

Roybeams Art Commissions Terms of Service

Last updated: 16th October 2024

- Payment is accepted upfront via. Stripe (preferred) or PayPal. I will begin working on your commission once I have sent you a confirmation email that full payment has been received.
- Payment is in British Pound Sterling (£). Please check your local currency rates.
- Correspondence is via my commissions email only. raybeams.art@gmail.com
- I am available to reach 6 days a week. For commissions in progress, there will be no emails from me on Sundays, UK time (usually out of office on that day).
- I reserve the right to decline commission requests for any reason.
- You must be 18+ to submit a commission request.
- I do not permit my artwork to be involved with NFTs or other forms of block-chain related technology in any way. Accounts that make such requests or breach this term will be immediately blocked.
- I do not permit my artwork to be submitted to AI generators or used with AI in any way. Accounts that make such requests or breach this term will be immediately blocked.

Process

- Please provide visual references with your brief (existing drawings, photographs, moodboards, reference for details) the more the better. Written descriptions are also helpful.
- There is a character profile template available with all the information I'll need to offer you a quick quote. Link here. Simply copy and paste to your email draft and fill in the details.
- You will receive an update at the following milestones:

RAYBEAMS

SKETCH COMMISSIONS	COLOUR COMMISSIONS
1. Final sketch	1. Rough sketch
	2. Flat colour + Lineart
	3. Final colour piece

- I will offer 2 minor revisions on the final piece gratis, then +£25% of total price per revision.
- The overall pose of the piece cannot be changed once the rough sketch has been approved.

Sharing the artwork

- The artwork is for personal use only and not for resale.
- You may not alter the final product in any way or remove the artist's signature.
- Printing out the digital commission is permitted for personal use.
- Commission pieces may be used for artist's self promotion. Please notify me if you would like the piece to be kept private, or you wish to be anonymous if it's shared.
- Once the commission is complete, please let me know if and when you intend to share the final piece on your social media, so I can plan my own posts accordingly.
- Credit me (Raybeams) and link back to one of my social media pages when sharing your commission. If the commission is featured as your profile picture or banner, please credit me in your bio.

Pricing

- The prices advertised are the baseline and may increase depending on the complexity of your request. Most requests will be the base price (along with any add-ons you'd like), but the final quote will be agreed via email correspondence.

Some examples of requests that may warrant a higher price quote:

Highly detailed character designs, highly detailed props, no visual reference provided, character design required, rush/priority requests

Timescale

- I aim to complete commissions within 4 weeks from payment received. Please bear in mind that as a freelancer I am often juggling multiple projects.
- If there is a delay, I will send you a delay notice as soon as possible and a new projected timescale. If the new timescale beyond the initial 4 weeks is then not met and you don't wish to continue your commission, I will refund your payment.

By commissioning me, you have read and are agreeing to these Terms Of Service.