Ferry Grill and Chill : A Quaint, Chill, Waterfront Place With Delicious Food

For those who are looking for a small, locally owned, waterfront restaurant, than look no further than the Ferry Grill and Chill, located at 277 Meadow Road, Rocky Hill. Despite being around for many years, the restaurant, will be owner Sarah Bezedelov's second year. After previously working for the former owner, the twenty year old bought the place after finding out it was for sale.

“(It's) another thing I wanted to take on.” Bezedelov stated. When she is not at the restaurant, she is doing real estate, which she says the two jobs work hand and hand.

The restaurant offers a mixture of seafood dishes, such as lobster mac and cheese and grilled salmon, to American classics such as build you own burgers and hotdog and a mixture of mouth watering salads. There is also a kid's menu filled with food that children will love such as chicken tenders and grilled cheese.

What makes this place stand out, according to Bezedelov, is that it is located along the historic Rocky Hill / Glastonbury Ferry, which is the nation's oldest continuous running ferry, dating back to 1655. “Rocky Hill is proud to have this.” she says. She also points out that because of the location along the river, it is a “great place to dine”.

The restaurant also has a variety of soft drinks, but does not serve alcohol. If one wants to have a drink, it is bring your own drinks.

When asked if this place is good for families, Bezedelov stated “oh yeah absolutely” and calls her restaurant “(an) bonding experience.” When one is done dining, they can choose the experience of riding the ferry to South Glastonbury and walk a small trail located there.
