Name and Meaning-
Tali, from Talitiainen, the finnish name for the Melanochlora sultanea, or Great Tit species of bird.

Species-
Common Harpy

Age-

Body Type-
Thin, with no muscle. Has wide sexy hips and a cute, small tight butt but aside from this she's not extremely curvy. Has far bigger breasts than average harpies, with them being low D cups. Shorter than average height and shorter than the hero.

She is incredibly light so she can fly, weighing less than 80 lbs.

Basic Ideas for Appearance-
Short hair that's a mix of tomboyish and cutesy. Wears very simple clothes and doesn't stand out that much in terms of outfit. Standard harpy traits, her arms are wings and her lower legs are bird legs.

As far as her coloring and birdlike traits they are inspired by the Melanochlora sultanea species… more commonly known as the Great Tit. Yeah. I'm not above that joke.

Personality-
Extremely loving and nice to everyone she meets. Very optimistic thanks to her simple nature and even when things are down she tries to make the most of it and find positives. Has self-esteem issues and doesn't hold herself in very high regard which ultimately makes her a very selfless person. She wants to please in anyway possible and it's almost unheard of for her to say an outright 'no' to a request from someone she cares for.

There is a much more hidden violent side to Tali beneath the surface level. Upon any perceived threat or in situations where someone needs to take charge but no one will, Tali steps up and enters 'Mama Bird' mode where she seemingly loses all her shyness and timidity. Instead, she becomes very much so the boss and her power strangely eclipses that of a common harpy. The main cast knows not to question her like this.

Core Values-
Love, her feelings for both the Hero and the other girls means the world to her.

Family, being together with the people she considers her family fills Tali with joy. She has a deep need to expand this family through finding the Hero more members for his Harem and by helping his impregnation quest.

Helpfulness, due to some self-esteem issues she strives to help others as much as she can in order to compensate for her own perceived flaws.

Relationship with Hero-
Her nickname for him is 'Lovebird'.

As the first girl to join him on his quest as well as his first sexual experience, Tali shares a special bond with the Hero. Both he (and I as the author) try very hard not to play favorites as he's deeply in love with all the members of his harem, yet some of the other girls insist that she gets special attention. He does not love her 'the most' out of them, but he loves her in his own way and that just happens to involve being extremely lovey-dovey with her.

Relationship with the rest of the Harem-
Very accepting and accommodating. She makes no special deal that she was 'here first' and in general likes their numbers expanding as she really does view them as her family with almost no reluctance. Because of her personality, Tali is almost always the girl each member of the harem has the least problems with.

Likes-
Nest building, more than just literal nests though. When they actually get living quarters later on Tali delights in home design.

Children. Tali adores children of all ages and just getting to see a cute little baby monster will almost certainly be the high point of her day.

Flying. When stressed, Tali will feel the need to circle around the area in little loops while her brain processes things.

Background-
Tali is by all accounts a seemingly incredibly average harpy and to this day she has lived her life acting as such. Other harpies don't like her all that much and tease her for her breasts being so big, claiming that Tali flies awkwardly because of them. This not an untrue statement to make, as though Tali can fly perfectly fine she has trouble doing so over a long period of time. Her lack of popularity doesn't hurt her too much, instead spending her days fantasizing about finding a mate. Thanks to her awkwardness, she has not had sex with any other Monster Girls at the time the story starts.

Even worse is that she dreams of the literally impossible. While she does indeed find girls attractive, Tali is addicted to scavenging ruins of the old world for Hentai manga. She doesn't just want to find a mate, she wants to find one of these 'man' things for herself and make him her own. She is very much an otaku when it comes to this and she's gone as far to actually learn from a smarter monster how to read hentai. This makes her one of the very few monsters living out in the wilds that are able to read language, something that proves her self doubt about her intelligence very wrong.

Between scavenging for hentai and spying on other Monsters having sex, Tali's days before the story began were a very lonely experience even if she tries to brush it off.

Something she keeps very close to her heart is the secret that she doesn't know who her mothers are. She hatched with no nest and no family to take care of her and as an adult she presumes this must have meant her egg was stolen from the nest.

Her desire for a family stems from a childhood fending for herself with no one there for her. She has many bad and traumatic experiences she has never shared with anyone before… While Tali may seem adorable and bubbly, she's much more hurt inside than she lets on.

Hopes and Dreams-
Tali wishes above all to be the mother of a gigantic family. She doesn't exclusively mean her own children, instead viewing each new harem girl the Hero takes as her sister, and each of their eventual children as her own adorable children.

Aside from this, Tali does have the more secret ambition of eventually locating her mothers since she was stolen from the nest as an egg.

Abilities and Powers-
Flight- Like all non-land dwelling harpies Tali possesses wings that enable her to fly significant distances, only due to her unnaturally large bust size Tali has problems with her stamina. She can carry herself in the air for about an hour, and when carrying the Hero this time is cut dramatically to about only 20 minutes. Tali cannot carry more than one person at a time.

Powerful Talons- Tali is deceptively powerful. Once her talons grab onto something it's not getting dropped until she damn well decides to drop it. She's very dextrous with her talons, and even when grabbing the hero or other girls with them she never accidentally hurts them. Her leg strength is very high as well making them a deathly potent weapon when she actually uses them to slash. Their sharpness is almost frightening.

Speed- Harpies are a very fast monster and Tali is no exception. When they aren’t flying, harpies move with their sleek and powerful legs. They can walk normally, but they don’t ‘run’ like most bipedal creatures do. They instead move in little hopping bursts making this not only a very fast method of traversal but a very energy efficient one as well. A single hop could send her hurtling 15-20 ft in the blink of an eye thanks to the tremendous launching power their legs store.

Lewd Parts

Libido-
Relatively average for a monster. She's odd in that she can get enjoyment just from watching as well, but she's basically just down to make love whenever the hero asks of her and at times other members of the harem who want girl on girl action.

Sex Style-
Tali is about as adorable and cutesy as you can imagine when it comes to sex. She loves her Hero and shows it with her body aptly, covering him in kisses, touching him all over with her soft feathered hands and grinding against him while blushing deeply. She likes both rougher sex and more intimate sex with him as a lover.

When playing with other monsters Tali is a bit more awkward and other girls usually take the lead with her, subjecting the harpy to whatever kind of teasing they have in mind.

Sexual Abilities-
As she's basically just a normal Harpy(?) she has no few powers besides her need to lay eggs every so often, which isn't really a power but is a very sexual experience and it releases pheremones which make her mate desire more lovemaking.

Although her singing has a slight aphrodisiac effect common among harpies, but she's usually too shy to utilize this.

Fetishes-
Likes Impregnation. She's very, very enthusiastic about the Hero's quest to rebuild the human race. Because of her gigantic drive to have a huge family of her own, creampies excite her tremendously and when the hero finishes it drives her into an even deeper release than she was already enjoying.

Likes being cuckolded and voyeurism. Everyone has one weird quirk and for Tali it's definitely that she actively gains pleasure in watching her beloved Lovebird fuck and impregnate as many monster girls that will open their legs for him as she can. Her enjoyment can come from either just watching, being part of the action by playing with the girl her lover is about to screw, readying her for his member, or in some cases more traditional cuckolding where Tali is actively teased for how her lover is about to mate with someone else. In most cases she'd be just as happy to watch than she would be if she were being fucked herself. This also ties into her motherhood ambitions, as she wants her family to be huge and she wishes to help all the other girls the hero impregnates raise their children.

Likes Cuddling and Affectionate kisses. Because she's generally pure as far as sex goes barring her cuck-fetish, she's very much the 'holding hands' and nuzzling type. She is known for giving repeated kisses similar to a bird pecking at the ground over and over. These little pecks are only given to those Tali loves the most.

Likes laying her eggs. Usually laying her eggs is a private matter where the Hero and she break off from the group for special alone time. While painful, his loving touch and support help transfer this biological function into a very erotic, passionate experience for the two of them.

Dislikes wasting semen. While she does not dislike oral sex, paizuri or other such methods of foreplay by themselves, she is always a tiny bit upset when the hero's load isn't shot inside of her (or other girl's) womb. Because of her easy to please attitude, however, she is extremely easy for the hero to convince into cumming wherever he desires.
