

😜 Tab 1

Dec 4th 2025d

Math I did multiplying and dividing and adding decimals.

In language arts we learned about the Titanic even more.

In reading we learned about droughts.

We did service project and had our Christmas Party. We played bingo and it was lot's of fun.

November 20th 2025

This week in math we learned how to do timesing with decimals

Week in Reading we started a new workshop

In language arts we started learning about the Titanic

In science we learned about how balls curve

This week in history we learned about Joan of Arc AKA canwin

My book report and my famous landmark and we also did singing Towing

November 3rd 2025

This week in math we made up our missing work

This weekend reading me wrote a essay

This week in Language arts we learned about credible websites and how to tell what is credible on what's not

This Week In Science I Learned about simple machines

This week in history we learned about the Commandments of chivalry

This week included engineering art

November 6th 2025

This week in math I finished up my big math assessment for Missing numbers

This week in Reading I did an essay

This week in Elway I learned about websites and the Titanic

This Week In Science we learned more about Isaac Newton's Laws

This week in history we learned about the mid and Evil

We made a building and engineering and we made launchers in engineering

October 30th

This week in math I had to do missing work

In Reading I did a test

This week in Ela I worked on a essay

This week in science we learned about Galilaeo who figured out the formula for the speed of light.

This week in history I learned about Saint Patrick. He was enslaved at a young age in Ireland. He escaped and went back to Ireland later to preach about Jesus.
I finished up my Asian painting on my wood working project.

October 23rd 2025

This weekend I learned how to do missing numbers. If you need to get x alone, you take the opposite of the number that is with x.

Sweet and reading I did my read 180 app and I learned more about human rights And a lot of reading in the hallway

This in language arts I read the book doll and I'm almost finished

This in history I Learn about how the British started out

Week and science we learned about Isaac Newton and how he learned about notion with his big forehead

Wood project and I painted my wood projects like an Asian Worked on my book report

Oct 19th 2025

This Week In Science I did my science test

This week in math I did already

This week I had I fall break and I worked on my engineering projects all week and long With Hayden

This week in History we learned more about the Egyptians and their pyramids

October 8th 2025

this week in math I did missing Work work

This week in La I did missing work again

This week in Reading I did My assessment

Weekend history I learned about the ancient buildings

Week in Science I did my science Test

Speak in engineering I did I built the Elsa castle thing

October 1st 2025

Math we started learning letters

This week in Reading we learned about Malala who was fighting For human rights of girls could go to school and got shot. She is a Pakistan

In LA we learned about doing complex sentences

This weekend history we learned about Moses and how he was thrown into a river in a little basket type thing.

This Week In Science we learned about DNA and why people look like their parents And an engineering which is STEM we did we made the Eiffel Tower

September 25th 2025

This week in math I did volume and area.

This week in reading I finished up human rights.

This week in La I did the book boy.

This Week In Science I learned about Skin and how it gets a color of skin. The melanin is how we get different pigments.

This week in history I learned about how the Great Pyramid of Giza was built.

This week I presented my book report project for specials.

In engineering I built a Taj Mahal replica and build a bubble wand.

September 18th 2025

This week in math I did my area assessment

This Weekend reading I learned about human rights

This Week In Science we learned about the skeletal system

Sweet in history we learned about Egyptians

We can p e I did Pickleball running

And I also did singing

In doing my weekly project Joey from Down Under my book report

In La I've been doing the book the book boy

September 11th 2025

This week I learned area. To find area you Multiply Length times width

This week I read A Joey from down under. I like when they find a platypus.

This week in LA I wrote about a time in life that felt fast, but I added a lot of details so it read like it was slower.

This Week In Science I learned about the blood. One part of our blood is our blood cells

This week in history I learned about how the Egyptians.

I did PE, engineering, my book report, and singing .

September 4, 2025

This week in school I learned about the heart. This week in math I did area .

This week in ela I learned about slowing down the moment. This week in Reading I learned about goals. This week in history I learned about Abraham and where he moved to all the places he moved to.

August 28, 2025

This week in math I did my Diagnostic. This will help my teacher know where I am in math.

In ELA I learned about how to focus my writing.

My favorite thing about this week was doing a shaving cream rainbow after learning about God's promise to Noah.

