

Hi name,

Hope this email finds you well!

I loved how professionally made your website is, but I found a way to make it 10 times better.

Specifically, I firmly believe that installing testimonials not in the old fashioned (just pictures) but in a modern manner will help you stand out from your competition and will install a lot more credibility to your website making people trust you more easily and eventually increase the number of people that join the His & Her Money Pro .

You'll frame yourself as someone who truly cares for their clients while still showing the high-value of your service.

I would love to show you how you can do that with no risk at all.

Would that be something that you would be interested in?

Kind regards,

Mike
