

Everybody likes to sing, and we know singing is a wonderful way to enhance students' English skills. Songs work extremely well in the classroom, and they can be used to teach grammar, vocabulary, and pronunciation. And how about creating your own songs using AI? It is pretty simple, and you don't need to be an expert in computers to do it. In this workshop, you will not only learn how to do it but also explore various activities you can develop for use in your classes. By the end of this session, you will be better prepared to create original songs that will help your students learn English even better. You will also get all the songs used in the workshop, so you can start using them with your students right away. Be ready to sing a lot!
