

ATGN 271 - Where'd That Mole Come From?

Everyone is here for another week of craziness. Chris has the details on a possible return of McDonald's Szechuan chicken sauce, Naki has the latest on Batman now being a metahuman, and Anthony shares how Milestone is being folded into DC Comics. Finally, with the assistance of one Willie Nelson the crew rundown some of the worst videogames of all time.

 - a. Chris - We need that Szechuan Sauce! -
<http://io9.gizmodo.com/mcdonalds-is-bringing-back-rick-and-mortys-beloved-szech-1797372297>
 - i. At this year's San Diego Comic-Con, Rick and Morty co-creator Justin Roiland joked that he'd been in contact with McDonald's after the show's third season premiere prominently featured the sauce. After the episode aired, thousands of fans petitioned for McDonald's to bring it back and a single bottle of the stuff sold for \$14,000 on eBay. Last night, Roiland took to Twitter to reveal that McDonald's lived up to their promise and sent him a single 64oz jug of Szechuan Sauce from an alternate dimension where it's always 1998.
 - ii. McD's Chef Mike said "We wish we could have brought more sauce through, but we couldn't risk keeping a portal like that open. Think about it, if you knew in 1998 that McDonald's would have All Day Breakfast in 2017, would you want to stay in 1998? Of course not. If we left the portal open, we'd have puka shells, bucket hats, and boy bands as far as the eye could see. It's too risky, even for a sauce as delicious as this."
 - iii. While Roiland got the first bottle, Chef Mike added that "a few lucky fans will get to experience the glory" meaning that the fast food giant is probably planning to roll it out for another limited time run.

- b. Naki - DC officially makes Batman a metahuman
