

1. My problem

5 weeks gone by and no results, I did something but it's nothing.

2. Factory line

I need to get 100 followers on IG to start outreaching people.

I started with posting on social media, then I gave it to the review profile chat in the social media campus.

I found out I wasn't posting what I should, then Andrew posted a video about the learning technique and I understood that I know nothing about copywriting.

I watched the campus and took notes.

I have skills and I can post about my skills.

I don't have idea how I can tell people about my skills and get followers.

I didn't have copywriting skills before the new learning technique.

I watched 3-level campus a long time ago and took notes but in the wrong way + when I was watching it I didn't have the right mindset.

It resulted in not having a skill.

It resulted in not having what to post about.

I watched the 3-level campus again and I learned the skill.

Now I don't have an idea what to post about because I don't know how to tell people about my skills by social media posts.

My time management is bad because:

- I am too slow in doing different stuff
- I am too slow in doing work

Problem started to show up when I needed to start posting on social media.

3. Root causes

- I posted the wrong stuff
- I didn't learn the skill
- I don't have an idea what to post

4. Strategy

I will find out by asking people in chats and looking at people better than me.

I will see what they post and implement.
