

FACULTY SCHOLARSHIP PLAN

Faculty “who teach within collaborative degree programs are expected to generate a scholarship plan” (5.1.5). These faculty are provided this document/template/form as a suggested template to complete this task. They are in no way required to use this document.

Relevant sections of the Collective Agreement drawn upon or for further information:

Scholarship

1.16 “Scholarship” means research or scholarly activities that occur through processes of discovery, integration, application, and teaching which are disseminated through peer-reviewed venues.

5.1.5 Scholarship

For faculty teaching within collaborative degree programs, there is an expectation that they undertake research scholarly activities which lead to peer reviewed outputs. As part of their annual professional development planning, faculty who teach within collaborative degrees are expected to generate a scholarship plan. Faculty participating in scholarship will be allowed to apply for workload reassignment for up to fifty percent (50%) of the lower hours of the workload range.

Given that 5.1.5 aligns the scholarship plan with professional development, it is the FA’s view that the Scholarship Plan may substitute the Professional Development plan, but please be sure to consult with your Dean, as per Article 12, especially to ensure that your plan meets the expectations required for funded activities, as outlined in Article 12, before submitting it.
