

New Jersey Scholars Program – summer 2025

Program Theme: Wartime Cultures: Knowledge and Art in Conflict and the Aftermath

Juniors:

The New Jersey Scholars Program is now accepting nominations for the summer 2025 academic program held at the Lawrenceville School, in Lawrenceville, NJ. The free, residential program will be held from June 29, 2025, through August 1, 2025. Accepted students will participate in a diverse, inclusive learning environment, which sharpens critical thinking, writing and research skills. Students will attend lectures, participate in sports activities, and attend field trips. Please visit www.newjerseyscholarsprogram.org for more information on the program.

Interested juniors should read the attached information on the program's theme. We can only nominate two students from West. Interested students should be within the top 10% of the junior class as the program is competitive and only accepts 39 students in total from the state of New Jersey. There is no fee to the student other than personal expenses. A nomination committee will review achievement in rigorous classes, activities, and junior PSAT scores. Nominated students will need to submit their applications to NJSP by January 17, 2025.

Interested students should email Mrs. Snowden in Guidance (csnowden@chclc.org) with the completed interest form no later than December 12, 2024, by 2:30 pm.

You must be sure that you are able and willing to attend the entire program before turning in this form.

The topic of the program is Wartime Culture: Knowledge and Art in Conflict and the Aftermath.

Please consider me for the NJ Scholars Program. I have discussed this commitment with my parents.
