

@SheepKinta on Twitter & Bluesky

"Getting Off On The Right Foot"

A Helpful Foot/Paw Sex Guide by Citrine T. Cat

Pawslut

(noun)

Someone who experiences intense sexual arousal from the feet of anthropomorphic creatures, in either greater or equal measure to human feet.

(see also: Paw-Toy, Paw Kisser, Footslut, ~~Citrine~~)

Erm... meow?

With kink, footplay is basically my main thing! I'm a dumb little furry who is VERY familiar with feet, paws... hooves... talons... basically, if it's at the end of your leg, I'm probably really eager to end up underneath it, and I will not stop purring as soon as I'm there.

Lately I've been thinking about some bad experiences I've had with paws in the past-- people who maybe wanted to indulge my hyper-specific sexual interests for mostly either my approval or enjoyment, without understanding why they're appealing to me in the first place, or for that matter: what might completely turn me off. Socks soaked in weird puddles. Photos that have haunted me for years. Would it have killed you to trim your nails...?

It took friends time to understand that foot stuff is more or less the same as any other kind of sex, and it requires a bit of active thought and prep! ... and I don't wanna advise this stuff to my friends individually-- they'd bully me-- so here's a quick care guide I'm politely and passive-aggressively leaving on the table between us, for those who want to make the pawslut in your life blush, swoon, and purr!

(Also, this isn't accounting for personal taste, or what your pawslut of preference wants to do for that matter. This is just a care guide for the standard-pull pawslut you'll encounter!)

@SheepKinta on Twitter & Bluesky

General courtesies:

- Always make sure you have enthusiastic consent. It doesn't matter what kind of paw-toy they are: do not assume that JUST because they have a fetish, they'll do it with you. I've had weird strangers act WAY too familiar with me before, purely 'cause I like paws!
- The face is fragile! The penis is fragile! Don't go too hard, and keep things at a comfortable pace until you've had some practice, with ANY kind of paw-play! If you're drunk or high or whatever, it might be harder to gauge the pressure you're applying, so be extra safe.
- Make sure your pawslut feels okay with kinks you're adding to the scene, *well before you do it! Not everyone wants to eat or drink from your paws, or get beaten up, or insulted, and even if they like some kinks on their own, that doesn't mean they want 'em mixed together!
- This could be more of a "me" thing, but I LOVE when my play partner is active in a scene-- they're getting off, or teasing me, or bullying me... they're having fun! But if you seem bored and say nothing, I'll feel awful. Don't be a dead fish in bed just because I'm a pawslut!
- If you don't like paws, you probably do not need to indulge your friend's paw fetish for their enjoyment or approval or whatever. It stands to reason that the sex will be better if EVERYONE is enjoying it. See if they have other kinks! Talking to your partner is a must!

@SheepKinta on Twitter & Bluesky

If you're going barefoot:

- Good hygiene goes a long way, even for someone huffing your messed-up socks! That means clean & trim your nails, shave the tops of your paws (depends on preference; optional), and keep 'em clean of foreign substances!
- If you have calluses, you can get a pumice stone from the store and handle them over a couple quick scrubs. Moisturize after! Preferably while you're positioned in a way that keeps your paws off the ground!
- If you're ticklish in a way you'd find distracting or too weird, just try socks! It's okay to prefer it one way or another!
- I'm counting wearing fishnets as barefoot because they basically are. They WILL get caught in someone's piercings/earrings. This is not the end of the world so long as everyone remains calm, but DO be prepared for that.
- Also, the texture is very different with fishnets! Depending on how big the gaps are, you will have effectively turned your pawsies into adorable little cheese graters.

@CanineSinZone on Twitter, or @CoyoticGood on Bluesky

If you're wearing socks:

- Be mindful that no matter how much of a freak someone is, your socks will end up on another person's face. Be responsible!
- People sometimes have limits regarding the condition of your socks! Some folks prefer 'em completely clean, others completely FUCKED. Taking an occasional pic to ensure your play partner's into it doesn't hurt! (It'll definitely fluster them though).
- Likewise, don't wear them beyond your own comfort. If you're feeling gross or embarrassed about it: stop doing it! I don't think there's such a thing as "too little" with most paw-toys out there.
- If you're walking around, wear shoes or slippers, or make sure you're walking through a very, VERY clean area. I don't love paws covered in pet hair/actual dirt, or soaked with Mysterious Liquid. (If I can tell you had them in the bathroom, I will bite your leg off.)
- Be careful about friction when it comes to footjobs! It can pretty quickly overstimulate some people, or even hurt if you aren't mindful!

@SkinkButt on Twitter & Bluesky

And if you have fursuit paws:

- (I am talking about the ones on your feet, not your hands. For some reason this is always a point of confusion.)
- Again, your paws will be on someone's face. Don't let anyone lick something that's been dancing around bare on the con floor all day! Fursuit flip-flops, or any kind of fursuit footwear, can be very helpful. (Not to mention extremely cute!)
- Be gentle! It's harder to tell how much pressure you're applying with a big fluffy paw strapped around your leg, so don't press down too hard and try to be mindful that you're playing with delicate, fragile facial features.
- The pawslut's going to be very muffled. In other words, if they need you to stop, you might not hear them! Make sure they're able either to get your attention, or to signal you to slow down, like by patting your leg.
- If you use cleaning chemicals on your paws, dry them thoroughly before letting someone have 'em. I once kissed someone's paw for five minutes. I found it odd that my face was burning, until I learned that they cleaned their paws with isopropyl alcohol right before I arrived.

@SheepKinta on Twitter & Bluesky

Lastly, regarding the many acts of paw-bullying...

- Honestly, it's easy. MANY pawsluts will happily purr at the foot of your bed, kissing your feet bwhile masturbating and fawning over you. They won't even last long. But that just means it's ALSO very easy to find bad, boring, totally inactive paw doms!
- Don't be a bad paw dom! Engage with your pawslut! Make sure they know how cute they're being! Show you're having fun! Or taunt 'em, degrade 'em, call 'em pathetic-- whatever suits your fancy. Just make sure you're doing SOMETHING.
- Footjobs, meanwhile, are HARD. Use lube if you're barefoot, but socks can work fine as well! For beginners, I suggest having someone support the base of the shaft with a hand, to prevent it from getting squished in weird uncomfortable ways.
- Some simple ways you can give a pawjob include supporting the shaft against one sole and rubbing against it with the other, or to wrap both soles around the shaft and pump! Worry about getting more creative after you've gotten nimble!
- Because footjobs require lube and some mess, it can be hard to resume regular paw worship after you're done, since everything will be sticky/slick. It's a good time to check in, calm down, and get some aftercare in while you clean & dry off!
- Paw worship! A favorite of any pawslut! You can let them do their thing for the most part. Telling them how cute they're being, teasing their nose with your digits, rubbing their cheeks between your soles are all extremely fun.
- I mentioned above that you shouldn't assume people have kinks related to paws. This goes for degradation as well! For me personally, I like feeling adorable and cherished-- not "pathetic" or "useless" or "embarrassing". A lot of folks like it differently, but even so: make sure!

@Glaze on Bluesky

Like... meow!

That's all I can think of, in terms of major mistakes! Again, it's all a matter of taste and preference. If your pawslut wants you to walk in the mud or something, go and God bless for all I care. But as a baseline, it's hard to go wrong if you just prep, respect everyone's boundaries, and handle your partner delicately, with respect.

Just have fun with it, too! Experiment! Get weird! See what stuff you can mix in, what kinks you can try, how much of a total mess you can make out of your pawslut of choice! I hear catboys are really good choices if you're looking for practice. Something about the way they just purr while nuzzling your foot...

Dunno where you'd find one, though. :3c

I bet they're pretty hard to find. :3c

It's not like they're out here writing guides :3c

please step on me, nya