2. OUR SERVICES

a. General

The Services introduce an online mobile gaming platform named Parallel World, available on both iOS and Google Play. Within this Game, Users can acquire and interact with unique in-Game Assets, hereinafter referred to as "ASSET(s)." These ASSET(s) carry a distinct significance, enriching the gaming experience both inside and outside the Game environment. In addition to these ASSET(s), Parallel World enhances the user experience with an innovative Pedometer feature. This functionality awards Users for their physical activity by converting steps into in-Game rewards, further intertwining the realms of virtual gaming and real-world movement. This addition not only encourages a healthy lifestyle among our Users but also introduces a novel dimension of engagement within our gaming ecosystem. Parallel World facilitates its Users with the feature to effortlessly transfer out and receive in-Game rewards. This is made possible by connecting with our affiliate, ACEGO, which serves as an intermediary platform ensuring seamless transactions and conversions of these in-Game rewards, raising them to a stature of collectible value. This not only diversifies the gameplay experience but also ensures users can make the most of their ASSET(s) across various games provided within the Services. By incorporating the Pedometer feature, we further our commitment to providing a comprehensive and immersive gaming experience that extends beyond traditional gameplay mechanics. By connecting with ACEGO, users can streamline the process of acquiring, transferring, and optimizing the use of their ASSET(s) within Parallel World and other associated games. The integration of the Pedometer feature signifies our dedication to innovation and the well-being of our Users, offering them a rewarding avenue to merge physical activity with the digital adventures of Parallel World.

b. Earning Assets

Users can acquire Assets through the Game's Reward Mechanism. The primary in-Game currency is Rare Earth, obtainable through in-game mining activities, investing in in-game mines, and currency deposits. It's primarily used for land development and urban construction. Conversely, Cash, the secondary currency, can be accumulated through tasks, in-game dividends, mission completions, and more. Unlike many games, in Parallel World, NTWORLD allows assets earned in-game to be transferred to our affiliate platform, ACEGO, expanding the utility and value of these assets beyond the game's environment.

c. Asset Terms

In "Parallel World," Rare Earth stands as a cornerstone, serving multifaceted functions and enhancing player engagement. This in-game currency offers users a dynamic experience and depth in gameplay.

Key Functions of Rare Earth (Game Currency):

- Land Development: Players can use Rare Earth to develop and enhance their land within the game.
- City Upgrades: Rare Earth allows players to upgrade their cities. After the city upgrade, the map area expands, allowing players to purchase land or construct more buildings.
- City Expansion: Players can expand their existing cities or establish new ones using Rare Earth.
- In Game Currency (Rare Earth) Exchange: In Game Currency (Rare Earth) can be purchased for in-game currency or other valuable resources.
- Item Purchases: Players can use Rare Earth to acquire in-game items (Prop Cards etc.) and equipment.

Methods of Obtaining Rare Earth:

- Players can obtain Rare Earth through the following methods:
- Mining: Players can engage in mining activities within the game to acquire Rare Earth.
- Mining Investment: Investing in mines provides players with Rare Earth dividends after a bi-weekly (half-life) period. Additionally, players have the option to purchase the in- game currency (Rare Earth) via in-app purchase transactions.

d. Transacting In Assets

All transactions regarding Assets are managed and confirmed on the Game itself. In the event there is a transaction in or out, it goes through ACEGO Pte Ltd, one of NTWORLD's affiliates. NTWORLD is not and shall not be a party to any transaction or dispute in-Game.

e. Game Rules

- Dice Roll: Dice Roll is central to this Game. The dice tray refreshes automatically when Users have used all the dice, or Users can opt to manually refresh it using Rare Earth (purchasable in-Game via Google Play), even if they have any remaining dice. Note that there is no limit to the number of times a user can roll the dice each day. However, once the allotted number of rolls has been exhausted, the user will no longer be able to roll the dice.
- Character Movement: Within the Game, the way characters maneuver greatly influences the game's trajectory. It's paramount that Users understand the significance of correct movement. The movement decisions they make will have direct consequences on game progression and the strategic pathways they can adopt.
- Financial Management: Users must judiciously allocate their in-game cash between investments and expenses. Monitoring their financial health is essential. Overspending might push them into bankruptcy. Once bankrupt, Users will face two choices: liquidate their assets to reconcile the deficit, or engage in passive mining within the mines until they can lift their bankruptcy status.
- Prop Cards: The Game offers various Prop Cards - including the Robbery Card, Hacker Card, Direction Card, U-turn Card, and Migration Card. Users can acquire these either by purchasing them or through gameplay to gain additional advantages or boost their wealth. All these cards are stored in the system backpack, which acts as the in-game inventory. For instance, the Migration Card allows Users to relocate and commence life anew in a different in-game city. Still, it's essential to note that certain assets like stocks, real estate, and mining profits remain unaffected. However, some specific rules are associated with these cards.
- Traveling Mechanism: Traveling isn't just a luxury in this Game; it's vital. It permits Users to discover diverse cities and delve into varied in-game environments. But, certain conditions might restrict players from traveling. These include:

- (i) Intermediate-tier abnormal states;
- (ii) Advanced-tier abnormal states;
- (iii) Near-death states
- (iv) Working states;
- (v) Bankruptcy states;
- (vi) Insufficient level (below a specified value); and
- (vii) Arrested states Wanted states.
