

Crested Butte Ultra Aid Station Information

Aid Station Supplies

Aid stations will be stocked with water, Skratch Hydration, and a variety of sodas and be serving a mix of fruit and a variety of salty and sweet snacks, such as chips, candy, cookies, etc.

This is a cupless race. All runners should carry a reusable cup/bladder/bottle to refill at the aid station. Aid stations will not be stocked with cups.

Cutoff Information

We understand that our 50 Mile cutoffs are designed to be tough. These cutoffs aren't random. Fall in the mountains means limited daylight, cold temps, and long nights—we build our timing with those conditions in mind. After years of hosting this event, we have refined cutoffs to be the safest for runners and staff.

Our course is built on rugged terrain, big views, and honest effort. We've set firm cutoffs at intermediate aid stations for our runners. Missing those cutoffs often offer the ability to drop in distance to finish a shorter route.

If you're looking for a little more breathing room, our shorter distances come with more generous cutoffs—same incredible terrain, just a different kind of challenge.

No matter the distance, you'll earn every mile out here.

Spectators/Crew:

To help preserve the landscape and ensure a smooth race experience, spectators and crew are not allowed on course or at aid stations. These areas have very limited space and cannot accommodate additional vehicles or support. Anyone found on course will be asked to leave. Runners are responsible for the actions of their spectators and crew.
