It is with great excitement I get to announce that the project I was interviewed for, Abundant Wife, is here! When Susan Brennan reached out to me about this a while back, I was happy to share my experience during our time together, and believe that it will encourage you when you listen to it.

Plus, you'll also get access to a host of other incredible ladies who were also interviewed for this project, when you grab season 5 of the Abundant Wife mini series here >> <https://growthandgracelife.com/abundant-wife-season-5/>

Abundant Wife was inspired to help women in all stages of marriage (pre-marriage, during the flow seasons, during the hard times, and everything in between), and you'll hear in these interviews how women have walked through all kinds of things and come out stronger on the other side!

I definitely recommend you grab this today, and start listening to these interviews - I know I'm excited to learn alongside you from the wealth of wisdom that's included! Decades of marriage wisdom boiled down to the concentrated wisdom you can absorb in just a few hours!

XO
