Please insert a one-page abstract here. The abstract should concisely describe the background, objectives, methods, key results, and significance of the work. The template is intended to follow the format of a continuous abstract body without section headings, similar to the example provided by the conference. Authors may replace this placeholder text with their own content while preserving the overall layout, font, and spacing of the template. Poster submissions should present original and unpublished work relevant to the scope of DTMBIO 2026. Selected poster submissions may also be invited for 15-minute short talk presentations as part of the conference program.

Formatting: one page, Times New Roman 11 pt, single spacing.
