outing Vanity really necessary?

PrinterSmurf

I've read elsewhere on this forum that the Culliford famil is considering making Vanity Smurf officially gay.

I, for one, disagree with this idea. I think something like that should be left for each fan to decide for themselves. For example, I think Vanity is just a narcissitic dandy.

If others think Vanity IS gay, that's their opinion and I respect it even if I don't agree with it. Which is why the Culliford should just leave Vanity just as he is and let us decide for ourselves.

Any other opinions?

VicGeorge2010

I'm still toying with whether or not to bother writing "Vanity & The Ugly Duckling", even with a totally different ending than how I originally conceived this idea years ago. Right now, it's just a fragment where Vanity gets chased around because everyone thinks he's turned purple, but in reality he's turned lavender for some unknown reason.

VIC GEORGE -- Westfield, MA, USA

"Cat and mouse games really aren't much fun for us mouse types" -- Empath from "Empath The Bandit Smurf"

Raven Child

(quotes the OP)

I was thinking the same thing. To me I felt Vanity a Metro-sexual narcississ, lol.

It's true the smurfs did appear overly 'cheerful' and 'affectionate' towards each other, but hey, when you don't live in a society like today's your not stressed and repressed from expressing loving/caring emotions.

VicGeorge2010

Narcissistic is right. I just don't know how "sexual" Vanity is, though. In the EMPATH short story "Papa's Big Crush", Empath crashes into Vanity's house after getting backhanded by a Hulk-ified Papa Smurf, while Vanity's busy taking a bath and looking at his reflection, and all Vanity can say is (in that Alan Oppenheimer-type voice) "Empath, how shameful for you to smurf in here without knocking! Can't you see I want to be alone in here?" And also in the short story "Smurphony Of The Night", Vanity is presumably the one asking about his song, which is a Smurf version of the Right Said Fred song "I'm Too Sexy", being included somewhere in Brainy's proposed musical program.

Well, anyway, here's the story fragment of "Vanity & The Ugly Duckling":

quote:

Papa Smurf and Empath heard a commotion up ahead. "What the smurf is going on?" Papa Smurf wondered.

"Sounds like a group of Smurfs is chasing somebody," Empath surmised. "We better get close to the scene to find out."

As Papa Smurf and Empath headed in the direction of the commotion, another Smurf was approaching them from the opposite way. "Papa Smurf, thank smurfness you're here! We need to get some tuberose pollen right away because Vanity's turned purple!"

"He turned purple?" Papa Smurf asked, not believing what he heard. "Great Smurfs Of Fire! And I thought we had the purple virus smurfed dead in its tracks!"

"The purple virus?" Empath asked, a bit curious.

"Five years ago," Papa Smurf explained, "a fly carrying a purple virus infected Lazy 1 by smurfing his tail, and that caused him to turn purple. From there he started infecting other Smurfs by smurfing their tails, and we were up to our smurfs in Purple Smurfs. Eventually I found the cure in a tuberose blossom, and from there we gathered as much pollen as we can to cure our infected Smurfs before we all became purple. Needless to say, that's how we all ended up, with me being the last Smurf infected, but an explosion in my lab released enough pollen to blanket the entire village, curing every Smurf simultaneously."

"Hearing that story alone would make this smurf's tail hurt," Empath said with a slight shudder.

"But this smurf can only wonder what this has to do with Vanity now."

"That's what we're going to smurf out, Empath," Papa Smurf answered.

Finally, they found Vanity running toward them, with a bunch of frightened and angry Smurfs chasing him. Somehow, Papa Smurf observed that Vanity wasn't acting like he had been infected by the purple virus -- if he did, he would be hopping around and saying "Gnapp gnapp!" -- but it still was puzzling to figure out how he got that way.

"Papa Smurf," Vanity gasped, "all these Smurfs have gone mad. It's bad enough that I smurfed myself in the mirror to see myself being turned purple, but now the other Smurfs think I have been smurfed by the purple virus!"

"He's dangerous, Papa Smurf!" one of the Smurfs shouted. "Don't let him smurf near you or Empath if he's got the purple virus!"

Empath sensed that there wasn't any sign of a virus in Vanity. "It's all right, my fellow Smurfs -- Vanity doesn't seem to be carrying any virus at all!" he said, trying to sound reassuring. "Maybe not now, but wait until he starts saying 'Gnapp gnapp!'" another Smurf warned Empath. That was when Painter showed up and saw Vanity. "Sacre bleu -- or should I say, sacre lavender! What's happened to M'sieu Vanity?" he asked. "Lavender?" all the other Smurfs asked, not really seeing where Painter was getting at. "Painter is correct," Empath explained. "This smurf also notices that Vanity is neither blue nor purple, but a light shade of lavender." That got Papa Smurf scratching his beard in thought as he looked at Vanity. It reminded him of something, if only he could remember what.

(quotes Raven Child)

You know I agree with that.

Every day in every way I am smurfy!

Shaney Smurf

I agree with that as well. It's a shame that today's society has to go and sexualize everything. The Smurfs are supposed to be a children's or family geared show. Such things shouldn't be addressed or brought up in lighthearted entertainment. I doubt Peyo himself would have authorized this idea.

Marianamersmurf

This is a tricky topic. Although I strongly respect the gay community very much, I don't see why the Cullifords should change Vanity and portray him gay. For one, like you said Shane, the Smurfs is a family cartoon. Homosexuality is a very strong, heavy topic that it's hard for little kids to understand it. Second of all (in response to what you were saying earlier) the people who grew up around the Smurfs remember Vanity for being metrosexual. Usually people are comfortable with a fictional character by how the cartoonists originally created it.

Marianamersmurf

VicGeorge2010

The only thing that ever seems "sexual" about a Smurf is that a male Smurf typically goes ga-ga over the sight of a female Smurf, much like a Tex Avery cartoon wolf gets all excited over seeing a beautiful human female.

VIC GEORGE -- Westfield, MA, USA

"Cat and mouse games really aren't much fun for us mouse types" -- Empath from "Empath The Bandit Smurf"

Squeaky Smurf

Now this topic reminded me an incident that happened to me last week. As you all know, one can't expect that all people on YouTube are polite. Unfortunately, once there, we all are subject to both friendly replies and others... not so much. So this happened to me!

On a YouTube page, where a Smurf cartoon was exhibited, a person declared Brainy (!) was gay. I replied I didn't think he was like that, but simply a toady guy. There! He (or she) called me 'homophobe' (is it right?), among other things. Of course I answered, adding that nobody is compelled to agree with each other...

I'd never imagine that a simple opinion could set off some problem. And just because some people have insisted on that some Smurfs are gay!

Keep on always smurfin'!!

Yes, Vic George made a TV Tropes Page for His Story

Fan Fic / Empath: The Luckiest Smurf

Empath: The Luckiest Smurf is a fanfiction series created by Vic George that is based on The Smurfs. It features his main character Empath Smurf, who is born with telepathic and telekinetic abilities. It is set in its own universe mostly based around the cartoon show, but also featuring characters from The Smurfs comic books, Sony Pictures' live-action The Smurfs film series, Johan and Peewit, and the PVC toy character line. The body of his work can be found on Vic George's Imaginarium and also on the Smurfs Fanon Wiki.

(This is just a small selection of the tropes. There are hundreds more and feel free to find your own! This would probably be a good source for reader intros.)

Ascend to a Higher Plane of Existence: Empath in the story "Smurfing In Heaven" is made to believe this is what happened to him when he was left alone by the other Smurfs when they were lost in time-travel...that he died and has now ascended to Elysium to be with the other Smurfs who have also presumably perished, where he will be given the mantle of godhood. As it turns out, Empath really didn't die and the Elysium he was taken to was a magical illusion created by Ares the god of war in order to lure his object of admiration into becoming his god of conquest.

Blood Magic: In "Where The Wind Carries You", which is an adaptation of the cartoon show episode "Never Smurf Off Till Tomorrow", Tapper (who appears in the place of the adult Nat Smurf among the Smurfs who were taken by the hurricane and dumped inside a volcano from which they escape) claims the blood of Jesus Christ over himself and his fellow Smurfs to protect them from the sharks that come swimming around them, ready to devour them. Whether it is because of this or what Tapper says, the sharks eventually swim away, leaving the Smurfs unharmed.

Born as an Adult: Actually, Psyches are grown in gestation chambers for a year until they become the equivalent of 50-year-old Smurflings. No specific reason is given for this.

Dying for Symbolism: An in-universe example: In the mini-story "The Only Begotten Son", Tapper points out the similarities between Empath's "death" as an infant and Jesus' death on the cross in that both deaths have resulted in bringing forth many to become adopted children — with Jesus' death, the humans becoming adopted children of God, and with Empath's "death", his fellow Smurfs becoming adopted children of Papa Smurf.

Fantastic Arousal: In the series, a male Smurf's bald head is considered an erogenous zone, which is part of why they must wear the hats, though it can only be triggered by the touch of a female Smurf (or just a female in general). This was mentioned by Papa Smurf to Hefty in "I Dream Of Smurfette".

Fantastic Drug: Smurfnip, which is used as a stand-in for pot with the associated Marijuana Is LSD trope. A telltale way to know that someone is stoned on smurfnip is that the whites of their eyes turn green. Pixie dust, as seen with a Smurf in a Mirror Universe and normal Vanity in "The High Cost Of Smurfing" inhaling it, is their analog to cocaine. There's also psychelium, a drug that the Psyches are forced to use to inhibit emotional expression. There's glowberries, which gives hallucinations when eaten along with a sour stomach and a bad case of "smurfarrhea". And there's moonberries, which cause the Smurfs to start eating the roofs of their mushroom houses, thinking that they have hidden magical properties that can cause hallucinations.

G-Rated Sex: "Sharing dreams" is implied to be this for Psyches, and this is for a race of emotionless asexual Smurf-like people who are betrothed as same-sex couples. Even Empath and Polaris engaged in it.

Kissing Under the Influence: In "My Unsmurfy Valentine", Eros' lust arrows strike various male Smurfs who start kissing each other. Only it doesn't affect Tapper because he has some sort of spiritual protection. In "Monkey On Your Smurf", Empath and Smurfette are under the influence of probes inside their bodies that are making them make out with each other. And of course there's Papa Smurf in Hulked Out mode seeking to mate with Smurfette in "Papa's Big Crush."

Parental Incest: While not biologically related, the May–December Romance of Papa Smurf and Smurfette in the story "Papa Smurf & Mama Smurfette" is squicky enough for the other Smurfs to treat it as that to the point where some even cover their eyes when they both kiss each other at the wedding. Otherwise averted in "Papa's Big Crush" where Smurfette confesses to Papa Smurf that she could never love him as anything other than a father.

Walking Shirtless Scene: Again, most of the male Smurfs, including Empath during his early visits. Averted with Tapper, Narrator, Empath in later stories, and several other Smurfs. Notably Empath and Smurfette make a big deal about this.

AND NOW A BUNCH OF SONG PARODIES YAY

These are from both the Wiki and Blue Buddies, I'm just smurfing them in their own special section.

Macho Smurf \(song\)

"Macho Smurf" is a comedy song sung by Jokey Smurf imitating Hefty's voice in the EMPATH: The Luckiest Smurf story series. It is the Smurf analog of "Macho Man" by the Village People, though without any explicit lyrics. The content of the song is mostly about Hefty's desire to be the most "macho Smurf" out of all the Smurfs. Hefty didn't like this song when it made its debut and ended up destroying all copies of the song on crystal disk, though he can't get his fellow Smurfs to stop singing it.

Smurfed This Way \(song\)

"Smurfed This Way" is a song performed by Vanity Smurf in the EMPATH: The Luckiest Smurf story series that emphasizes the pride he has in his personality. It is a parody of Lady Gaga's "Born This Way" and is not to be confused with "Smurf This Way", the Smurf analog of "Walk This Way".

It was later performed by Century's daughter Sussudio, which was then segued into her version of "Express Yourself."

Farmer has his own parody of the song called "I Raise Corn This Way".

The Mirror Universe Smurfs simply sing the straight version of the song, celebrating their immorality.

Lyrics

My parents told me when I was smurfed,
They said, you're gonna be a superstar.
Smurfed me a mirror to look at myself,
And I knew that I'd be smurfing far.
Now my reflection is all I see,
My mirror follows me wherever I go.
Don't really care now what the others think,
I just smurf back and enjoy the show.

I know what others will say,
They think that I'm so gay.
But they don't know the truth,
I'm simply smurfed this way.
I'm in love with myself,
And I don't need any help.
That's the way it is,
I'm simply smurfed this way.

I know what the others say,
They all think that I'm so gay.
Baby, I'm just smurfed this way.
I'm the best that I can see,
'Cause I'm so in love with me.
I'm not crazy, I'm just smurfed this way.

I'm not a drag, I'm not a queen.
I'm just the best Smurf that I've seen.
The only Smurf I know to be is me.

My face and body's so beautiful,
I think hats and pants are all the rage.
I like to model in the latest styles
And see myself smurfing up on stage.
I'd smurf a garden upon my head
On a W-H-I-M.
And if I might even sing in Schtroumpf,

Ah, vous êtes tellement beau.

Don't feel the need to explain
The reason for my name.
I am just Vanity and I am smurfed this way.
I can't help how I feel,
'Cause I got great smurf appeal.
You would be the same if you were smurfed this way.
I just don't need to explain
The reason for my smurfy name.
Baby, I'm just smurfed this way.
What you call insanity
Is just the way I feel for me.
That's the truth, I'm simply smurfed this way.

I am perfection at its best.
I even like the way I dress.
You might call me odd or bizarre.
But I'm the Smurf you wish you are.
But if you love the way you look,
Just smurf your feelings in a book,
And tell yourself that you're okay
'Cause, baby, you were smurfed this way.

I'm such an angel in blue,
I'd even pose in the nude.
I love how I look 'cause I am smurfed this way.
Don't need to smurf a big scene,
To make the others turn green.
They're just simply jealous they're not smurfed this way.
If that's the way that you feel,
Then don't deny what is real.
Love the way you are 'cause you were smurfed this way.
Don't ever feel so ashamed,
Regardless of your name,
There's only one of you and you were smurfed this way.

Don't you ever be ashamed,
Regardless of your smurfy name.
Baby, you were smurfed this way.
Love the person that you are,
Because we're all superstars.
That's the truth, 'cause you are smurfed this way.

I am smurfed this way, hey.
I am smurfed this way, hey.
That's just how I came to the earth this way, hey.
I am smurfed this way, hey.
I am smurfed this way, hey.
My name is Vanity and I am smurfed this way, hey.

I Kissed My Brother \(song\)

"I Kissed My Brother" is a song sung by the Mirror Universe Handy Smurf in the EMPATH: The Luckiest Smurf story "The Other Side Of The Mirror", which is about his relationship with his brother Hefty. It is a loosely-based parody of Katy Perry's song "I Kissed A Girl". Needless to say, the normal universe versions of Hefty and Handy did not like hearing of either this type of relationship or the song sung about it.

Green Leaves \(song\)

"Green Leaves" is a song sung by the Smurfs in the EMPATH: The Luckiest Smurf story series as an ode to intoxication from smurfnip. Its first appearance was in the story "A Haunted Christmas", with Lazy being the song's creator. It is sung to the tune of "Greensleeves" and "What Child Is This?".

Lyrics

What herb is this, when I light up,
Can smurf me such a good feeling?
A flower with a great potent scent
That smurfs my mind a-reeling.

Green leaves, they smurf me high.
They smurf so good, they can make me fly.
Smurf them up in paper sleeves,
Then smurf a puff on the green leaves.

It smurfs the world so rainbow bright,
And smurfs me hallucinations.
I do not care for all that, only
That it smurfs me jubilation.

Green leaves is my delight;
I like to smurf them day and night.

Smurf them up in paper sleeves,
Then smurf a puff on the green leaves.

So smurf as many as you can get,
Then smurf them all with your buddies.
They'll take a smurf of that magic cloud,
Then think that everything is funny.

Green leaves is my desire,
Smurf so great near an evening fire.
Smurf them up in paper sleeves,
Then smurf a puff on the green leaves.

Smoke Smurfnip Everyday \(song\)

"Smoke Smurfnip Everyday" is a song sung by the Smurfs in the HERO: The Guardian Smurf story series as an ode to intoxication from smurfnip. It is a heavily modified version of the popular internet dubstep remix song "Smoke Weed Everyday" by Snoop Dogg featuring Dr. Dre and also follows the same tune.

SMURFBERRY CANDY GIRL

(Smurfette's version of Madonna's "Candy Perfume Girl")
Guest-featuring Empath

Young velvet cerulean boy,
Don't you like what you can see?
A blue kissed window scene,
Smurfing delicious smiles.
I'm your smurfberry candy girl.
Your smurfberry candy girl.

Mouth-watering desire, smurf to me.
A smurfberry candy girl.
A smurfberry candy girl.
I'm your smurfberry candy girl.
Smurfberry, smurfberry.

A fantasy ghost, I see
Every scent that surrounds your heart.
I feel your steam, girl, from the oceans.
You're a smurfberry candy girl.
You're a smurfberry candy girl.
You're a smurfberry candy girl.
Smurfberry candy girl.

Did I lie to you? Smurfberry candy girl.
Did I lie to you? A magic potion.
You're a smurfberry candy boy.
A smurfberry candy boy.
You're a smurfberry candy boy.
You're smurfberry.

Smurfberry candy girl,
Your scent moves me like a magic potion.
Smurfberry, it's smurfberry (candy girl).
I'm your smurfberry candy girl (smurfberry candy girl).
I'm your smurfberry candy girl, boy, girl, boy, girl, boy.
Smurfberry.

BLUE SKIN

(Smurfette's version of Madonna's "Skin")

Do I smurf you from somewhere?
Why won't you ever show me more?
Everything there is to smurf,
You know that I've smurfed it all before.

Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.

Kiss me, I'm dying.

Let me smurf your blue skin.
I open my eyes, I'm smurfing in your direction.
Your body you just cannot hide.
I open my eyes, I open my eyes.

Do I smurf you from somewhere?
Why won't you ever show me more?
Everything there is to smurf,
You know that I've smurfed it all before.

Smurf me, I'm trying
To keep myself in control.
I got this thing, it's like a real big obsession.
I'm not like this all the time.
It gets so big, it gets so big.

Do I smurf you from somewhere?
Why won't you ever show me more?
Everything there is to smurf,
You know that I've smurfed it all before.

Kiss me, I'm dying.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
You just can't hide a work of smurfy perfection.
Open up my eyes, open up your eyes.
(Kiss, kiss, kiss me.)

Do I smurf you from somewhere?
Why won't you ever show me more?
Everything there is to smurf,
You know that I've smurfed it all before.
Do I smurf you from somewhere?
Why won't you ever show me more?
Everything there is to smurf,
You know that I've smurfed it all before.

Kiss me, I'm dying.
Smurf me, I'm trying.
I'm not like this all the time.
I'm not like this all the time.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.

Smurf me, I'm trying.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
I'm not like this all the time.
I'm not like this all the time.
I'm not like this all the time.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.
Let me smurf your blue skin.

SMURFZERO

(Smurfette's version of Madonna's "Frozen")

Your heart wants what your eyes cannot see
To have your life the way you want it to be.
You're smurfzero when your heart's in fear, oh.
You're so burdened and you're so upset,
The cards they played you just didn't get.
You're no hero when you live in fear, oh.

Mmmm hmmm hmmm...if I could smurf your heart
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you won't be in the dark
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...let yoursurf be free
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you're my destiny

I can feel all your heartache and pain;
What you have suffered, I've smurfed through the same.
If we've lost you, my life would be zero.
Love is the feeling you can't hold inside.
Let all your guilt and your anger just die.
You're smurfzero when you live in fear, oh.

Mmmm hmmm hmmm...if I could smurf your heart
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you won't be in the dark
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...let yoursurf be free
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you're my destiny

Your heart wants what your eyes cannot see
To have your life the way you want it to be.
You're smurfzero when your heart's in fear, oh.

Mmmm hmmm hmmm...if I could smurf your heart

Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you won't be in the dark
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...let yoursurf be free
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you're my destiny
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...if I could surf your heart
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you won't be in the dark
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...let yoursurf be free
Mmmm hmmm hmmm...you're my destiny
Please let me surf your heart.

WHO SHALL I HAVE TO HOLD?

(Smurfette's version of Madonna's "To Have And Not To Hold")

Oh, who shall I have to hold?
With whom shall my life grow old?
My heart is in their hands,
But they can't understand that I can't choose which one I want to love.
I touch but cannot keep.
I laugh but cannot weep.
Their souls I can see through
And yet they'll never do for the one Smurf I've been thinking of.

Like a moth to a flame, it's smurfing me insane.
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...what shall I do?
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...which Smurf can I choose?
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...I must know
Who shall I have to hold?

I look but cannot see
A future love can never be
The object of their desire.
I walk upon a wire, and I don't know who's there to break my fall.

Like a moth to a flame, it's driving me insane.
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...what shall I do?
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...which Smurf can I choose?
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...I must know
Who shall I have to hold?
Who shall I have to hold?
Who shall I have to hold?

Like a moth to a flame, it's driving me insane.
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...what shall I do?

Ba ba ba ba ba ba...which Smurf can I choose?
Ba ba ba ba ba ba...I must know
Who shall I have to hold?
Who shall I have to hold?
Who shall I have to hold (to break my fall)?

MERMAID SMURF

(Smurfette's version of Madonna's "Mer Girl")

I smurfed from the village that cannot contain me,
>From the Smurfs whom they cannot keep,
>From a wizard that haunts me no matter where he is,
And a baby that never sleeps.
I smurfed from the noise and the silence,
>From the bustle in the streets.

I smurfed to the treetops, I smurfed to the sky,
Up to the river and into the rain
That smurfed down my hair and smurfed my shoes and skin,
Smurfed my tears, smurfed my fears.

I smurfed to the forest, I smurfed to the trees,
I smurfed and I smurfed, I was smurfing for me.

I smurfed past the towers and the crooked old fence post,
Past the Great Oak tree and the castle I hate the most.
Up beyond the hill, I smurfed to the cemetery
And smurfed my breath as I thought about my death.

I smurfed to the bridge, and up to the hills.
I smurfed and I smurfed, I'm smurfing there still.
And I saw the crumbling tombsmurfs of forgotten names.
I tasted the rain, I tasted my tears,
I smurfed the angels, I tasted my fears.

And the ground smurfed way beneath my feet,
And Mother Nature smurfed me in her arms.
Leaves smurfed on my face,
Ants smurfed across my dress,
And the black sky opened up, smurfing me.

I smurfed to the forest, I smurfed to the trees,

I smurfed and I smurfed, I was smurfing for me.
I smurfed to the bridge, and up to the hill.
I smurfed and I smurfed, I'm smurfing there still.

And it smurfed of burning flesh, of rotting bones, of decay.
I smurfed and I smurfed, I'm still smurfing away.

LUCKIEST MALE SMURF

(Smurfette's version of Madonna's "Beautiful Stranger" from Austin Powers: The Spy Who Shagged Me)

Haven't we smurfed?
You must be the luckiest male Smurf.
You are the one for me,
Unlike any other male Smurf.
You're so strong, you can smurf me through.
You're so smart, makes me feel so, too.
Nature forbid that I should part from the luckiest male Smurf.

I smurf into your eyes,
And my world starts smurfing around.
You're my angel in disguise,
That's why I'm smurfing this song.

To know you makes me love you,
No matter where I go, no matter which Smurf knows.
To love you makes me be smurf of you,
I'll never smurf in tears or smurf it all inside.
Ba da ba da ba da, ba da da da da da...the luckiest male Smurf.
Ba da ba da ba da, ba da da da da da...the luckiest male Smurf.

You're my knight with the shining star,
I feel so safe anywhere you are.
I can't believe I smurfed in love with the luckiest male Smurf.

I smurfed into your face,
My heart is smurfing all over the place.
You make me change my smurf of view,
No other male Smurf can be like you.

To know you makes me love you,
No matter where I go, no matter which Smurf knows.

You smurfed into my mind,
You smurf the dreams I'm smurfing inside.
You're my angel smurfed in blue,
That's why I'm smurfing this song for you.

To know you makes me love you,
And no matter where I go, no matter which Smurf knows,
I'll never smurf in tears or smurf it all inside.
Ba da ba da ba da, ba da da da da da...the luckiest male Smurf.
Ba da ba da ba da, ba da da da da da...the luckiest male Smurf.

Topic: "Purple Smurf Attack" \(Smurf song parody\)

VicGeorge2010

Sung to the tune of "99 Red Balloons" by Nena.

It happened on a summer breeze
When Lazy went to chop down a tree
A purple fly stung him in the tail
There came from him a painful wail
He felt strange as his skin turned dark
Then "gnap gnep" was all he barked
A frightful sight came upon the earth
Lazy was turned into a Purple Smurf

Lazy was a Purple Smurf,
Hopping up and down the turf
Brainy told Papa what he had saw
Vanity replied with a guffaw
Then others saw him as he hopped away
They chased and caught him before the break of day
Papa warned them to watch their backs
Because on a tail a Purple Smurf will attack

Lazy was bound and held in his house
He escaped and infected Hefty like a mouse

Clumsy was next as he chased him down
Throwing a lasso with which he was bound
Then was Handy, next came Greedy,
Then the number jumped up to fifteen
Some remedies failed Papa had tried,
And now they have to catch a purple fly

The cure was pollen from a tuberose,
Inhaled and sneezed through a Purple Smurf's nose
Papa tried the cure that he had found,
But all it did was slow the Purple Smurfs down
One of the Purples painted himself blue
To stealthily infect the others too
Papa found out that he was the last
As 99 Purple Smurfs attack
99 Purple Smurfs attack

A fire broke out in his laboratory
And that would have been the end of the story
As Hefty bit Papa in the tail
And he turned purple from a painful wail
The fire heated up a volatile potion
The laboratory went up in an explosion
It unleashed a big cloud of tuberose pollen
It spread all over and cured them all
