

About the Owner

Ka'Lissa Lindsey is the founder of Divine Spirit Whole Health Association and a holistic health and wellness coach, minister, caregiver, and death doula. With a deep-rooted passion for faith-based healing, she is dedicated to guiding individuals toward spiritual well-being, holistic balance, and compassionate end-of-life care.

Her journey into holistic wellness was profoundly shaped by the passing of her beloved nana from breast cancer in 2009. This life-changing experience awakened her calling to support individuals and families through sacred transitions, ensuring that every soul is honored with love, dignity, and spiritual peace.

As an experienced caregiver and the older sister of seven, Ka'Lissa has a natural gift for nurturing and supporting others. She integrates faith, natural healing, sacred rituals, and spiritual counseling into her work, helping individuals awaken their divine potential, restore balance, and navigate life's journey with grace and purpose.

Through Divine Spirit Whole Health Association, Ka'Lissa has created a sanctuary for holistic healing, offering compassionate support for mind, body, and spirit. Whether through ministerial services, faith-based death doula care, or holistic wellness coaching, she is devoted to uplifting the community and walking alongside those seeking healing, transformation, and spiritual empowerment.
