

Use AI software like elevenLabs or play HT to clone Robert Kennedy Jr's voice and narrate his book American values posting the resulting audiobook for free encouraging people to visit to download because people like free s and to hear the message and what he represents. I've used this text to speech generator before and it works really well and I think this might be something that we can use to take some of Robert Kennedy's written speeches in public addresses and turn them into audio things that we can do video with more frequently extending our reach